

Employees Win Honors For Service

LAKEVIEW—Present and previous Fremont National Forest employees were recently presented cash awards in recognition of outstanding service.

Mrs. Merle S. Hampton, cook at the Dog Lake Work Center, Fremont Valley District, has maintained an exceptionally high standard of performance, resulting in significant savings in the cost of mess operations.

Charles W. Maxwell, fire control aid on the Bly District, working on his own transportation, has killed over 1,800 porcupines during the past six years.

Jack D. Saubert, now stationed in the regional office in Ogden, Utah, was instrumental in materially reducing timber stand improvement costs. Through Saubert's efforts, thinning of stagnated stands of ponderosa pine reproduction was cut in half, thereby doubling acreage thinned. The remaining trees can then make maximum growth each year and become a merchantable product much sooner than they would have otherwise.

J. Clifton Windle, now stationed in the regional office in Albuquerque, N.M., was instrumental in securing better range management. This was accomplished through the division of large allotments, securing cooperation from the permittees in building needed management fences, and establishing deferred-rotation grazing on one-half of the range allotments.

The awards were made in line with the Government Employees' Incentive Award Act for granting cash awards for special acts or services in the public interest.

Library Board Chief Named

LAKEVIEW—Charlotte Pendleton was elected president of the Lake County Library Board at a meeting held in the library Monday, Feb. 11. She succeeds Rev. Hal Hargreaves, who tendered his resignation from the board because of other commitments. Jo Deely was named secretary.

Mrs. Harold (Dorothy) Baughman was named as a new member of the board, and Rev. Lester Boulden was named for the unexpired term of Hargreaves.

Tentative plans for Library Week activities in April were made. It was also decided to set the regular meeting dates for the board on the first Monday of each month at 1:30 p.m.

Board Meets

BONANZA—The Bonanza Park Board met at the library at 8 p.m. on Feb. 18, with Lois VanSipe in charge.

It was reported that rest rooms for the park have been started. Mrs. John Brown is in charge of the project. The $234 cleared by the play "Jeepers Creepers," given Feb. 15-16, will be used for the rest rooms, but another $209 will have to be raised to finish them.

The fence at the tennis court and basketball goals will be ready within a few weeks, and it was announced that a fountain will be built beside the tennis court in memory of Lois Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bechholdt.

"This is Moskin, the new man. Show him what you do in your department when you think I'm watching you!"

Long Elected Scale Chief

FORT ROCK — R. A. (Rube) Long was renamed president of the North Lake County Scales Association, Inc., at the annual meeting held here Feb. 18. Mrs. Maurice Ward continues as secretary-treasurer.

Indebtedness of the organization was further reduced by a payment ordered by the convening members. Plans were also made for increasing corral space, with a work day to be announced.

Mrs. Glenn Irwin has been named weighmaster. She may be called at 576-2214. Jess Cochell was named substitute in case of her absence and may be reached at the same number.

Directors of the community association, to provide local weights for delivery of cattle and hay, are Robert Morehouse, F. A. Frazer, Maurice Ward, and Harold Miles.

Scientists Make Virus From Sound

HOUSTON (UPI)—Cancer researchers from three continents learned today how a team of Utah State University botanists used sound waves to create living viruses from cell-free plant and animal substances.

Dr. George W. Cochran explained how he and his associates developed the process, which was described as a major breakthrough in cancer research.

Cochran said his team also found the source of a suspected cancer link in infected cells to find where the suspected substance, nucleic acid, was formed. They found it in tiny green bodies containing chlorophyll, and in the nucleus, the "center" of the cell.

Cochran said the researchers purified the green particles, put them in test tubes and broke them open with ultrasonic (high sound) energy. They added a small amount of viral nucleic acid which served as a pattern to create the new living organisms.

Cochran made his report at the 17th annual symposium on fundamental cancer research at the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute.

He said he discovered early last year that ribonucleic acid, usually produced by living cells or viruses, could be formed by cell-free extracts from infected plants. He duplicated in the test tube a type of ribonucleic acid formed by tobacco virus.

Cochran said he hopes his experiments will lead to new methods of chemical control of virus diseases—including, possibly, cancer.

Mine Claim Note Given

LAKEVIEW — The Bureau of Land Management has informed Carl W. Simpson, Fremont National Forest supervisor, that Feb. 13 was the date of first publication of notice on the Klamath Area, county of Klamath, state of Oregon, regarding surface resource rights on unpatented mining claims pursuant to Section 5 of the Act of July 23, 1935 (Public Law 167, 84th Congress). This notice will be published for nine consecutive weeks under the heading "Notice to Mining Claimants, Oregon, 610335."

Maps of the Klamath Area now being published and copies of the Multiple Use Mining Law of July 23, 1935, and of the procedure for the determination of surface rights set up by the law are available for inspection at the Forest Supervisor's Office, Lakeview.

A claimant has two options under the law. He may ignore the notices, thereby waiving rights to the surface until the claim goes to patent, yet maintaining his original mining rights. The claimant may file a verified statement asserting his rights to the surface. In that case his claim will be examined by mineral examiners.

Claims of questionable validity will be considered before a hearing officer of the Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, who will make the final decision. Both the claimant and the Forest Service will present their testimony at the hearing. Whatever the decision, the claimant will retain his mineral rights. If the decision is in the claimant's favor, he also retains all surface rights.

