Cincinnati Remains Top Ranked Team In Nation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cincinnati's unbeaten Bearcats topped the United Press International major college basketball ratings for the 11th straight week today with only three weeks left before the crowning of the national champion.

The Bearcats, who extended their season streak to 19 and their over-lapping victory skein to 37 games, again were named the No. 1 team by all 35 members of the UPI rating board. This marked the eighth week in a row that they had received perfect score of 350 points in the ratings. Loyola of Chicago, which has won all 20 of its games this season, again was second, receiving that designation this week by 32 coaches. The Ramblers have six games left to play in the regular season, one more than the Bearcats, but both finish up on March 2.

Duke, the Atlantic Coast Conference leader with a 17-2 record, again was third, while Illinois, bidding for the Big Ten title with an overall record of 17-2, remained fourth, and Arizona State U., which tops the Western Athletic Conference and owns an 18-2 record, held onto fifth place. There was a bit of shuffling in the lower half of the top 10 this week with Colorado (13-4) moving up from seventh to sixth and Mississippi State (16-4) advancing from ninth to seventh. Stanford (13-5) remained eighth, Georgia Tech (17-3) slipped from sixth to ninth and Oregon State (13-5) clung to 10th.

The vote for the first five teams this week was so heavy that St. Joseph's (Pa.) managed to make the top 20 with just five points. Points are awarded on a basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first through 10th places.

Utah State headed the second 10 grouping, missing the top 10 by just 11 points. Ohio State, the national champion in the past two seasons, advanced from 14th to 12th and was followed in order by Texas, the Southwest Conference leader, UCLA, Oklahoma State, Colorado State U., Wichita, Bradley, New York U. and St. Joseph's.

Major Loops Going On Without Stars

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Sit back and relax, the major league clubs are going right ahead with plans to open the 1963 season even though such stars as Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Jack Sanford and Juan Pizarro show no sign of stirring off their front porch.

Those four are only a few of the many standouts still unsigned. But there appears to be no alarm among the general managers, who point out that no player technically can be called a holdout until the opening of spring training.

The world champion New York Yankees opened their advance spring training camp at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Monday but since advance camps don't count, the 11 unsigned Yankee players are casually dismissed as "no problems."

Sanford, a 24-game winner last year, looks like he could develop into the San Francisco Giants' biggest headache, while Pizarro is only one of six Chicago White Sox players who still haven't agreed to terms.

Signs With Angels

Pitcher Don Lee, who looked like he might become a signing problem to the Los Angeles Angels, agreed for an estimated $18,000 Monday and joined them in a preliminary workout at Palm Springs, Calif. Reliever Art Fowler also participated in the drill after getting an okay from an eye specialist. Fowler suffered an injury last August when hit above the left eye during batting practice. The Angels had to cut him loose then but he'll be given a chance to win back his job.

Willie McCovey, the last out of the 1962 World Series, was given a raise by the Giants, boosting him into the $19,000 class, while Duke Snider, Daryl Spencer and John Roseboro signed with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Roseboro was the only one of the three who was raised from $20,000 to about $23,000. Snider accepted an estimated $34,000 and Spencer approximately $23,000.

Also Sign Contracts

Others who signed Monday were Don Mincher and George Banks with the Twins; Vic Davalillo, Tommy Agee and Bob Kipps with the Indians; Brant Alyea with the Senators, and Dick Kenworthy, Gerald McNetney, Mike Degerick and Manly Johnson with the White Sox.

This boy Johnson doesn't come by his first name through accident. He not only had a 13-6 mark as a pitcher for Savannah of the Sally League last year but also hit 26 home runs and batted .363 while playing the outfield.

Bay Teams Open Fight This Week

By United Press International

The three unbeaten San Francisco Bay Area members of the West Coast Athletic Conference, who have withstood all outside challengers so far this season, start fighting among themselves this week.

St. Mary's (4-0) meets Santa Clara (4-0) tonight at San Jose Civic Auditorium. The USP Dons (5-0) get into the act this Saturday when they battle St. Mary's.

Psychological warfare broke out last weekend when someone painted a big "St. Mary's" on the Santa Clara campus in bright green, which is USP's color and not St. Mary's.

Monday afternoon St. Mary's campus was bombarded with several thousand leaflets reading, "Beat St. Mary's. Go Broncos. Bomb the Gaels."

All three schools badly want the title and the teams are so even that anything can happen.

In sister action tonight, Portland is at Portland State and Nevada is at Sacramento State.

Monday night's only game saw Pacific bounce Linfield 71-61 in a Northwest Conference game.

