'Lesser' Crime Motion Denied In Haines Case

A motion by a defense attorney for slayer Jerry Richard Haines, 24, urging that the issues of the Klamath County murder case be "limited to a charge less than first degree murder," was denied by Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg in circuit court Tuesday afternoon, after deputy district attorney, Bob Thomas, delivered his opening statement in the murder trial.

Haines is accused of the gun slaying of his common law wife, Christine, 31, following an argument at the victim's home, 3263 Clinton Street, last Dec. 17. She had been pregnant with twins at the time of the shooting.

Two Thefts Investigated

Two thefts and two break-ins in the Klamath Falls area are being investigated by city police and Oregon State Police after they were reported Tuesday.

The second and third thefts of cases of beer from a Klamath Falls Distributing Company truck were reported to have occurred early Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. One of the company's trucks was robbed of several cases of beer about a month ago.

About 11 cases of beer valued at $30 were taken Tuesday when a lock was broken off one of the company's trucks parked at Spring Street.

Police found a footprint in the mud, but little other evidence.

The third theft was discovered about 2:30 a.m. Wednesday when a patrol car checked the trucks and found one of them had been broken into again and about 25 cases of beer taken. The loss was set at $85.

Some type of cutting tool had been used to cut a padlock off the truck door and police found the lock in the mud, but it had been raining and there were no well outlined footprints.

A Kingsley Field airman reported the theft of clothes valued at $44 that he left in a friend's car parked at 217 North Fifth Street Tuesday night.

The victim, Dennis A. Serine, Box 3283, said some of the clothes were military and some civilian.

Richard L. Peck, 741 Walnut Street, reported his apartment was broken into by two men while he was in Reno.

Several personal articles, bedding and a coin box on a washing machine were taken from the apartment. Peck estimated the loss at $105.

He told police a man who was taking care of the apartment house rented a room next to Peck's to two men. The suspects apparently had been working in Klamath Falls temporarily.

State police reported that Albers Feed Store, 2710 S. 6th Street, was broken into Monday night and a propane torch, soldering gun and transistor radio were taken. The total loss was about $35.

The state police have no suspects in the case.

They were en route home from a vacation trip to Arizona.

Surviving in addition to the widow is a daughter, Mrs. Julia Ferreira of Lake Oswego.

The family home in Portland is at 2706 S.E. River Road.

O'Hair's Memorial Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

Canadian Log Control Urged

SALEM (UPI) — Imitation of British Columbia's method of controlling log exports was proposed Tuesday.

Oscar Gerleve, detective sergeant of the Klamath Falls police, identified a group of photographs he took of the victim during an autopsy, at a local funeral home, the day following the shooting.

The other witness was state police officer, William B. Bones Jr., who identified another series of pictures. Bones told the jury that the photos depicted various views of the scene of the alleged slaying and were taken within several hours after the shooting took place.

The selection of the jury composed of seven women and five men was completed about 3 p.m. Tuesday after the attorneys for both sides had interviewed 23 veniremen.

The trial will continue Wednesday and Thursday but will recess Friday, Feb. 22, since that date is George Washington's birthday, a legal holiday.

Senate Mike 'Bugs' Musa

SALEM (UPI) — Senate President Ben Musa, D-The Dalles, has discovered that the Senate chambers are "bugged" and he doesn't like it.

The public address system in the Senate is connected with a speaker in the governor's office. The governor can simply turn a switch, and listen in on Senate floor debate.

Said Musa, "The Senate takes a dim view of having floor debates piped into his office."

"I think it is a breach of decorum."

"I didn't know the senate was bugged, although I knew the House was connected to the governor's office by Gov. (Robert D.) Holmes," Musa said.

The Senate President added, "The governor is always welcome in the gallery."

When asked by a reporter why he didn't cut the wires, Musa replied "I don't know where they are."

Travis Cross, the governor's press secretary, said the Senate was wired to the governor's office when the loud speaker system was installed in the senate in 1959.

"We don't listen much now," Cross added. "The sessions aren't as lively as they were under Senate President (Walter J.) Pearson" who served in 1959.

"The governor can't come into the chambers and hear what's going on. If he's on the floor, people start talking to him, if he's in the gallery, the school children gather around. He can't hear anything that way."

Musa indicated he was sending a Senate representative to the governor today to discuss the situation.

"Maybe the Senate should install a speaker so we can listen in on the governor's conferences," Musa said. "That might be very interesting."

Establishment of the district will provide water for domestic and irrigation purposes, sanitation and fire protection for the recreation area under development by Clarence Bullock who began the program about three years ago. It will also provide for recreational facilities, street lighting and other community needs.

