

Restaurant Melee Eyed By Officers

Klamath Falls police investigated a disorderly conduct complaint signed by Chuck Wagon Restaurant owner Bruce Houck against Wendell Jack Eggsman, Box 163, Chiloquin, resulting from an incident that took place in Houck's office at the restaurant Monday.

Houck was also one of three signers of complaints against Darryl Gene Oris, 22, Sprague River, for disorderly conduct Monday evening.

Houck told police he was in his office at about 9:30 p.m. when he saw Eggsman enter it and open the cash drawer in his desk.

The restaurant owner rushed into the office and told Eggsman to get out. Houck said Eggsman wouldn't leave so he picked up the telephone to call police and Eggsman ran at him. He told police he pushed Eggsman away and completed the call.

Eggsman later was booked on charges of disorderly conduct and was fined $50 or 10 days in jail.

Police reported that Oris had been using vulgar language at the Chuck Wagon, but when they arrived at the scene Oris was gone.

When he was found at the Bruiser Cafe he tried to resist arrest and had to be forcibly put into the paddy wagon, police reported.

At the station Oris tried to fight with police and when he was placed in the cell he started pummeling another inmate.

A total of three disorderly conduct complaints were signed against Oris and he was fined $200 or 40 days for disorderly conduct and $25 or five or 10 days for being drunk.

Octopus Tutor Paws Girl Before Students

Linda frequently calls me Chuck which is not my name. Chuck is a fellow we are both acquainted with, but so far as I know she has never gone out with him and there is nothing between them.

Linda seems normal in every other way and can remember everybody else's name. Why can't she remember mine? Only yesterday she phoned her mother in my presence and told her that "Chuck would be bringing her home about 11 o'clock."

Can this mean that Linda is Chuck on her mind and that I'm a fool to consider her for a wife? —NOT CHUCK

Dear Nat: People often mis-speak themselves.

Every mother alive has called one of her children by another child's name. In fact some mothers go through three or four names before they hit the right one. The next time Linda calls you. Chuck—say, "Yes, Ophelia."

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the grandfather who was disgusted because he received a birthday gift with a card which said, "With love from Bonnie, Don, Mac, Sue, Hal, Mary, Gerry, Debbie—etc." was wonderful. I'm a grandfather, too, and like the man who wrote, I select gifts for my family with loving care. Yet, year after year, my children send me things which show so little thought I'd prefer no gift at all.

For Christmas my daughter sent me a leather belt which is six inches too small. My son sent a heavy wool shirt, the kind men in Michigan wear for hunting. I live in Miami and have no use for such a shirt. My daughter sent me a pair of slippers. I don't own one pair with French cuffs. My 11-year-old grandson sent me a cake of soap, which was the only gift I could use. Strangely enough, his mother wrote and apologized for the gift, thinking I might be offended.

Please tell people, Ann, that sending a gift just to take care of an obligation is no compliment. And the receiver can always tell. —ALSO COMPLAINING

Dear Also: You've made the point, Gramps. I can add nothing but my thanks for writing.

French Bank Chief Shot

PARIS (UPI)—The president of one of France's biggest business banks was shot to death Wednesday, apparently by terrorists of the Secret Army Organization.

The victim was Henri Lafond, 69, whose Banque de l'Union Parisienne had extensive dealings with Communist nations and with the Algerian National Liberation Front, both sworn enemies of the OAS.

However, the police refused to blame the OAS as yet. Detective Maurice Bouvier, who cracked the case in which OAS terrorists tried to kill President Charles de Gaulle last August, said:

"I do not know yet whether it was a political crime, a crime of passion, or something to do with high finance."

The shooting occurred as Lafond was entering his chauffeur-driven car in his fashionable suburban Neuilly on his way into Paris.

Witnesses said a man about 40 walked up and asked the banker if he was Lafond. Then he pulled out a gun and fired six shots, hitting Lafond and the chauffeur.

McArthur Wins FFA Speech Contest

ALTURAS—The McArthur FFA team on parliamentary procedure was the winner of the annual FFA Parliamentary Procedure and Public Speaking Contest recently held in Alturas. Prepared for further competition are, from left, Carson Estes, Ron Hathaway, Don Crum, Bill Kelly, and Jim Earnest.

Public Speaking Contest to be held in Chico. McArthur competed against teams from Yreka, Surprise Valley, Alturas, and Big Valley. Yreka's team placed second in the competitions; Surprise Valley, third; Alturas, fourth, and Big Valley, fifth.

The winning team, made up of Ron Hathaway, Don Crum, Jim Earnest, Bill Kelly, and Carson Estes, has now earned the right to go on to the Superior Regional Parliamentary Procedure and Public Speaking Contest to be held in Chico. McArthur competed against teams from Yreka, Surprise Valley, Alturas, and Big Valley. Yreka's team placed second in the competitions; Surprise Valley, third; Alturas, fourth, and Big Valley, fifth.

Ted Sampson, a junior from McArthur, won the blue ribbon in the individual speaking contest with a talk on cooperatives. Paul Kresage of Big Valley took second with his talk on pesticides and insecticides. Hosted by the day-long affair, presided by the Alturas chapter of FFA, were Frank Carroll, county school curriculum director; Norman Nichols, University of California; Paul Baker, local attorney; Bob Savage, 4-H adviser and a MUHS trustee served as a timekeeper.

SELF-RESCUED MAN

Bonham was caught in a downdraft Sunday and crashed while en route to Colorado during a boat show. He spent the days huddled in his plane during a heavy snowstorm with only fishbait to eat. When the snow let up he managed to climb to the highway and flag down a passing motorist. — UPI Telephoto

Powell Budget Request Ordered Cut By House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House today ordered a 42 percent slash in the funds request of Chairman Adam Clayton Powell to operate his Education and Labor Committee this year.

The decision to approve a $200,000 budget for the committee was interpreted as a slap at the controversial New York Negro Democrat. The action was taken by voice vote.

The $148,500 cut in Powell's spending request also appeared likely to boomerang against some of the same Republicans who have criticized Powell's widely publicized activities in and out of Congress.

Republican members of Powell's committee bitterly protested that the budget recommended by the House Administration Committee left GOP members with no assurance they will get any money to hire expert advisers and clerks.

Powell was not present. The only reference to him was made by Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., who said the New Yorker was ill with influenza.

That brought a hoot of laughter, mostly from the Republican side of the House. Roosevelt said "it might be humorous to some, but it wouldn't be to anyone who has had the Asian flu."

Powell told reporters last week that he was suffering from "the Afro-Asian flu." He has not been seen in Washington since then. A New York newspaper reported he had gone to Puerto Rico, where he has a home.