The win gave the Badgers a 9-2 conference record. Lewis & Clark leads the loop with a 9-1 mark.

Latest UPI ratings showed that the experts realize that there are plenty of good teams on the West Coast, all capable of beating each other.

BEATS SWIM RECORD

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — Alton Procopio de Oliveira Jr. of the Paulistano swimming club of Sao Paulo, Brazil, bettered the existing South American 100-meter backstroke record by three-tenths of a second Monday with clocking of 1 minute, 41 seconds.

Coaches Warned Not To Relax Vigilance

'No Cure-Alls' For Cage Scandals

By TIM MORIARTY
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Lapchick warned his fellow college basketball coaches today not to relax their vigilance "just because Jack Molinas is going to jail."

"There is no such thing as a cure-all for these scandals," said the lanky St. John's University coach after Molinas was sentenced to 10 to 15 years in state prison as the "master fixer" in basketball's latest bribery case.

"We coaches can't sit back now and feel this can't happen again," Lapchick added. "We have to maintain constant vigilance. There are always guys around like Molinas who feel they can make a fast buck by fixing games."

Lapchick, who turned to coaching in 1936 after playing for the original Celtics, said he was pleased that Molinas "got more than a slap on the wrist."

"Maybe this stiff penalty will serve as a deterrent to other would-be fixers," he said. "Let's hope so, anyway."

Lapchick always has felt that coaches should do their utmost to protect their players from gamblers "and other shady characters." He keeps a scrapbook containing clippings of bribe stories and insists that his players read it before the start of every season.

"The coaches have an obligation to their players in this respect," he declared. "And not just basketball coaches. All sports leaders in general should be wary of gamblers and other racket guys."

New York Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan blew the first whistle on Molinas last May when the former Columbia University court star was arrested. It was Hogan who stamped Molinas as the "master fixer" in a ring that eventually involved 47 players from 27 colleges.

Judge Joseph A. Sarafite of the New York State Supreme Court, in sentencing Molinas Monday, virtually echoed Hogan's words.

"Molinas was the prime mover of the conspiracy — the person most responsible," said the judge, adding that the 36-year-old disgraced attorney is "a completely amoral person, who not only managed this conspiracy but also personally approached many of the players and corrupted many of them."

Sarafite also meted out lesser terms to three of Molinas' associates. Joseph Hacken, 42, New York City, described by the judge as "a major participant in the whole conspiracy," was given a 7½ to 8 years sentence; Philip La Cort, 29, East Boston, Mass., drew 2½ to 5 years, and Aaron Wagman, 29, New York, drew a suspended 3 to 5 years on condition he serve a sentence of 5 to 10 years in Florida for trying to bribe a football player.

Five other persons, all former players who pleaded guilty to bribery charges, were given suspended sentences because they "cooperated" with the district attorney. There were Jerry Vogel and Daniel Quindazzi (formerly of the University of Alabama), David Budin (Brooklyn College), Charles Tucker (Kalamazoo College), and Louis Brown (University of North Carolina).

Stanford Starting Soph

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A sophomore named Kent Hinckley will be seeing lots of action this weekend for Stanford when the Indians tip off against California in a home and home basketball series that is crucial as well as traditional.

Coach Howie Dallmar of the Tribe sent the 6 foot 2 inch guard up front against UCLA in a "must" game last Saturday and he responded with four clutch field goals in the first half to get Stanford off on the right foot.

"And everything broke right against UCLA," Dallmar told the Northern California Basketball Writers Association Monday while describing how his team bounced back from a Friday upset at the hands of Southern California.

"Hinckley is a guard but we tried him at forward because not many of the other forwards have been hitting much in double figures."

The soph's output, helped Stanford down the Bruins 80-78, after Southern Cal had stunned the eighth-ranked Tribe, 61-57 on Friday.

Mike Cimino, fledgling coach at St. Mary's, took a modestly optimistic view of the two toughies which his Gaels have Tuesday and Saturday in the tight West Coast Athletic Conference race. They face Santa Clara tonight and the University of San Francisco Saturday. All three teams are in a three-way tie for first place in the WCAC.

"I wouldn't be surprised if we won those two games but I wouldn't be surprised if we lost them either," Cimino said. "However, I'm optimistic about winning two."

Steve Gray of St. Mary's, who scored 27 points as St. Mary's downed Loyola of Los Angeles Saturday, was named player of the week along with Ollie Johnson of USP. The latter bucketed six of his eight shots from the floor in the Dons' 101-75 win over Pepperdine.

