'Easy' Hand Needs Skill

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today's hand caused a mild argument between Edgar Kaplan of the Card School of New York and myself. He claims the hand is simple, but I contend it is far from it, even when you see all the cards.

We agree that the hand belongs in four spades and probably most pairs will get there. I am sure they would find several ways of doing the actual bidding.

West's king of clubs opening is normal and declarer must grab that first trick right away. If he stays off there is danger of a shift to hearts.

After winning the first trick, declarer will want to lead his singleton diamond and East will take his ace right away. If East shifts to a heart South will go up with the ace, play three rounds of trumps stopping in dummy and discard four losers on the diamonds to wind up with an over-trick.

If East leads a club and West shifts to a heart South will also make an over-trick. The best defense is for West to play two clubs. At this point, South can ruff in dummy and make his contract, but a better play is for South to discard a low heart from dummy and ruff the club continuation in his own hand. Once more he will be able to draw trumps and get rid of his losers, but he will only make four odd because the defense will have three tricks.

What do you do?
A—Pass. Your partner will choose a suit and you will raise him. Probably East is fooling a trifle with his redouble.

SATELLITE — The federal space agency will negotiate with the Fairchild Stratos Corp. on a contract to build this giant meteoroid detection satellite for launch late next year. The two-ton satellite, shown in an artist's conception, is electrically charged to record penetration of any meteoroids. It will be placed in orbit by a Saturn launch vehicle. After injection into orbit, the satellite will deploy two large flat wings with a total span of 96 feet.

Dunes Park Said Near Realization

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposal to establish an Oregon dunes national seashore appeared closer to realization today than ever before.

Oregon members of Congress said undivided administration support for plans to set up the second national seashore on the Pacific Coast was virtually assured. A far-reaching agreement between the Agriculture and Interior Departments on recreational development was viewed as sharply increasing chances for congressional approval.

Sen. Maurine B. Neuberger, D-Ore., expressed satisfaction that the two departments, long at odds over development of recreation areas, had gotten together on plans for management of the Oregon Dunes area.

"This action by the administration helps to clear the way for congressional action on the Oregon Dunes National Seashore," Mrs. Neuberger said.

Rep. Robert B. Duncan, D-Ore., in whose district the park would be established, termed the inter-departmental agreement "a very significant step forward."

"I am very optimistic that with the support of the administration it will be easier to get the proposal through Congress," Duncan said.

An agreement by the two departments to work together on the development of recreation areas in Oregon, California, Utah and Wyoming was announced this week by Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman and Interior Secretary Stewart Udall.

If approved by Congress, the Oregon Dunes area would become the second national seashore on the Pacific Coast. Congress last year authorized creation of the Point Reyes National Seashore about 25 miles northwest of San Francisco.

A spokesman for the National Park Service said tentative plans for the Oregon Dunes national seashore call for a park of 35,630 acres, including 14,000 acres now in the Siuslaw National Forest.

Land acquisition costs were estimated at about $5 million. Both Mrs. Neuberger and Duncan said they planned early introduction of legislation to authorize the park.

Scouts Finish Mother March

DUNSMUIR — Troop 26, Boy Scouts of America, will complete the Mothers March for the March of Dimes in Dunsmuir, Mrs. T. C. Campbell, campaign chairman for the March of Dimes, has announced.

Mrs. Campbell was high in her praise of the volunteers who sought donations in about six inches of slush and a pouring rain. Those mothers who were able to canvass their areas collected $244.16, Mrs. Campbell said.

Faith Needed, Says JFK At Prayer Breakfast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said today that only faith in God can bring Americans safely through the present era of "immense perils."

Speaking at the annual presidential prayer breakfast sponsored by International Christian Leadership, Kennedy said he is daily made aware in facing the problems of the presidency of the "limits of mere human endeavor."

"We cannot depend solely on our military power, our economic strength or our intellectual abilities to see us safely through," he said. "We need faith—the kind of faith that has guided this nation through 175 years."

The President said all men and women in public or private life who are striving to "build the future" must know the truth of the Biblical admonition:

"Except the Lord build the house they labor in vain who build it."

International Christian Leadership is a layman's organization which enrolls many men in public life. Today's presidential prayer breakfast was tied in by television to similar governors breakfasts in most state capitals.

Attending the breakfast in the Mayflower Hotel here were Chief Justice Earl Warren and other members of the Supreme Court, most of the members of President Kennedy's cabinet, Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and about 200 other congressmen.

Evangelist Billy Graham urged the President "to lead this nation back to the God of our fathers."

Graham, in a prepared statement, predicted the United States would face crises which would make the recent Cuban affair "pale into insignificance." Such a crisis will test "the moral and spiritual toughness of this nation as it has not been tested since