Non-Aggression Pact Proposed By Russians

GENEVA (UPI) — Russia formally proposed at today's session of the disarmament talks here that the West conclude a non-aggression pact with Communist Europe.

The text of a proposed treaty submitted to the conference would bind the Atlantic and Warsaw (Soviet-satellite) pacts to "refrain from attack, the threat or use of force against one another in any manner inconsistent with the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter."

The idea of a nonaggression pact has been advanced by Russia before, here and at the United Nations. The West has displayed little enthusiasm for the idea.

The United States charged today that Russia is avoiding agreement on a nuclear test ban, but said it will continue to press for "give and take bargaining."

U.S. chief negotiator William C. Foster told the 17-nation Disarmament Conference that the gap between the Soviet and Western positions on a test ban "has deepened."

Referring to the Soviet refusal to resume direct negotiations on a nuclear treaty with the Western powers, he said "I reluctantly conclude that the Soviet Union rather than the United States and the United Kingdom is intent on avoiding agreement."

The Russians have been claiming here that the two Western nuclear powers have been trying to avoid an accord that would end testing.

"We are willing and intend to engage in give and take negotiations on all major issues which must be agreed upon if we are to reach agreement on a nuclear test ban," Foster told the conference.

Foster's speech was a final attempt to crack Russia's hard nuclear position before flying to Washington later in the day for consultations with President Kennedy.

The Russians, who broke off nuclear negotiations in Washington Jan. 31, refuse to discuss a test ban treaty unless the West accepts their quota of three annual on-site inspections to police a ban. They have defied Western and neutralist demands to reopen the talks.

The United States and Britain have rejected Moscow's "ultimatum" and have invited the Russians to work out a verification system. They insist that at least eight on-site inspections are necessary to make the system fool-proof.

Bill Would Ease Duties Of Sheriff

sent letters out to county officials and all but five of more than 100 returned favored the idea. Those who opposed it, he said, were generally newly elected officials.

However, Hewlett indicated that the principal opposition to the bill was from sheriffs of the various counties.

No estimate was available on what savings it would effect in Klamath County, but indications are that it would result in considerable savings and eliminate considerable overlapping in criminal investigation activities of the sheriff and the state police.

Hewlett stated he was securing signatures on the bill and would drop it in the legislative hopper either late today or early tomorrow. It has already been signed by 18 members of the house.

Four Plead Not Guilty

Four people accused of acting jointly in the commission of two felonies last Jan. 21 entered pleas of not guilty to one of the charges and filed demurrers through their attorneys in the other, it developed Wednesday in the circuit court of Judge David R. Vandenberg.

The four were named on two secret indictments returned by the grand jury Feb. 6, charging them with the larceny of two saddles and personal property of Louis Hutchinson and the subsequent beating of Francis Hutchinson at the latter's cabin in Beatty.

Those accused of the alleged crimes are Wilbur Hickson, 42; Perry Checktrot, 30; Mrs. Thelma Hult, 26, and Everett Decker, 19. Each of the defendants pleaded not guilty to the larceny charge and heard Judge Vandenberg set various dates for their trials.

The case against Decker, who appeared before the bench with his attorney, was set for trial, 10 a.m. Monday, April 15, while the others, represented by another attorney, will go on trial together the following Monday.

On an indictment charging the four with assault and battery by means of force likely to produce great bodily harm, Judge Vandenberg received demurrers filed on behalf of the defendants and set 10 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 28, as the time for the hearing of the demurrer on Decker and announced 10 a.m. Friday, March 1, when he would hear arguments on the demurrer for the other three.

Martin Lloyd Strachan, 23, a fifth party named on the two indictments, entered pleas of not guilty to the two charges earlier this month and will go on trial on the assault count, March 20, and the larceny charge, April 8.

Kiwanian Head Dies

MEDFORD (UPI) — The current Pacific Northwest Kiwanis district governor, E. Ronald Rice, died at his home Tuesday of a heart ailment. He was 58.

Rice, a music teacher and band director at McLoughlin Junior High School here, had been ill for about a week.

He was elected to head the 200 Kiwanis clubs in the Northwest Aug. 14 at a district convention in Yakima, Wash., and was installed here Jan. 5.

Rice had been a member of Kiwanis since 1937.

His civic activities included membership on the board of directors of the Southern Oregon Philharmonic Society and the Salvation Army, and membership on the Medford School Board from 1947 to 1952.

Before World War II Rice was director of music in the Cedro Woolley and Hoquiam, Wash., public schools.
