

BRIGHT IDEA — Make one big batch of pork stew, dressed up with good red tomato sauce, one third ready at once, the rest to be frozen in family-size portions to serve on other days.

STOW THIS STEW IN YOUR FREEZER

Smart cooks try to save as much preparation and clean-up time on the family meals as possible. One modern way is to prepare three times the amount your family eats at one meal, serve one-third the same day, and freeze the rest in two equal portions to be served later when wanted.

Sure to be wanted soon again is this hearty Pork Stew, given extra seasonal color by the good canned red tomato sauce, and given extra nourishment too! It is just about as easy to make 12 servings at once as it is to make the standard recipe for four — you get three times as much for the same amount of cooking and have to wash only one pot.

To freeze the stew easily, line a glass casserole with foil as shown in the photograph, pour in the stew and seal carefully. Freeze it right in the casserole; when frozen, slip it out. Then the casserole is not being tied up in the freezer. The stew, of course, will stay in the same shape as the casserole and when it is ready to be heated, will fit right back in. Remember to use it within about four months to give your family the best flavor and nutritional values, some of which are lost if any food is kept frozen for a longer period. Marking the date on the packages will remind you.

While you are reheating the stew, pop buttered French bread into the oven. Add a fruit salad and you complete a practically "instant" meal with real home-cooked flavor.

Household Hints

By United Press International
Soak or sponge a milk stain with cold water before trying to remove it from a washable fabric. Then, using your fingers, rub a liquid detergent into the fabric. Wash the garment in the usual way.

Keep lemons from shriveling or becoming hard by wrapping each one in dark paper and then packing them loosely in a paper bag. Store in a cool place.

Cotton fabrics are easier to cut and sew if they're starched before sewing.

Clean dirty window shades with a rough flannel cloth dipped in Goul.

Rubbing alcohol removes shoe polish stains from clothing.

Beet greens may be cooked in just the water that clings to the leaves. These greens are at their best when they are extremely young and tender.

Ascolano RIPE OLIVES
Ascolano variety olives are famous for their size, tenderness and rich, nut-like flavor. They have more olive meat in relation to pit than any other canned ripe olive variety.
