Rada Elliott Heads Lodge

LAKEVIEW—Rada Elliott was installed as noble grand of the Lakeview Rebekah Lodge No. 22 at formal ceremonies held Jan. 24 at the IOOF Hall.

Other elective officers installed were Zola Partin, vice grand; Elnora Cowger, secretary, and Josephine Elliott, treasurer. The appointive officers installed were Shirley Van Cleave, warden (substitute); Eva Mae Alexander, con-

The installing officers were Mary Plato, district deputy president; Josephine Elliott, deputy marshal; Melva Bach, deputy warden; Vivian Daron, deputy secretary; Dola Flynn, deputy treasurer, and Dorothy Brown, deputy chaplain.

Rada Elliott was presented with a corsage by the Delta Packa Club, and Dorothy Noble, past noble grand, was presented with the keys to lodge, and the past noble grand's jewel.

Following the installation ceremony, refreshments were served in the dining room which was decorated in a pink and white color scheme. Serving were Helen Gray and Marion Shaw.

Schools in the United States had a total enrollment of 43.8 million persons, 5 to 34 years old, at the time of the 1960 census.

Farewell Party Given

TULELAKE — Mrs. Dorothy Staunton and her mother, Mrs. Edith Hopka, who plan to leave Tulelake to live elsewhere were honored recently with a farewell dinner at the Sportsmen's Hotel.

Mrs. Staunton, who came here as an early day homesteader, will go to Woodburn, Ore., where a new retirement home is being built for her. She will go to Florida first to visit a sister. A son, Bill, will farm the ranch.

A money gift was presented to both guests of honor. Places were marked for 41 at attractively decorated tables.

Cards were played following the dinner. High in pinochle went to Laura Anderson and P. C. Bergman; high in bridge to Jean Frey and Ed Duckett who won a special prize. The traveling prize in pinochle went to Bill McClymonds.

Guests were Mrs. Staunton, Mrs. Hopka, Mr. and Mrs. Webb Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. George Frey, Mr. and Mrs. George Yost, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weitkamp, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Bergman and Mrs. Bergman's mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Takacs Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Otto Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McClymonds, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Spring Coats Neat, Precise

NEW YORK (NEA)—No doubt about it, this is the big spring of the skinny coat.

Cut narrow and close to the body, it may or may not have waistline shaping. Generally, it has front shaping or is cut like a shirt or even like a bathrobe, complete with a tie at front.

These new slim straight shapes sometimes have a casual V neckline. But the single outstanding characteristic of the 1963 spring coat is the neat and precise look.

This neat look is achieved via careful cut and seaming. It can make the wearer look slim even when she is not. It is sometimes back-belted or half-belted, is sometimes double-breasted and collarless. Within this new concept, there is variety aplenty.

Pink is back as a spring fashion favorite. Colors generally are clear and bright: pink, blue, lemon ice. But there are lots of chalky pastels, wheat, gray, navy and black. And there are some red, white and blue combinations again this year. There are sophisticated whites, too.

Fabrics run to the basket weaves, mohairs, textured woolsens, ottomans and heavy ribbed silks. Brilliant lacy tweeds and diagonal whipcords will delight women who appreciate the unusual in fabrics.

Many coats are teamed with their own dresses this spring to the degree where it's difficult to separate the ensembles from the coats. But these new coat-dress teams are chic and take some of the guesswork out of planning a wardrobe.

The 1962-63 Oregon Unendowed Fellowship of $2,500 has been awarded by the American Association of University Women Educational Foundation to Dr. Pauline Newman-Gordon, assistant professor of French at Stanford University. The announcement was made by Mrs. James Basker of Grants Pass, state fellowships chairman for the AAUW.

"This is the first such award made," pointed out Mrs. Basker, "and is in addition to the $6,500 contributed by Oregon members for fellowships the past year."

Dr. Newman-Gordon is working at the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris where she is studying the works of two poets, Tristan Corbriere and Jules Laforgue, and a novelist, Jules Renard, in relation to the theme of "smile." Corbriere, Laforgue and Renard lived during the years 1845-1912, a period which saw France's disastrous defeat in the Franco-Prussian War and the coming of the First World War. The life and works of these writers reflect the disappointment of their times; their wounded sensitivities are expressed in the "laughter" or "smile" in their literature. The study will explore the psychological subconscious escapes of the three authors and will be submitted for publication.

Dr. Newman-Gordon graduated from Hunter College in 1947, has an M.A. from Columbia University and a doctorate from the Sorbonne. She published a book on Marcel Proust and Existentialism in 1953 and one on Eugene Leroy in 1957. The two publications have been extremely well received by leading critics in the U.S. and by wide segments of the French press.

Dr. Newman-Gordon is the 1957 recipient of the Hunter College Award for Outstanding Achievement and a member of Phi Beta Kappa.