Other quotes:

Bob Blake, subbing for Rene Herreras of California—"Washington is tremendously underrated and proved this by beating us twice in Seattle. . . . The team has tremendous rebounding strength." Pete Peletta, USP—"Johnson is the unselfish type; his second and third efforts always are as good as his first."

Stu Imman, San Jose State—"Right now, I'd give the edge to Santa Clara in the WCAC race. We have to beat Loyola and Pepperdine this week to stay in the race. . . ."

SF Giants Ink Four Players

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Four San Francisco Giants, headed by Willie McCovey and catcher Ed Bailey, came to terms today for the 1963 season.

McCovey, who successfully made the shift from first base to a left field spot which he never had played, received a raise that was believed to lift his salary to between $18,000 and $20,000.

The veteran Bailey, who had trouble keeping the catching job from rookie Tom Haller, presumably stayed at his 1962 figure of about $20,000.

Also signed were utility infielder Ernie Bowman and Dan Markovich, a 29-year-old outfielder obtained from the Baltimore farm system.

McCovey batted 293 last year while enjoying his best season since 1959 when he was named the National League rookie of the year. He smashed 20 home runs, two of them as a pinch hitter, and drove in 34 rallies.

The willowy southpaw ended the World Series by lining out to second baseman Bobby Richardson of the Yankees. If the smash had been two feet one way or the other, McCovey would have driven in the tying and winning runs.

Bailey, entering his 11th year in the National League, batted .217, .232 but clubbed 17 home runs. His bases empty blow off Dick Farrell of the Houston Colts in the final regular game of the season and set the stage for a winning home run by Willie Mays in the eighth inning. Thus the club gained its historic playoff with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

A total of 31 Giants now have come to terms.

Kingsley Jets Win Tournament

The Kingsley Air Field Jets won the POADS Tournament in Portland Monday night by downing the Portland International Airport for the second time.

The Jets toppled North Bend Air Force station Sunday afternoon, 79-65, with Willie Cottle hitting for 29 points and Irv Burnett for 19. They came back Sunday night to down the Portland International Airport for the first time, 64-51 with Jeff Neal collecting 21 points and Cottle 19 markers.

The Monday night game pitted the same two teams in the double elimination finals with the Jets coming out on top, 62-59.

They travel on to Washington to play in another tournament.

Pop Ivy Talks With Alouettes

HOUSTON (UPI)—Frank (Pop) Ivy, coach of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, was expected to return to Houston today from New York after "exploratory talks" with officials of the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League.

Ivy said in New York Monday night he had not accepted a job as head coach with the Alouettes, but he did not deny that such a development was possible.

Ivy said he talked to Ted Workman, president of the Alouettes, and three members of the team's board of directors in New York.

"I guess they invited me here (to New York) to see if I'm interested," Ivy said.

Ivy came to the Oilers from the Canadian League. The Edmonton team won three Gray Cup championships under his coaching.

Oregon's Jerry Tarr Selected Athlete Of The Year For Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Former University of Oregon track star Jerry Tarr, now trying his hand at pro football, was named Oregon's athlete of the year for 1962 Monday night.

Tarr was honored at the 15th annual Bill Hayward banquet of champions. The big redhead led the Ducks to the NCAA track title last spring with two first places in hurdle events. He went on to capture two firsts in the National AAU meet.

Oregon State's brilliant grid star Terry Baker, who has already won a trunk full of awards this year, was ineligible for this one after winning the 1961 award. Oregon coach Bill Bowerman

Phoenix Finals Scheduled Today

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Golf, which used to be a four-days-a-week business, suddenly has bloomed into seven-days-a-week—and then everybody runs to catch the next plane.

The windup of the $35,000 Phoenix Open tournament is slated for today—if Mr. Weatherman will give his approval.

If everything goes well, things here will be all cleaned up and the same show in a new locale—in this case Tucson, Ariz.—will open bright and early Wednesday morning with a pro-amateur contest.

The final 18 holes of the Phoenix event are slated for today on the waterlogged Arizona Country Club course. The boys start teeing off at 8:35 a.m.

Arnold Palmer has been the third-round leader since Saturday. The tournament was blown, halted and rain-stormed out of business on Sunday. It was rained to death again Monday.

So, counting the pro-amateur event which preceded it, this is the seventh day in Phoenix.

The last tournament, at Palm Springs, Calif., took six days to complete because it was a 90-hole affair—and ended in a deadlock between Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus. Jack, the National Open champion, finally was declared the winner after an extra 18 holes.

