

Progress Seen In NY Printer Strike Talks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Printers Union President Bertram Powers said Saturday progress was made on at least one issue in the 85-day-old strike during negotiations with publishers Friday.

Powers, before going into joint session again with the publishers, said "We spent the entire day (Friday) on the automation issue. The issue was not resolved but some progress was made."

A mood of harmony reportedly prevailed in Friday's face-to-face talks, which lasted from noon to midnight with time out for meals. But there was no word on whether the two sides moved any closer to agreement.

The New York Post, planning to resume publication Monday after breaking away from the Publishers Association of New York City, faced a possible advertiser's boycott.

One of the city's largest advertisers, the huge Macy's department store, already has announced it would not buy space in the Post at this time.

"Macy's takes no position with respect to the merits of the current labor dispute," the Macy's statement declared. "We do feel, however, that to support one newspaper without advertising when the others are not available might put undue pressure on them to settle regardless of merit. We prefer not to do this."

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who

Hintz Bond Pay Claimed

SALEM (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton said Friday he had applied to a Chicago firm for payment of the late Gen. Alfred E. Hintz's surety bond of $5,000.

Thornton said the application to the Lumbermen Mutual Casualty Co. was based on an official audit that indicated Hintz directed the unauthorized sale of surplus property.

Thornton's action was the latest development in a military scandal revolving around Camp Withycombe that reached public notice last year.

It has been estimated the state's liability from irregularities in the State Military Department could reach $40,000.

Thornton said it appeared that certain other officers had known they permitted the unauthorized expenditure of state and federal funds. He said there was a $10,000 blanket surety bond on the other officers, but no claim would be made until the amount of the loss was established.

The matter has been under investigation recently both by the secretary of state's office and by a legislative committee.

Burner Fire Damages Wall

Fire apparently started by an overheated trash burner damaged a wall between the kitchen and living room in the home of Don Smith, Rte. 1, Box 926, Morning-side Lane, early Friday morning, the Klamath County Fire Department has reported.

County firemen were summoned to the fire at 1:46 a.m. and extinguished the blaze before 3:15 a.m. The fire burned in the wall up through the ceiling but did not damage the roof, firemen said.

Judge Sets Trial Date In Assault

Judge David R. Vandenberg overruled a demurrer filed for two men and a woman charged with the beating of a Beatty man in the victim's cabin last Jan. 21 and set May 1 as the time for the trial, in one of four matters brought before the Circuit Court Friday.

The three people accused of assault and battery by means likely to produce great bodily harm include Wilbur Hickson, 42; Mrs. Thelma Huitt, 26; and Perry Chocktoot, 30.

Judge Vandenberg then set March 6 as the time for passing sentence upon Alvin James Jackson, 24, charged with taking and using an automobile without authority, and Linda J. David, 22, whose probation was revoked following a hearing in court Friday.

Miss David was placed on three years' probation Jan. 6, 1961, after she entered a plea of guilty to complicity in the theft of $80 from a Klamath Falls man. Last Jan. 23, she was arrested by Klamath Falls police on a charge of disorderly conduct, which contributed largely to the revocation of her probation.

Jackson originally entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of taking and using a taxi cab owned by the Hurry Cab Company during the pre-dawn hours of Dec. 10, but he changed that plea to guilty in circuit court Friday.

In another case involving the taking and using of a vehicle without authority, Judge Vandenberg ruled against a demurrer for Russell Ohrenski and received a plea of not guilty from the defendant.

The judge set Thursday, April 11, as the time for trial. Ohrenski is charged with taking another person's automobile from the vicinity of 200 South 11th Street early last month.

P. Offield Wins Twice Police Hunt For Slayer

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police undercover agents Saturday sifted through a maze of power politics and "policy" racket intrigue in search of the slayer of Negro alderman Benjamin F. Lewis.

Homicide investigators confirmed knowledge of "several" death threats against the Democratic politician who was found slain in "Chinese execution" style Thursday, two days after he won a landslide reelection in the turbulent 24th Ward.

