

BETROTHED — The Rev. and Mrs. Andrew G. Lynch, Hopewell, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane Ann, to Ensign A. Darrel Kusth, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Rusth of Klamath Falls. The future bride, graduate of Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., is teaching in Fairfax County, Va. Ensign Rusth is a graduate of KUHS, Golden Gate College, San Francisco, and Officers Candidate School in Newport, R.I. He is presently stationed aboard the USS Ticonderoga. The wedding will take place in August.

ENGAGED — The engagement of Jo Anne Merritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Merritt, Klamath Falls, to Larry Gieseke was told to residents of Lucy Anna Lee House on the campus of Willamette University in the traditional passing of a red candle decorated with red and white roses. The bride-elect is a sophomore history major at Willamette. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gieseke, Kenyon, Minn., and is presently stationed as an airman first class at Kingsley Field. The couple plan an early fall wedding.

ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wiard announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Karen Lounsbury, to Gary Griffith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Griffith. Both families are of Klamath Falls. The future bridegroom, a graduate of KUHS, is employed at Weyerhaeuser Company. A June wedding is planned.

MRS. O. GIRLS — Save that last cup of coffee in the pot for your gloves. As with any dyeing job, the gloves should be completely damp when put in the coffee and the stirring is important to prevent streaking.

DEAR POLLY — Here is a good use for plastic bags from the dry cleaners. Tie bags around lighting fixtures when painting ceilings. The bag protects against paint drips and splatters. Be sure to tie these plastic bags in knots, for safety, when discarded.

DEAR POLLY — When I transplant a clipping from a favorite plant for a friend, I plant it in a paper cup. Then when my friend is ready to transplant it, all she needs do is tear away the paper cup and the roots of the plant are not disturbed.

DEAR POLLY — We saved the cardboard tubes that contained Christmas wrapping paper and found that an umbrella fits inside and can be kept on the floor of the car without getting dirty. This way, you can keep your umbrella off the rear window ledge where even black ones will fade from the sun and where it might become a missile in case of a smashup.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Sexton of Midland Road. The couple were accompanied to Reno for the ceremony by the bride's parents and her sister, Joyce Roberts.

WORK SMARTER — NOT HARDER

Homemaking, like everything else, has been invaded by science—to your benefit, of course. But the scores of household chemicals on the cleaning shelf bring many questions to our extension service offices. We often call on OSU chemists to provide the answers.

"Is there danger in mixing liquid chlorine bleach and household ammonia?" Chemists say no, if handled carefully. By this, they mean to dilute the bleach as it should be in washing clothes. They do caution, however, to avoid mixing bleach or other household cleaners as a regular practice. Chlorine fumes which might be given off in small amounts, are so irritating to your nose and throat that you'll be heading for fresh air before you have breathed enough to be harmful. You'll not need to worry if you use reasonable care. Keep chemicals away from children and follow directions on the bottles.

When is the best time to add bleach to the washer? If you use liquid chlorine bleach, the answer is about three minutes after the clothes have started agitating in the detergent suds.

Recent research shows that this timing gives the whitest clothes. The reason is this. The detergent contains a brightener which needs a few minutes to fix itself to the fabric. The bleach would interfere with this chemical action. When the bleach (diluted, of course) is added later, you get full benefit of the brightener and of the whitening power of the bleach.

"Our refrigerator has a bad odor. No amount of washing with soda water seems to do any good. What can be done?"

Here again, chemists came to the rescue. Get activated charcoal at the drug store. You won't need much—about three ounces is plenty. This is a fine powder which you can spread in a thin layer on a sheet of aluminum foil or a shallow pan on the refrigerator shelf. The charcoal will "soak up" the odor. Foods can remain on the refrigerator shelf with the charcoal.

After six or eight hours, put the pan of charcoal in a moderate oven to drive off the odor and "reactivate" it. (Don't worry, odor will not stay in your oven.) Put charcoal back in the refrigerator again until all odor has disappeared. Save the charcoal—you can use it over and over again.

Smart Homemakers Tell Us

Save time and temper when you vacuum throw rugs with this quick trick. Run the vacuum cleaner diagonally over small rugs. This will keep the edges from being down into the nozzle and the rug will stay flat on the floor.

Throw rugs that skid often cause accidents which could lay you up for days or even weeks.

If your rugs are laid over smooth flooring, use double-sided masking tape as a temporary but effective measure. Smooth the tape along the underside of the rug edges, then lay the rug with the tape in contact with the floor. This works beautifully. And don't worry if some adhesive sticks to the floor. It will come off with usual cleaning methods.
