Portland May Be PBA Meet Site

PORTLAND (UPI)—There is a possibility that bowling's "million-dollar showcase"—the Professional Bowlers' Association tour—will come to Portland later this year.

The tournament, the first top-flight 10-pin event ever scheduled in the state, has been offered tentatively set for Sept. 26-29, 20th Century Lanes here probably would be the site.

The Portland tournament would be part of PBA's regular summer swing with stops at Seattle, Salt Lake City, and Spokane.

Fight Will Be Held In Miami

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The on-again, off-again battle between heavyweight champion Sonny Liston and former king Floyd Patterson is on again...and again, it's an "if" proposition.

Promoters and lawyers met here Tuesday and announced the fight will be held at Miami Beach Auditorium, which seats up to 13,000 persons, April 4 "if" Championship Sports, Inc., comes up with $207,000 for Liston this weekend.

The money, which includes Liston's winnings from his earlier first-round knockout of Patterson, has been held in escrow to assure that the contract for a return match between the two is carried out.

Jack Nilon, Liston's adviser, said after the private conference that "we'll be ready to sign the contract next week if they (Championship Sports) come through with the money as promised this weekend."

Minnesota Vikings Sign Wisconsin's VanderKelen

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Officials of the Minnesota Vikings, elated over their surprising success in landing one of the hottest pro football quarterback prospects in years, began making plans today on how to use the star Wisconsin caller.

The player, of course, is Ron VanderKelen of Green Bay, Wis., who signed a hefty one-year contract with the Vikings Tuesday, presided over a press conference.

and left for home to continue studying for mid-term examinations at the University of Wisconsin.

VanderKelen, whose passing made him the hero of the Jan. 1 Rose Bowl game, ignored pressures from his home town to sign with the Packers and instead chose to go with the younger Vikings squad.

He expressed confidence that he would get to play more with the Vikings than with most other National Football League clubs, and said he was impressed that the Minnesota team "would think enough of me to have their head coach (Norm Van Brocklin) come to see me personally."

He said the contract carries a "substantial" salary, but one that was "not way out of line."

The 6-1, 176-pound passing whiz said he chose the Vikings, who had a 2-11 record last season, over the world champion Packers because the "Vikings are a new team, on their way up, and I'll have a fine opportunity to play with them."

Van Brocklin agreed and said VanderKelen will be "given every chance to play football."

"We'll have him in our offices in the Twin Cities prior to the opening of summer drills so he can learn the terminology and technicalities of professional football," Van Brocklin said.

"Then when we go to camp

Terry Baker Receives Warner Award Among Array Of Stars

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI)—It will be just one more season for Terry Baker as a member of the Palo Alto team, longtime pillars of the National Football League and then they will let the younger generation take over.

D. Schayes Plays 1000th Cage Game

NEW YORK (UPI)—The first games were the hardest for Dolph Schayes, the tireless "old man" of the National Basketball Association.

Schayes, who has played his entire pro career with the Syracuse Nationals, reached the NBA milestone Tuesday night in a game against the St. Louis Hawks.

"The first 1,000 games were tough," said the 34-year-old former New York University star, "and the second 1,000 will be tougher."

Schayes played only 15 minutes in Syracuse's 113-93 loss to St. Louis in the opener of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader and scored seven points. These points gave him a record 18,778 since his graduation to the pro ranks in 1948.

Both aging pro stars insisted at the annual Palo Alto banquet Tuesday night that they would retire following the 1963 campaign.

"I can't take the licks any more," said McElheny who is best remembered for his broken field running with the San Francisco Forty Niners and now plays for Minnesota. "Every time I got up after a tackle last season, I'd be shaking my head."

McElheny, who quarterbacked the New York Giants to the Eastern Division crown during the past two seasons after the Forty Niners had discarded him, said that he would hang up his equipment after next fall "then sit in Kezar Stadium and help Bob John Brodie."

McElheny, who quarterbacked the New York Giants to the Eastern Division crown during the past two seasons after the Forty Niners had discarded him, said that he would hang up his equipment after next fall "then sit in Kezar Stadium and help Bob John Brodie."

"Seriously, though," said the 35-year-old "Bald Eagle" who was given a standing ovation at the dinner. "Brodie is one of the great quarterbacks in the business. As for me—I've said for the last four years that I'll retire and this time I mean it."

McElheny has a good insurance business going here while McElheny, 34, has invested in a super market chain nearby.

The two gridders joined a crowd of 800 that applauded Oregon State's Terry Baker when he received the annual Pop Warner Award as the West Coast's most valuable senior college football player for 1962.

Baker, a name of All America quarterback by 11 different news organizations, said that he would sign a pro football contract after he is graduated.

Both the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL and Oakland Raiders of the rival American League are after his services.

"Like Billy Cannon of the Houston Oilers, I might sign one contract with my left hand and another with my right," cracked the ambidextrous Baker.

He was referring to the 1960 dispute between the Rams and Oilers. Each team claimed that it had obtained the signature of the Louisiana State whiz.

Other comments:

Jackie Jensen, ex-Boston Red Sox outfielder—"Terry tells me that he doesn't like airplanes any more than I do. If he did go into big league baseball, I hope that an aversion to flying wouldn't result in his missing three All Star games as I did..."

Alvin Dark, San Francisco Giants manager—"I hate to keep Willie Mays out of the lineup; we need him even if he faints as he did last September. Well, we'll rest him some this season—during the spring..."

Coach Red Hickey, whose San Francisco Forty Niners lost eight out of 14—"Yeah, I put my big foot in my mouth last summer when I said this could be our finest Forty Niner team. I'll never make another statement like that again. We didn't get the breaks? We had a hospital full of 'em..."

Mays, who received a "Good Guy Award" from the San Francisco baseball writers—"Are there any Dodger fans in the house?"

Crowd—"No!"

Mays—"We won the pennant this year, that's why!"