Lewis' body was discovered on the floor of his plush office. He had been handcuffed and three bullets from an automatic pistol had been pumped into the base of his skull.

Police Saturday continued grilling Jimmy Wilson, a former heavyweight boxer who fought under the name of Kid Riviera.

Police said Wilson had an alibi "for every minute from the time of the election to the time we picked him up" but they planned to take his palmprint and compare it with a print found in Lewis' office.

Wilson's boss, purported policy wheel operator Tommy Anderson, 51, eluded a police search. Police checked into a report that Anderson had loaned the slain politician leader $5,000 last December and was putting pressure on him to pay it back.

Transferred To Washington

Vincent Navin, manager of the Klamath Falls office of Western Union for several years, has transferred to the Wenatchee, Wash., office, which is a promotion in size of the district. He was accompanied by Mrs. Navin, who also assisted in the office.

The office is presently in charge of relief manager G. C. Hughes, with headquarters in San Francisco.

Also here to assist is Jerry L. Bean, recently of Bend. Mrs. Bean is the former Julia A. Valdez of Klamath Falls.

HILL FARMS

Standing King Ranch Breeding Hill's Wimpy P63959

Halter, roping and cutting horse. Fee, $75.00, half price to 4-H and FFA members

Showdown Joe P51-638

Halter and cutting horse. Fee, $150. He was shown 4 times last year in cutting horse contests in which he placed three times. Many times a Grand Champion Halter Horse.

2 Hill's Wimpy Fillies for Sale W. S. (Bill) Hill, Merrill, 798-5255

National 4-H Week Observed Here

"Four-H: Young Citizens in Action" is the theme of National 4-H Club Week to be observed by over 800 Klamath County 4-Hers March 2-9. Nationally, about 2,285,600 youths between the ages 9-21 will share in the week long activities which focus on 4-H accomplishments of the past year and highlights plans for the future.

Four-H Club Week provides a time to re-examine the head, heart, hands and health objectives of 4-H. Emphasis is also given to character development and good citizenship through encouragement of mental, physical, social and spiritual developments of the individual. In response to this challenge for greater personal development, 4-Hers make this pledge:

"I pledge my head to clearer thinking; my heart to greater loyalty; my hands to larger service; my health to better living for my club, my community, and my country."

The "Learn by Doing" program for youth has as its motto: "To Make the Best Better." The emblem of the 4-H program is a four-leaf clover with the letter "H" on each leaf. The four-leaf clover signifies good luck and achievement.

The National 4-H Club program is an outgrowth of 1882 federal legislation which created the United States Department of Agriculture and the land grant college system. This century-long sponsorship of youth education has been the growth of 4-H Club work to more than 94,700 clubs in all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

In cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture, Oregon State University and Klamath County, 4-H Club work is the youth education division of the Klamath Cooperative Extension Service. Membership in the 4-H Club program is free to interested youth.

The 4-H program is dependent upon local volunteer adult leaders who supervise club work and give project material instruction, civic organizations to provide 4-H awards and educational materials, publish the national 4-H Club magazine, sponsor the 4-H Club Congress, operate a 4-H supply service, and supervise the International Farm Youth Exchange program and the 4-H Peace Corps. Many national and local businesses also give valued support to the 4-H program.

More information of National 4-H Club Week and the 4-H program will follow in this series of articles during March 2-9.

Wilderness Bill Power Fires Senatorial Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Interior Committee members clashed again Friday over whether the wilderness bill would give too much power to executive agencies.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., and cosponsored by 21 other senators, would set aside millions of acres of forested and other lands in their natural state.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., who says he does not oppose a national wilderness system, charged again that the bill would turn over congressional powers to the executive branch.

Anderson complained he was getting tired of "constant interference" that the bill would be unconstitutional. Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., joined in denouncing the bill as unconstitutional.

