Vienna Coup Explained

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Around 1860 an English writer proposed a whist problem with the story that the greatest player in Vienna had looked at the cards and remarked: "Why, of course, South makes all the tricks."

None of the whist players of the day could see how the grand slam could be made and the hand has given us the name of the Vienna Coup for all similar plays. It is a classic among bridge plays.

In whist clubs were trump and South would lead. In contract I have made South declarer at no-trump and, while it does not matter what card West opens, I have assumed a heart lead.

South wins in dummy and runs off four clubs. West cannot afford to throw a diamond or a spade on the last club so must unguard the hearts as the least of all evils.

Then South makes the Vienna Coup play. He plays his ace of spades and establishes West's king as the top spade. Incidentally, dummy will have dropped a diamond on the third club and either a diamond or spade on the fourth one.

Now South runs off dummy's last four hearts and discards the mounds from his hand. West has to hang on to the king of spades because of dummy's jack and must discard one of his three diamonds whereupon South finishes the diamond and makes three diamond tricks.

Q—The bidding has been:
 West North East South
 1 ♠ Double Pass 3 ♥
 3 ♠ Pass Pass ?

You, South, hold:
 ♠ 8 5 ♥ K 8 6 4 ♦ K J 3 ♣ 9 6 4
 What do you do?

A—Bid four hearts. Pass is a close second choice, but the bid should be preferred.

TODAY'S QUESTION
 You bid four hearts. West and North pass and East bids four spades. What do you do now?

President Harpoons Own Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy appeared today to have harpooned his own tax reform program.
 Kennedy surrendered Monday whatever leverage he might have had for prodding a reluctant Congress into enactment of some revenue-boosting tax reforms.
 He did so by saying that he was willing to abandon every one of his tax reforms, if necessary, to win enactment this year of a net income tax reduction of $10 billion or more spread over three years.
 This had been implicit all along. But the fact that the President publicly acknowledged it strengthened the position of those battling against the tax-tightening reforms.
 Undermines Committee Head
 Conversely, it undermined the position of Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways & Means Committee, who was largely responsible for persuading Kennedy to include "tax reforms" with his tax reduction program.
 Mills declined comment on Kennedy's statement. But no one doubted that the veteran lawmaker was unhappy over the President's latest tax pronouncement.
 Some lawmakers were puzzled as to why the President was taking a line that could not help but hurt his own relations with Mills, who presumably will be called upon to carry the legislative ball for the tax cut.
 Gravely Concerned
 One theory was that Kennedy had become gravely concerned over his failure to generate public enthusiasm for tax cuts and felt he should try to whip up support by holding out the possibility that the reforms — distasteful to groups affected — would be jettisoned in the final bill.
 At any rate, Kennedy at a question-and-answer session before a group of bankers asserted that Congress might jettison all of the tax reforms. He said he would certainly support such a move if it were necessary to get tax reduction enacted this year.
 "Nothing should stand" in the way of a tax cut this year, Kennedy said. "The first priority is a bill."

Pinochle Party Raises Funds

NEW PINE CREEK — A total of $31.45 was raised at the East-side Grange - sponsored pinochle party held Feb. 23, with 12 tables of players participating. The proceeds will be divided equally between the Lake County and Modoc County March of Dimes funds.
 Mrs. Jessie McLain won high honors for the women and the consolation went to Mrs. Rosanetta Cloud. Perry Tilson received the men's high and Jerry Panter was awarded the men's low prize. Mrs. Clem Mulkey retained the traveling prize.
 Following the play, refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Shirlene Lawson.
