

Carroll Baker's Spring Wardrobe

By ROSALYN ABREVAYA

WORLD TRAVEL, rehearsals, and mothering two adorable children quicken the tempo of actress Carroll Baker's life. And master designer Oleg Cassini has created a wardrobe to match it—available in patterns exclusively to FAMILY WEEKLY readers.

Bold pastels in du Pont fabrics set the active rhythm of these clothes. The styles, which hit a casual note, then take to gay flights of fancy with bows or ruffles, are designed to wear from brunch through the evening hours or to serve as a basic vacation wardrobe.

Miss Baker, the wife of director Jack Garfein and currently starring in "How the West Was Won," models these bright new spring creations in her New York apartment.

THREE-PIECE SUIT: At the entrance to her apartment, Miss Baker wears a perfect travel or luncheon ensemble. Dacron coin-print blouse and rayon-silk suit are by Cohama Fabrics.

DRESS AND SCARF: To look dashing under night lights, Carroll puts on a saucy creation whose ruffled scarf offers endless variety. The fabric is Dacron by Benrose Fabrics.

SIDE-BUTTON DRESS: For window-shopping or striking it casual, Carroll selects this easy-to-slip-into turquoise dress. Fabric is a Dacron and cotton blend by Cohama Fabrics.

SHEATH DRESS: The brilliant coin-dot print makes its second appearance in a dress color-coordinated to wear with the suit jacket and to sparkle on its own lithe lines, too.

SLACKS AND BLOUSE: For brunch, Carroll wears a bright Acele acetate top by Mode Fabrics, fitted Dacron-cotton pants by Crompton-Richmond, and Capezio shoes—all on our cover.

ALL-OCCASION DRESS: For a dinner party or any festivity, Carroll wears a dazzling white Dacron two-piecer that can be dressed up or down. The textured fabric is by Sew Best.
