Ruff Would Lose Slam

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Written for

 Boris Koytchouk of the New York Card School faculty says South has a very sound opening bid and that his partner's jump raise improves his hand. In general, when you have unbalanced distribution, a raise increases the distribution value of your hand.
 A great expert playing with a favorite partner might continue with a series of scientific bids to feel out the possibilities of a grand slam, but the Card School feels that going right to six spades is just about as good and may well be better.
 Should West elect to open his ace of clubs against the apade slam South would have no problem, but West will almost surely select the queen of hearts as his opening lead. South will win the trick and draw trumps with two leads. Then he will note that there are potential losers in both red suits.
 If he is alert he will see that the best way to get rid of those losers will be on dummy's clubs. He will have to lose a trick to the ace, but he can afford one losing trick and will lead the king of clubs from dummy.
 East will play low. South will discard a red card and West will take his ace. Later, South will discard two more red cards on the remaining clubs and make his slam.

SCARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:
 West North East South
 1▲ Double Red 7
 2▲ South, hold.
 3▲ 432 432 432 432
 What do you do?
 A—Bid two clubs. You have five clubs and this should be the best place to get out of trouble.
 TODAY'S QUESTION
 You bid two clubs, West double, your partner bids two hearts and East doubles. What do you do now?

Institution Seen Aid For Retarded Child

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My letter will sound like a soap opera but every word is true.
 I'm a widow, 27, with an 8-year-old son. I have no relatives that I know of, having been raised in an orphanage. My husband was killed in a hunting accident three years ago. His parents who are well-to-do and socially prominent live in another city. The last time I saw them was at my husband's funeral. They have shown no interest in me or their grandchild, not even a letter to inquire how we are getting along. I'm sure they wish to ignore us because Danny is retarded.

I attend night school and work part-time as a stenographer. I'm unable to hold a regular job because of Danny. My pastor and doctor are aware of the physical strain and the financial struggle. They have suggested I put Danny in an institution. I don't want to do it. Danny needs my love and besides he's all I have.

Dear Ellen: You can do as your pastor and doctor advise. I suspect you are hanging on to your child for your sake, rather than his. It may well be that Danny would be happier in an institution.
 Your in-laws have demonstrated they have no interest in you or your son. This is about as low as people can get and I would not demean myself by asking such heartless clods for help.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a wife and mother, married 10 years and am approaching 34. Maybe

If I see this letter in print the pure disgust of it will cure me. I've been day-dreaming about a former sweetheart whom I have not seen in 11 years. The day-dreaming started about six months ago when I heard "our" song on the radio. I just sat there like a ninny and all the warm memories washed over me like a glorious wave. Now I can't seem to get the guy out of my mind.
 The old boy friend was a heel. Morally he isn't fit to shine my husband's shoes and nobody knows this better than I do. How can I shake this shameful, adolescent habit?—LOOSE BOLT

Dear Bolt: The one who got away always looks better. In fact they look better "away" than they ever did when they were there.
 When you feel a day-dream coming on, substitute in its place one of those heeish incidents which persuaded you to marry someone else.

Dear Ann Landers: I am making this easy for you because I know you have a lot of letters to read. Just put a check mark in either one of the boxes below. One is marked you pay, the other is marked she pays.
 My cleaning lady is the dumbest chick you ever lived. She has worked for me six years, which entitles me to a medal for patience.

Yesterday she overloaded my washing machine. (She said she was trying to save soap.) The motor is now burned out and the repair bill is going to be a lulu. Is she responsible and should I insist that she pay? Or do I just say "Thank you."—CRAZY CATHERINE

Dear Catherine: If it's legal advice you want, see a lawyer. If it's his opinion you want, I am checking you pay.

Everyone who employs help expects broken glassware, knickknacks and appliances over a period of time. (And would you believe it, some women actually break things themselves.)

Home Needed Plane Purchase Slated

By Dunsmuir AFS Student

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force today disclosed plans to buy 1,000 Navy F4H Phantom jet fighter planes at a cost of more than $1.5 billion over the next five years.
 Air Force Lt. Gen. Gabriel P. Disosway, deputy chief of staff for programs and requirements, said the Navy plane is the "best in the world" and will become the Air Force's main troop support and general purpose jet.
 The 1,000 planes will be formed into 14 wings of about 75 fighters each, including 14 reconnaissance squadrons with about 25 planes each. The balance of the troop support, or tactical force, will consist of seven wings of F105 fighters.
 Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said previously that the Air Force would buy large quantities of the Phantoms to save the cost of developing a new plane.
 Disosway told a news conference the Air Force version of the Phantom will be a two-man plane—pilot and a radar operator. He said it will carry either nuclear or conventional weapons at more than twice the speed of sound.
 The land version of the plane will cost between $1.5 and $1.7 million each, he said.
 The daily mean temperature in San Francisco is 56.5 degrees.

Home Needed By Dunsmuir AFS Student

DUNSMUIR — A home for a foreign student for 1967-68 is being sought by the Dunsmuir chapter of the American Field Service. The chapter has raised funds for transportation and administration costs for Dunsmuir's sixth foreign student.
 The community cannot continue to participate in the program unless a family is willing to "adopt" a student for a year's stay. Mrs. Sam Burton, chapter president explained.
 The host family must be able to provide a bed for the student and meet his home needs. The family should also have children of high school age.
 The American Field Service offers a unique plan for widening world friendship. Mrs. Burton said. The AFS student becomes a member of an American family for a year and takes home first-hand knowledge of attitudes, customs, and economics of the United States. The students also share their knowledge of their own countries with their foster families and schoolmates.
 Thus far Dunsmuir has hosted students from Sweden, Denmark, Germany, and Switzerland. Carlos Leiva of Santiago, Chile, is currently making his home with the Roger Ellis family.
 The local AFS chapter will hold the annual election of officers at its February meeting.

Aid For Health Training Needed, Says Celebrezze

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze testified Tuesday that federal aid for training in the health professions was essential to build up this country's increasingly short supply of medical personnel.
 Celebrezze told the House Commerce Committee that hospitals, communities, research laboratories and the armed forces were all competing for the annual output of medical, dental and other schools.
 The Secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department appeared in behalf of a proposed construction and student loan program.
 He noted that the administration had reservations about certain points in the bill—such as providing loans instead of scholarships—but he said the government it was "far more important now to complete the action on this legislation than to consider anew the various alternative approaches to our common goal."
 Celebrezze's job was to convince the lawmakers of the need for a 10-year, $755 million specialized construction program. Under the proposal, grants would be given to help build medical, dental, pharmaceutical, optometric, podiatric, nursing, osteopathic and public health teaching facilities.

Youths Held In Car Theft

Two teen-age youths, implicated in the theft of an automobile from the Holiday Bowl Parking Lot about 1:30 p.m. Monday, were apprehended by state police at 6:30 p.m. in Merrill.
 Robert Frank Victoria, disobeyed stop sign, guilty plea, $10 fine paid.
 The two boys are being held in the city jail juvenile section awaiting disposition by the county juvenile officers.
 The car, operated by Norma Hansen, 2550 Reclamation, apparently was left unlocked. Mrs. Hansen said she may have left her pocketbook with a duplicate set of keys in the car.
 Dal Reed, chief of police in Merrill, observed the youths driving around in Merrill and kept them under surveillance until state police arrived.