KYLE ACCEPTS CHARTER — Klamath Falls City Manager Bob Kyle, right, president of the newly formed South Central Chapter of the Professional Engineers of Oregon accepts the chapter's charter at the state convention in Portland Nov. 17. With Kyle is Allen E. Jansen, dean of the engineering school at the University of Idaho and vice president of the Western Region of the National Society of Professional Engineers.

Driver Bludgeons Girls For Refusal To Push

DELLE, Utah (UPI)—The two 18-year-old girls, who were roommates, met the two youths in Salt Lake City Tuesday night. The four went to a movie, then embarked on an all-night drive.

They drove into the mountains east of Salt Lake City, then across to Wendover, Nev., on the Utah border, then to Delle, then toward a shepherd's cabin in the desolate hills near Great Salt Lake.

It was midmorning by now. Suddenly the car settled into deep mud on the primitive road and stuck. Rex Hintze, 17, the driver, asked the girls, Carol Clayton and Drinda Atnes, to help push it out.

As Sheriff Fay Gillette of Tooele County tells it, the girls refused, got out, and said they were going to hitchhike a ride back to Delle. Hintze, according to Gillette, had been drinking heavily and became enraged. He grabbed a hammer and chased the two girls down the side of a slope. Tony Robertson, 19, watched in horror.

"After about 10 minutes," Robertson told police, "he came back and told me he killed the girls. He asked me to help hide the bodies."

Tony bolted. Scared and fearing for his own life, he alternately ran and walked 14 miles to Delle. It took more than three hours. There he burst into a cafe and gasped, "There are two dead girls out there."

Morse took the Senate floor on a point of personal privilege to cleanse what he called "this slur in the record" on the work of the special three-member presidential mediation board. Morse was named chairman of the board by President Kennedy.

The Oregon Democrat charged that Lausche had "shown a gross ignorance of the whole dispute."

The verbal exchange started Tuesday when Lausche said that because of Morse's "predilections and ideologies" it was "impossible for him to be what you might call an impartial arbitrator."

Morse fired back: "Obviously, the senator from Ohio doesn't know the difference between arbitration and mediation."

Morse said if compulsory arbitration had been used, it would have cost the ship lines twice as much as the settlement worked out by his more informal mediation board.

Professional Engineers Receive Charter During State Convention

The South Central Chapter of the Professional Engineers of Oregon, to include Klamath, Lake Deschutes, Harney, Crook, Jefferson and Malheur, was formed in July, 1962, and Klamath Falls City Manager Bob Kyle was selected as the chapter's president.

The local chapter was presented its charter at the state convention in Portland Nov. 17.

The 16 professional engineers comprising the chapter elected William L. Wales Jr., Klamath Falls civil engineer, as vice president and Charles F. Shotts, Gilchrist Lumber Company, secretary.

Board members are Robert E. Baird, OTI instructor; Eugene G. Gjertsen, Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, and Marion E. Unruh, U.S. Forest Service, Prineville.

Other members are Richard G. Beane, Klamath Iron Works; Frank Kahl, Great Northern Railway; Clifford Lawrence, Bureau of Reclamation; John Merryman, Kingsley Field; Lyle Smith, Klamath County surveyor; Robert F. Starbuck, Morrison, Howard and Starbuck; Robert K. Thompson, Midland logging engineer; John Creed, Klamath County engineer; Gaylor Upington, Weyerhaeuser, retired, and Winston Kurth, assistant Klamath County engineer.

Activities planned by the chapter for 1963 include participation in two 30-minute local TV programs to acquaint area residents with the association's activities.

There will also be radio spot announcements calling the group's work to the attention of the public, and a service club program with a film entitled "The American Engineer."

One of the main objectives of the national society is to make sure the public is protected from unlicensed persons practicing engineering.

Each local chapter is authorized to report any persons practicing without a state license.

The society also administers scholarships for some corporations and guides qualified students who desire to pursue courses in engineering. Society members make themselves available in local high schools for counseling purposes also.

The national society is organized on a three-level basis... local, community, state, and national, and at each level the organization functions as an autonomous unit in respect to problems affecting engineering practice and the public welfare in its area.

The society is democratic in structure, with all officers at all levels elected annually by direct membership vote.

More than 56,000 professional engineers in all technical branches comprise the national organization. They are all registered to practice engineering in accordance with the laws of their states.

In general, these professional men are consulting engineers in private practice, and engineers in industry, education and government service.

Founded in 1934, the society has grown steadily and there are now more than 400 local chapters in 50 states, Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia, and the Canal Zone.

Among its other objectives the society maintains continuing liaison with legislators and government agencies to represent the interests of the engineering profession, and to protect the public safety by setting rigid standards of professional competence and the ethical practices.

Sen. Morse Raps Insult

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., declared Wednesday Sen. Frank J. Lausche D-Ohio, had made an "insulting speech" about his mediation role in the recent dock strike settlement.

Morse took the Senate floor on a point of personal privilege to cleanse what he called "this slur in the record" on the work of the special three-member presidential mediation board. Morse was named chairman of the board by President Kennedy.

These same soloists and ensembles will represent Klamath Falls in the District Solo and Ensemble Contest which will be held in Roseburg in the near future.
