

Famous Harlem Globetrotters Here Wednesday Night

HALF TIME SHOW — Mike and Carol Pickering, two of the finest trapeze exhibitionists in the business, lend their skill as added entertainment on the gala program Wednesday night at Pelican Court which features the Harlem Globetrotters against the American League All-Stars. These two have appeared all over the world and they are recognized as the finest trapeze duo ever to come out of the Rocky Mountain region.

Will Meet American All-Stars

The fabulous Harlem Globetrotters, who have put a big dent in the serious face of the world with their hilarious antics on the basketball court, will be in town Wednesday night to take on the American League All-Stars at Pelican Court, beginning at 8 o'clock.

All the reserved seats for the big game already are sold out according to KU athletic director Jim Johnson. But 800 general admission seats, at $1 a head, will go on sale Wednesday night at 6 o'clock at the gym ticket office. An overflowing crowd is expected for the contest.

The Globetrotters are famous for their "own style" of basketball all over the world. They have been among the best goodwill ambassadors this nation has known.

There will be a preliminary game at 6:30 with the Sacred Heart eighth grade taking on the Altamont eighth grade unit.

These traveling clowns of basketball put on one of the best shows to be found anywhere. The antics which keep the crowd in stitches is led by J. C. Gipson, this unit's top clown. Gipson played only high school basketball. He never got to college because he got a tryout with the Globetrotters when he was 17 and he's been with Abe Saperstein's squad ever since.

He is backed up by 6-11 Ernest Jones who was a star at Tennessee State University in Nashville. He was signed mainly because of his height for last season's squad. His playing ability did not take all by storm when he first began.

But he was touted throughout Europe and has developed into one of the promising young players. The Globetrotters are now using his giant height to good advantage.

Another top star for the Trotters is Connie Hawkins, the University of Iowa sensation while he lasted. He didn't even finish his freshman year at Iowa when he was grabbed up by the Trotters. He is already being acclaimed as one of the all-time greats. His height is 6-8 and he ran away with the scoring championship last season. He scored 2,145 points in 78 games for an average of 27.5 per game.

Other Globetrotters include Ermer Robinson, playing coach, Jackie Fitzpatrick, Tony Wilcox, Dave Hicks and St. Strupp.

HELPING HANDS — Dan Huck hangs on to the top ring rope to keep from falling out of the ring during action in the Chicago Golden Gloves competition. Huck didn't need help from extended hands as he went on to win decision in this 135-pound bout over Dismas Branch.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—Mayor Stan Brookshire said today he would spend the next few weeks trying to determine whether residents of Charlotte would support a professional basketball team.

Robert A. Youngerman, an executive with the Chicago Zephyrs, reported Monday he wrote Brookshire inquiring about the possibility of locating a National Basketball Association franchise in the Queen City.

Youngerman said he told Brookshire that Charlotte would be an "ideal location" for a pro team.

"Mr. Youngerman indicated he would like to come here sometime after March 1," said Brookshire. "I plan to investigate the situation here to determine whether it would be worth his while to come."

Youngerman reported that Brookshire "was enthusiastic about the possibility."

"Charlotte has a brand new auditorium seating 14,000 and there is no major college competition in the area," the Zephyrs' program director said.

Youngerman said he believed it would take about $300,000 to land an NBA franchise and the club would put up most of the money.

However, Youngerman pointed out that the NBA would have to grant another franchise before any action could be taken. He noted that there were nine clubs in the NBA and 10 would make for a better balanced league.

"The NBA has said it will grant no new franchise this year," Youngerman said, "but I believe that if we can show them that we have strong city backing in Charlotte they could be persuaded to change their minds."

OS Heads Deny Exclusion

CORVALLIS (UPI)—Oregon State officials denied today there was any "systematic exclusion" of Negroes from the varsity basketball team as charged by a state legislator.

State Rep. Berkeley Lent, D-Portland, said in Salem Monday he did not know of a Negro making the squad in the 33 years that Amory T. (Slats) Gill has been head coach at Oregon State.

OSU Sports Publicity Director Johnny Eggers said that Norm Monroe, a Negro, played in six varsity basketball games during the 1960-61 season. He said that Monroe, also a trackman, quit because he felt "he was not good enough to help the team."

