

Police Raid Venezuela Terrorists

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Police raided a terrorist den here Thursday night and seized Communist plans for attack on U.S. oilfield installations and other enterprises in Venezuela, it was reported today.

Detectives who took part in the raid on a home near the Red-infested Central University campus said it appeared to be the central headquarters of the Castro-Communist "National Liberation Army (FAL)." The raiders captured membership lists and other documents expected to expedite the current roundup of Red troublemakers in this country.

A few hours before the raid, a band of youthful delinquents believed to be university students tried to set fire to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce here. Detectives reached the scene in time to trail the firebugs to the FAL headquarters.

Terrorists bombed a night club and a parking lot here Thursday, injuring a woman and a 14-year-old girl. The parking lot, bombed during the evening rush hour, is near the Caracas office of the 1st National City Bank of New York.

Among the papers seized in the raid were messages from Moscow and Havana, some of them in code, the police said. There also were several copies of a book, "Guerrilla Warfare," by Argentine-born Castroite leader Ernesto (Che) Guevara.

Sports Car Thief Breaks Into House

A burglar who operates a late model sports car is being sought by the sheriff's office in connection with the break-in of a Lakeport Blvd. house last Sunday while the occupants of the residence were in Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wills, 4043 Lakeport Blvd., told deputy sheriff Lou Bogart that they returned home earlier this week to discover that a toaster, percolator and food were stolen while they had been in Ashland during the past several weeks.

Investigation by Bogart indicated that a "new type compact automobile" observed leaving the Wills' residence about 9:30 p.m. Sunday, by Mrs. Carl Lyon, a neighbor, may have been operated by the burglar.

The burglar apparently drove up to the house in the automobile and entered the building after breaking a window on the front porch and climbing through it. Bogart and deputy Lee Saunders are still investigating.

The stolen items and damage to the house has been estimated at $300.

DUNSMUIR — A 40th anniversary will be celebrated by the Dunsmuir Lions Club with a dinner at the Community Youth Building Feb. 16.

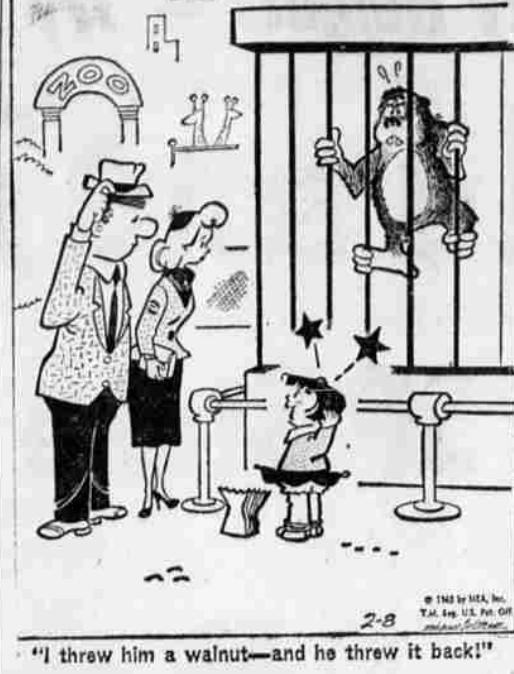

Lions and their ladies will honor charter members, Cethyl Jones of San Carlos and D. W. Kilborn of Sacramento, on this occasion.

Ray Marks, San Francisco, international councilor for the Lions Club, will be the guest speaker. Earl Houston, Susanville, district Lions governor, and L. D. Taylor, Yreka, deputy district governor, are among the honored guests invited.

Lodge Installs Elmer Alstrom

NEW PINE CREEK—Elmer Alstrom, a retired Lakeview merchant 82 years of age, was installed Noble Grand of Lakeview IOOF Lodge No. 63 at a special installation meeting last Tuesday evening.

Alstrom recently earned the "Certificate of Efficiency" for perfection in his ritualistic memory work despite the handicap of poor vision. He was able to achieve this goal through the tutoring of his lodge brother, Mark A. Getty, who is now convalescing in a Klamath Falls hospital from a broken hip. Getty was unable to attend the installation.

Trio Seeks Recovery Of Losses

MEDFORD (UPI)—Three complaints seeking recovery of $6,140 allegedly lost in poker games here have been filed in Jackson County Circuit Court.

David M. Chandler, Trail; Louis C. Burns, Medford, and Earl Pidcock, Medford, are the plaintiffs. Defendants are Virgil Stickle, Medford; L. W. Howdell, Eagle Point, and the Crater Lake Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, where the games were allegedly held.

The complaint claimed that officers of the lodge were aware of the games and that the Aerie collected a fee.

Chandler listed losses of $2,075 in 21 games, Burns $1,025 in nine games and Pidcock $3,040 in 24 games. Each seeks recovery of twice the amount said lost, as provided under state statutes, plus costs.

Navy Planes Miss Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Western Airlines DC8B carrying 33 passengers narrowly missed colliding with a formation of four Navy jet fighters Thursday night over a Northern California mountain.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said Western Flight 167, en route from San Francisco to Los Angeles, encountered the Navy planes in a clear sky over Mt. Hamilton, 40 miles south of San Francisco.

The spokesman said the airliner and the fighters were both flying at an altitude of between 6,000 and 7,000 feet when the near-miss occurred. All were flying by visual controls, he said.

The airliner returned to San Francisco and the flight was canceled.

None of the passengers was injured.

Science Claims Germs Spread Colds Not Exposure To Weather Or Drafts

EDITOR'S NOTE—For centuries, the sniffles and shakes of the common cold have been blamed on drafts, wet feet and the like. Scientists seeking to defeat the cold virus now believe none of these may be to blame. The causes of a cold are examined in this, the second of a three-part series on science's battle against the cold.

By BARNEY SEIBERT
CHICAGO (UPI) — Discoveries about what causes the common cold have come so rapidly that even physicians are confused.

A medical pamphlet titled "Old King Cold," published in 1959, advised that the chances of catching colds could be lessened with plenty of rest, avoiding drafts, safeguarding against chills and overheating, protection against wet feet, dressing or undressing in cold rooms, and contact with persons who have colds.

The best advice contained in that section of the pamphlet is the last—avoiding contact with persons who have colds.

Research at the University of Illinois and at Britain's resort-like Harvard Hospital included exposing volunteers to:

Drafts, water drenchings in cold air, up to 58 hours of sleeplessness, and hours of exposure to chilling temperatures while clad only in light underclothing.

you put this to a test, it is shown not to be the case."

Caused by Virus
Since those unpleasant but otherwise harmless ordeals by volunteers in Salisbury, England, and Chicago, researchers have found that colds are caused by any of some 120 or more virus strains, and the so-called "Eaton Agent," a micro-organism which is neither virus nor germ.

Although a multitude of virus strains may cause the common cold, most are caused by a dozen or so varieties.

lan da Cunha. But colds recur when the community is visited by a ship—even though those aboard may not have colds. This suggested to the British researchers that some persons are "cold carriers."

The British also found a relationship between lowering of humidity in homes and the onset of colds.

More In Winter
Since chills, wet feet and exposure to drafts probably are not factors in contracting colds, why are there more colds in winter? Dr. Harry Dowling of the University of Illinois theorized that it may be because "people crowd together in closed rooms when the weather's cold."
