Suits Feature Longer Jackets

NEW YORK — (NEA) — When you shop for a new spring suit, look for a longer jacket. This is the outstanding look of the spring 1963 suit.
Mostly it's a jacket with some body shaping. More than you've seen in some seasons, in fact. Some jackets have hidden front closings; others button nearly down the front. But despite their longer length, these jackets are feminine.
There are still shorter jacket lengths about for women who prefer them and find them more becoming. The straight, short cut is likely to be with us for some time and in many forms.
Some skirts are straight and narrow, others have a front pleat, still others are box pleated. There's a new emphasis on precise tailoring and careful seaming.
Very often, the blouse of the suit is matched to the jacket lining or neatly color cued to the suit fabric.

Buyers Note Little New

PARIS (UPI) — Some American buyers viewing the Paris spring fashion collections said today they have seen nothing new so far.
"We have not viewed many collections, but so far we have not seen any models that we will buy," said the president of one New York store who asked not to be identified.
He said several New York stores sent fewer buyers than usual because the New York newspaper strike has cut into department store business.
Two of the freshest ideas noted so far in the collection previews were the Japanese tea room outfit and French peasant suits shown Tuesday by J. F. Crabay. Crabay's peasant suits were regarded as highly commercial, if not high fashion, by reporters who watched them paraded by models in bright linens, shantung and even wools.
The designers are using so many plaid and solid wools that the spring shows have a wintry look that is right in keeping with Paris' freezing weather.
The peasant suit is gathered at the top and has full sleeves gathered at the wrist, like a French peasant's or artist's smock.
Crabay's next idea for spring of 1963 was to make women look like geisha girls in slim cocktail dresses and coats and full-length evening coats with long, trailing kimono sleeves.
Warmly applauded were long clinging evening gowns of Japanese transparent prints with the long nearly floor-length kimono sleeves.
Colors? Look for the return of pale pink, camel and gray. Navy, of course, and some elegant black suits.

Home Rites Unite Couple

Barbara Mathis became the bride of Dean Dunson in a recent ceremony performed at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mathis on Hanks Street. Justice of the Peace Walter Zimmerman, Chiloquin, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an improvised altar decorated with white and pink carnations.
Mrs. Ed White sang "I Love You Truly" and "Let the Rest of the World Go By."
The bride wore a sheath dress of white silk woven with silver thread, short jacket and briefly veiled hat. A corsage of red roses was pinned at her shoulder.
She was attended by Joan Henninger, who was dressed in a pale green sheath suit.
Mrs. Mathis was dressed for her daughter's wedding in an eggshell brocade sheath.
The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dunson. His mother wore for the occasion a pale pink sheath outfit.
Best man for his brother was David Dunson.
At the reception which followed the evening ceremony, Mrs. Ed White served the wedding cake and Joan Henninger the punch and coffee.
Guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. Schoeler, Ron, Don and Sandra, Ashland, the bridegroom's sister and family; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morache, Mr. and Mrs. Ed White, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henninger, Carol Frei, Nancy Baker, Sue Ann Owens, Dagnar Henry and Susan Lapsley.
The newlyweds left immediately for a honeymoon trip to Monterey before returning to Ashland to make their home while the bridegroom is attending Southern Oregon College.

Church Rites Unite Couple

CHILOQUIN — Cynthia Merle Martinez, granddaughter of Mrs. Helen Merrill, became the bride of George Leslie Bigby, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Bigby, Klamath Falls, Saturday evening, Jan. 19, at the Calvary Temple. The Rev. Kenneth Bigby, brother of the bridegroom, officiated at the ceremony and was assisted by the Rev. Opal English, pastor of the church. Beauty baskets of pink and white carnations with arrangements of green ferns were placed at the altar level as were candelabra of tall white tapers.
The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Donald Knoke, Klamath Agency, wore a street length bridal frock of sheer white nylon over taffeta. The round neck was set off with rosebuds, long sleeves were fitted to the wrists, and the bouffant skirt was gracefully draped and held with tiny bows. Her shoulder length veil was topped by a crown and she carried a bouquet of all white flowers.
Matron of honor was a sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Harold Lipe, who wore a green taffeta frock, long white gloves, a close fitting headpiece, and carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations and heather with pink streamers.
Bridesmaids were school friends of the bride, Donna Kircher and Jinny Lynn Doak, who wore outfits similar to that of the matron of honor and carried identical flowers.
A cousin of the bride, Elizabeth Knoke, served as flower girl. James Lipe, a nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.
Serving as best man was Harry Glesin and ushers were Harold Tompkins and Bernie Bigby, brother of the bridegroom, all of Klamath Falls.
Mrs. John Mannering sang "Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Gerald Wolff, who also played the wedding marches.
At the reception following the wedding Mrs. Kenneth Bigby served the wedding cake which was trimmed in green and with rosebuds. Mrs. Opal English poured punch, and Diane Haas was in charge of the guest book.
The young couple are at home at 812 Upham Street.
A bridal shower had been given the week of the wedding at the Dwight Kircher home by hostesses Pearl Adamo, Judy David, Doris and Donna Kircher, Diane Haas and Jinny Doak.