But Allott said he had never said it was unconstitutional, adding that his criticisms were based on a "basic and fundamental difference in philosophies of government."

The exchange came during testimony by William C. Hammerle, a spokesman for the American Pulpwood Association, New York.

Hammerle said his organization was opposed to a provision to permit the President to designate lands to be placed into the wilderness system unless Congress opposed. He said congressional action should be "positive" rather than "negative."

The spokesman for the pulpwood industry also called for periodic review to prevent lands being "frozen forever" into the system.

Spokesmen for the forest industries, which support the concept of "Multiple use," generally said they favored a wilderness system but opposed Anderson's bill.

H.R. Glascock Jr., speaking for the Western Forestry and Conservation Association, Portland, Ore., said lands should not be placed into the system until they had been classified for "highest use."

John R. Meyering, testifying for the Society of American Foresters, said the organization "supports wholeheartedly the concept of wilderness preservation." But he added that members were satisfied with present methods of setting up wilderness areas through administrative action.

"Therefore," Meyering said, "we oppose the proposed wilderness act as being unnecessary."

give project material instruction, civic organizations to provide 4-H awards and educational materials, publish the national 4-H Club magazine, sponsor the 4-H Club Congress, operate a 4-H supply service, and supervise the International Farm Youth Exchange program and the 4-H Peace Corps. Many national and local businesses also give valued support to the 4-H program.

More information of National 4-H Club Week and the 4-H program will follow in this series of articles during March 2-9.

He warned in his message: "Today I would give the most possible emphasis to another cloud on the horizon—the repetition of a shutdown of the construction industry in the summer of 1963. I would be remiss if I did not alert you to what may lie ahead unless we find solutions."

He also spoke of the "stark potential of another summer of idle machines, idle men, and the individual and collective economic rack and ruin that results."

The message revealed that both labor and management members of the 1961 governor's commission which proposed a voluntary labor-management relations mediation board had switched positions and rejected the idea.

"I have been informed by spokesmen for both the Associated General Contractors and for the construction crafts that they do not support this concept... and I have even been told that there is nothing the legislature could write in this area (because of the interstate aspects) that would be heeded," Hatfield said.

A bill to create the governor's labor-management relations committee as suggested by the governor's commission and the interim committee is now under consideration by the legislature.

"When I learned there was a repudiation of the proposal," the governor said, "I prevailed upon the primary construction unions and the Associated General Contractors to suggest a workable alternative."

The alternative calls for an "Oregon construction labor-management committee" made up of labor and management representatives.

Labor would be represented by members from the teamsters, pile-drivers, carpenters (including millwrights), hoisting and portable engineers, cement finishers, laborers and ironworkers.

An equal number would be appointed by the Portland chapter of the Associated General Contractors.

The committee purpose would be "to create a better public image... to reduce work stoppages through better understanding... to be available to the governor if a : which he wants our advice of opinions."

The proposal includes these limitations: "This committee shall not change existing contracts, or interfere in negotiations of new contracts, nor shall it become a pattern establishing body."

The governor said he was prepared to work with the House and Senate "in quest of a suitable statement of public policy and procedure."

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

Hatfield Warns Legislature Of Construction Shutdown

SALEM (UPI) — Gov. Mark Hatfield warned the legislature Friday of the possibility of another construction shutdown this summer and gave a stinging rebuke to labor and management interests for abandoning an agreement for voluntary settlement of disputes.

Hatfield made the comments in a special message to the legislature. It also included a labor-management alternate to the earlier plan and revealed the governor had been working on a program to halt work stoppages on state projects.

The governor also called for single anniversary dates to be established for industry-wide contracts.

He warned in his message: "Today I would give the most possible emphasis to another cloud on the horizon—the repetition of a shutdown of the construction industry in the summer of 1963. I would be remiss if I did not alert you to what may lie ahead unless we find solutions."

He also spoke of the "stark potential of another summer of idle machines, idle men, and the individual and collective economic rack and ruin that results."

