

KU KLATTER

By Penny Lynn Howie

Eleven KUHS students attended the State International Relations League Conference Feb. 7-9 at the University of Oregon in Eugene.

Klamath Falls, Bend and Lakeview high schools formed together to make up the country of Peru.

This year 60 high schools from Oregon came together on the Oregon Campus and held a model conference of the Punta del Este Conference of 1961 in conjunction with the Organization of American States at the administrative level.

Featured speakers at the conference were Oregon's United State Senator, Wayne Morse, and Dr. William Sanders, assistant secretary-general of the Organization of American States.

Those students representing KU were John Otterbein, Bob Kyle, Tommy Johnson, Ann Lindley, Daggie Henry, Charlie Ochs, Roy Marvin, Kathy Cooper, Fred Ehlers, Jana Erlanson and Carol Bousquet.

semifinalists for the annually awarded Elks Scholarships. They were chosen on the basis of past school records, personal information forms, participation in panel discussions, and financial need. They were judged by the KUHS Scholarship Committee, and chosen from an initial group of eight.

The next phase of their competition will include more personal information forms and ratings from a panel of judges at the Elks lodge. Scholarships offered are $1,000, $350 and $150.

One of the newest projects being pursued at the present time by the Girls Recreation Association, is sending $25 to CARE for a physical education kit. They have asked that it be sent to Columbia, South America, and hope that whoever receives the kit will reply. GRA also donated $10 to the American Field Service drive.

Activities keeping GRA members busy this year include revising the constitution and helping teachers to earn service points.

A volleyball playday is planned for March 8. Schools from the Klamath Basin will be invited.

This year's officers for GRA are Gladys Anderson, president; Nancy LaClair, vice president; Cathy Johnson, business manager; Roxie Bennington, secretary; Mary Taggart, treasurer; Nancy Freeman, point keeper; and Julie Phillips, yearbook editor. Mrs. Shirley Routh is the group's adviser.

Three KU seniors, Kathy Murdoch, Don Christy and Kathy Cooper have been selected as

Youngsters Vote Choice In Reading

Children from the fourth to seventh grades of Fairview and Roosevelt schools participated in the selection of the "Young Reader's Choice Award, 1963" by voting on a list of popular titles prepared by school librarians.

The results of the balloting were sent to Mrs. Sara H. Wheeler, who works with the children's and young people's division of the Pacific Northwest Library Association, School of Librarianship, at the University of Washington in Seattle. An author of many articles on children's literature in the World Book and other encyclopedias, she is secretary of the "Young Reader's Choice Award."

Not all of the 20 books on the list of selected titles were available in the two school libraries, but the books receiving votes were well known to the students through library period reviews.

The eight choices submitted by the young readers in order of preference were: "Island of the Blue Dolphins" by Scott O'Neil; "The City Under the Back Steps" by Evelyn Lampman; "Rasmus and the Vagabond" by Astrid Lindgren; "A Dog on Barkham Street" by Mary Stolz; "The Black Stallion and Flame" by Walter Farley; "Cricket in Times Square" by George Selden; "Gaudenzia: Pride of the Palio" by Marguerite Henry; and "The Witch Family" by Eleanor Estes.