Palmer went into today's scheduled round with a 54-hole total of 203, just one stroke ahead of the two men who are attempting to dethrone him as king of the golfers, Player and Nicklaus. They have 204.

John Lance Captures 600th Win

PITTSBURG, Kan. (UPI)—Pittsburg State coach John Lance has become the third basketball mentor in the nation to win 600 games while coaching at one college.

Lance's cagers defeated North-west Missouri State, 63-53, Monday night to gain him that distinction.

"This will remove a lot of pressure from the team," Lance said. "They've probably lost two games trying to get me past this mark."

Lance was presented an autographed hall by his players, whom he once labeled "alley fighters." A capacity crowd of 2,500 gave the 66-year-old coach a standing ovation.

"They worked themselves into a fine team," Lance said of his Central Intercollegiate Conference leaders.

Lance was a student here 50 years ago and coached four and one-half years at Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla., before taking the coaching position here in 1922. He holds a 600-328 record here and a career coaching record of 643 wins and 342 losses.

Other coaches to pass the 600 mark at one college are Ed Diddle of Western Kentucky and Adolph Rupp of the University of Kentucky.

The others were Oregon football players Mel Renfro and Steve Barnett, Oregon State basketball players Mel Counts and Jay Carty, Portland State baseball player Gordon Riese, Oregon trackman Harry Jerome, Portland auto race driver Len Sutton, junior middleweight champion Benny Moyer of Portland and Oregon State football player Vern Burke.

Baker was presented the Voit Memorial Trophy as the Pacific Coast's outstanding college football player for 1962.

Milo Meskel, who managed Archer Blower and Pipe of Portland to the national AABC title last year, was given the Rollie Truitt Award for amateur baseball and Bill Blakeley, who finished second in the national seniors tournament last year, was presented the George Bertz Memorial Award for golf.

Four merit awards were presented. Receiving them were Al Lightner of Salem, Eugene Ferguson and John Higginbotham of Portland and Bill Fague of Seaside.

Wisconsin Upsets Touted Illinois

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

Wisconsin has thrown an iron barrier in the path of Illinois' march to a Big Ten Conference basketball title.

The Badgers, playing with five starters through most of the game, surprised fourth-ranked Illinois, 84-77, Monday night to ruin the Illini perfect record in league competition.

Wisconsin's starting five score all the Badger points and it wasn't until Ken Siebel fouled out with 6:44 remaining that the winners were forced to seek bench help for the first and only time in the contest.

Siebel scored a team high of 25 points as he led a new defense that coach John Erickson came up with for the Illinois game. Jack Brens tallied 25 points for Wisconsin, which took a 44-32 lead at halftime and was threatened only once thereafter.

Illinoi, sparked by Bill Small's game high of 29 points, closed to 60-58 with 10:38 remaining before bowing to the ironman pressure of Wisconsin.

The loss left Illinois only a game ahead of second-place Ohio State in the league standings, a lead that could well be erased when the Illini meet Indiana Saturday and Ohio State plays Michigan. Illinois also has a Feb. 23 engagement with Wisconsin.

Dodgers Sign Up Snider

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— Duke Snider, the all-time home run king of the Dodgers, was back in the club's fold for the 17th season today with hopes 1963 would be a year in which he would get more playing opportunities.

General Manager E.J. (Buzzie) Bavasi announced Snider's signing and said the veteran outfielder took a slight cut in pay but still will receive around $4,000 and remained one of the top-salaried men on the club.

Snider last season appeared in only 80 games and his home run output fell to five as he batted .278, compared with his lifetime batting average of .300.

The veteran last season was appointed captain of the Dodgers and was hopeful of achieving a few more milestones this year. He needs only five more hits to join the men who have achieved 2,000 or more hits in the National League.

Snider goes into his 17th season with 369 homers to his credit and standing ninth on the all-time list and fourth in the National League. But his four-bag production last year was far off the pace of 40 or more homers he hit from 1953 through 1957 while in Brooklyn.

The "Duke" also is the all-time leader in extra base hits for the Dodgers with 814 and runs batted in with 1,271.

At the same time, Bavasi announced the signing of catcher John Roseboro and infielder Daryl Spencer. Roseboro was signed for around $23,000 and received a raise of about $3,000 while Spencer will get $23,000, a cut of about $2,000 from last season.

Spencer appeared in but 77 games last season and batted .236. The veteran National League infielder, however, reported from his Wichita, Kan., home that he had been working out regularly and hoped to get off to a stronger start this season.

Roseboro also had his batting average drop to .249 last season but was the club's top catcher and ranked as one of the fastest base-running catchers in the majors.