The message revealed that both labor and management members of the 1961 governor's commission which proposed a voluntary labor-management relations mediation board had switched positions and rejected the idea.

"I have been informed by spokesmen for both the Associated General Contractors and for the construction crafts that they do not support this concept... and I have even been told that there is nothing the legislature could write in this area (because of the interstate aspects) that would be heeded," Hatfield said.

A bill to create the governor's labor-management relations committee as suggested by the governor's commission and the interim committee is now under consideration by the legislature.

"When I learned there was a repudiation of the proposal," the governor said, "I prevailed upon the primary construction unions and the Associated General Contractors to suggest a workable alternative."

The alternative calls for an "Oregon construction labor-management committee" made up of labor and management representatives.

Labor would be represented by members from the teamsters, pile-drivers, carpenters (including millwrights), hoisting and portable engineers, cement finishers, laborers and ironworkers.

An equal number would be appointed by the Portland chapter of the Associated General Contractors.

The committee purpose would be "to create a better public image... to reduce work stoppages through better understanding... to be available to the governor if a : which he wants our advice of opinions."

The proposal includes these limitations: "This committee shall not change existing contracts, or interfere in negotiations of new contracts, nor shall it become a pattern establishing body."

The governor said he was prepared to work with the House and Senate "in quest of a suitable statement of public policy and procedure."

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

He suggested these guide lines: —That it encourage voluntary and timely resolution of disagreements. —That it provide public facilities for assistance in resolving disputes that have resulted or threatened to result in lockouts or strikes inimical to the public interest. These could include mediation, fact-finding and voluntary arbitration. —That it limit terms of contracts so as to assure that construction projects can be completed on the basis on which they began.

SHOP MONDAY

9:30 A TILL 9 P

SEARS GIGANTIC

$100,000 STOCK REMOVAL SALE HELD OVER

Harmony House DELUXE MATTRESS Prices Smashed You Save 15.07

Harmony House Round Table 5-pc. DINETTE SET Prices Smashed You Save 30.95

Harmony House Colonial Style LIVING ROOM SUITE Prices Smashed You Save 50.95

Kenmore Automatic 30" ELECTRIC RANGE Prices Smashed You Save 51.95

Coldspot 15 cu. ft. CHEST FREEZER Prices Smashed You Save 61.95

Harmony House Innersp. Coiled SOFA SLEEPER Prices Smashed You Save 30.95

Craftsman Acri-Arm 10" RADIAL SAW Prices Smashed You Save 61.95

52-Gallon Honor Built Electric WATER HEATER Prices Smashed You Save 20.95

3-Pc. BATH ENSEMBLE Prices Smashed You Save 44.95

David Bradley 12" CHAIN SAW Prices Smashed You Save 10.95

Sears-O-Pedic 527 Coil MATTRESS OR BOX-SPRING Prices Smashed You Save 17.07

Big 9-drawer ready to finish DRESSER Prices Smashed You Save 7.07

Harmony House King Size TV RECLINER Prices Smashed You Save 20.95

Harmony House ROOM SIZE RUGS Prices Smashed You Save 74.40

Craftsman 24" 4-wheel RIDER MOWERS Prices Smashed You Save 29.95

David Bradley 3 H.P. ROTO SPADER Prices Smashed You Save 20.95

Harmony House Double Dresser BOOKCASE BED Prices Smashed You Save 25.95

Harmony House Box Spring or 1000 coil MATTRESS Prices Smashed You Save 30.07

With Ottoman, Harmony House SOFA-BED-CHAIR Prices Smashed You Save 30.95

Craftsman 20" ROTARY MOWER Prices Smashed You Save 15.95

Craftsman 22" ROTARY MOWER Prices Smashed You Save 39.95

Coldspot 10.5 cu. ft. Economy REFRIGERATOR Prices Smashed You Save 31.95

Coldspot 10.5 cu. ft. Upright FREEZER Prices Smashed You Save 31.95

You Haul and Save Another $5.00 to $10.00</