Gill said "find me a good boy, a good student who can get into school and a good basketball player and see whether I'll take him."

Eggers added that "we tried real hard to get Glenn Moore (a Negro and starting center on the University of Oregon basketball team) to come to our school."

Before Committee Lent made his remarks to the House Education Committee in asking the committee to table a bill he had introduced because "there are a couple of situations in our own back yard which can stand cleaning up."

The bill would have prevented OSU or Oregon from entering into athletic arrangements with the University of Mississippi or any other school which holds athletic contests with Mississippi.

Lent said the idea of his bill was a "3,000-mile censure of 'Ole Miss'" because of continuing anti-Negro behavior by its students.

Stan Williams Happy Over Trade To Yankees

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—There is in Stan Williams today a sad sort of happiness.

The strapping, six foot, five inch pitcher is delighted that he wound up with the New York Yankees. Yet it is only natural that the 225-pound flame thrower misses his Dodger teammates after being swapped away for Moose Skowron.

Yet this is a man who appreciates the new scenery and could be a major factor in another Yankee world championship.

"It could have been any one of 18 other clubs," he observed as he reported to the Yankee spring training camp. "Let's just say I was lucky that it was this one."

The trade which took him to the Yankees wasn't entirely unexpected. Through five years at Los Angeles, Williams never has quite been able to live up to his promise.

"I knew something was in the wind," he pondered. "I felt it, I'd had a bad year and then, to top it off, we blew the pennant. Something had to give somewhere. The only thing that bothers me is that we built a home in Los Angeles four months ago."

Angels' Pitchers, Catchers Drilling

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Manager Bill Rigney opened the Los Angeles spring training camp today for pitchers and catchers a week prior to the start of drills for the entire roster.

A total of 31 battersmen were either on hand or due momentarily, but relief hurler Ryne Duren was given permission to report later in the week because his wife was hospitalized in San Antonio, Tex.

Pitcher Don Lee Monday signed a contract for a reported $18,000.

Rod Laver Wins Over Luis Ayala

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—Australia's Rod Laver now knows what it is like to win a U.S. pro tennis match—and he likes it.

Laver, a red-hot amateur and grand-slam winner last year, broke the serve of Chile's Luis Ayala in the 8th game Monday night and coasted to an 8-3 victory over the former Davis Cupper.

It marked Laver's first victory in four starts during the 30-match tour which opened Friday in Boston. He lost previously to Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, and to Ken Rosewall of Australia.

MacKay continued his mastery in the still young tournament. He remained unbeaten in four matches by downing Spain's Andres Gimeno, 8-6.

The loss dropped Gimeno into a second-place tie with Rosewall and Earl Buchholz, all with 2-2 records. Ayala and Laver are 1-1.

Federal Bank Checks Mailed
ALTURAS—Roger Collis, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Alturas, announced that dividend checks amounting to $6,546.80 were mailed to members in Modoc and parts of Lassen and Siskiyou counties.

"It was with great satisfaction that the board of directors declared the four per cent dividend on stock held in the association as of Dec. 31, 1962," Collis said. "It is their intention and policy to strive to give the most efficient service in the field of long term, low cost, farm mortgage financing and to maintain a dividend paying schedule in the future."

Miss Wright Captures Golf Title
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex., top money winner in the Ladies Professional Golf Association for the past two years, has started off this year as if she plans to make it three in a row.

The long-balled hitting Texan captured the $15,500 St. Petersburg Women's Golf Tournament, richest event in the history of the LPGA, Monday.

To win the title, Miss Wright had to come from a seven-stroke deficit after the first round to the Marilyn Smith of Tequesta, Fla., Sunday and take the 18-hole playoff Monday with ease.

Miss Wright fired a two-under-par 69 while Miss Smith skied to a 78.

In winning, Miss Wright picked up $2,325 plus one-fourth of the gate attending the playoff. Miss Smith collected $1,670 and one-fourth of the gate. Miss Wright now has won two of the three events on the tour this season. She won the Sea Island, Ga., Open and placed third at Naples, Fla.
