

Coal Miners Reject Plea By Premier

PARIS (UPI)—France's 200,000 striking coal miners Saturday rejected Premier Georges Pompidou's return-to-work appeal and said they would defy one from President Charles de Gaulle "if he says the same as Pompidou."

"We will stay out as long as necessary," a spokesman for the powerful French General Federation of Workers (CGT) said. "If the government tries individual requisitioning of miners it will have no chance of success."

De Gaulle immediately called in Pompidou for discussions. Pompidou on radio and television Friday night appealed to the miners to face up to their "moral responsibilities." He asked them to go back to work and discuss wage problems with the government next September—and without the 11 per cent pay raise they seek. The government has offered a 5.7 per cent pay raise.

A spokesman for the CGT, which represents 70 per cent of the strikers, said Saturday the reaction of the miners to the speech was a reinforcement of their determination to strike.

"For an unlimited period?" he was asked. "Indefinitely," was the reply. Reports from almost all of the strikebound pits indicated that the miners were solidly behind the four unions representing them in the dispute.

Miners in the Lorraine area met and passed a resolution expressing their determination to stay out "until we get justice."

BEN MURPHY

Irish Dance Scheduled At Merrill

MERRILL—Sure and 'tis time for the Irish to gather and to dance and sing and make merry at the Irish dance on the night after the Ides of March which will be Saturday night of March 16.

They will gather in the Merrill Community Hall to dance from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. until the musicians, Bud Richardson and his Westernaires are too tired to blow a horn or play a fiddle.

This is the 57th annual St. Patrick's Dance and there will be many of the oldtimers there to talk over those early dances when money was scarce but fun reigned when two or more Irishmen got together and there are none to dispute it.

There is only one St. Patrick's Day dance a year, so don't be the one to stay away for missing one is to mourn.

The old Irish spirit will be as strong as in other years, especially that first year when no one could know how the dancing would turn out nor the people either. But it was a success and so today those who love to dance the Irish jigs, the swing and the square dance still gather.

There will be those there, whose ancestors came from the Wicklow Mountains, Knockmeadow and Galty in the south, or from the plains only 500 feet above sea level, all with the same thought, to dance the night away. And there will be others from the melting pot of America who like to dance too.

There will be special entertainment by Clarence Rastad and his Midland Square Dancers so don't miss it.

Ben T. Murphy, chairman, and his co-chairman, Warren Walker, invite one and all to the St. Patrick's Day dance at Merrill on the night of Saturday, March 16.

Red China May Demand Return Of Siberia Land

LONDON (UPI)—Communist China has raised the possibility it may demand the return of huge areas of Siberia, including Vladivostok, taken by the "unbridled aggression" of the old Russian Czar, British experts said Saturday.

The hint was contained in Friday's edition of the Peking People's Daily in a cryptic reference to the "unequal treaties imposed on China by imperialist and colonialist powers."

"By virtue of these unequal treaties they annexed Chinese territory in the north, south, east and west and held leased territories on the seaboard and in the hinterland of China," the official newspaper said.

British experts said the statement marked the beginning of a shift of the Sino-Soviet dispute from the purely ideological sphere to the wider and more explosive fields of political and territorial disputes.

Vast Stretches
The areas taken by Russia in the past include vast stretches north of Vladivostok along the Pacific coast and Russia's industrial centers of Komsomolsk and Khabarovsk—areas as large as Alaska.

There also are areas bordering on Sinkiang province in West China and the Soviet-Afghanist frontier which are held affected by the past "unequal" Czarist treaties.

Some Chinese maps were understood to be showing the borders in those areas as "undefined"—a phrase used by Peking recently in a number of current efforts to modify the borders. The "undefined" Sino-Indian border led to a border war last fall.

Some experts have thought for some time that Red China was eyeing some of the Soviet-held territories once part of the old Chinese empire and predicted Red Chinese aspirations may turn one day toward the vast and empty spaces of Siberia.

Sen. Yturri Recovering

SALEM (UPI)—Senate Minority Leader Anthony Yturri, R-Ore., will be released from Salem Memorial Hospital Sunday, his physician said.

Dr. Ralph Purvine said Yturri's illness Friday was caused primarily by fatigue.

"He has just been putting in too many hours a day on the job," the doctor said.

Yturri was taken to the hospital after nearly fainting in the hallway of the capitol while talking to another legislator.

The doctor said he did not suffer a heart attack.

Hoffa charged newspapers with "slanting news" about Teamsters, and said reporters who telephone in their stories "don't recognize them in print."

"Everyone here knows it," Hoffa said.

Hoffa was quick to return to his favorite subject—the attorney general.

He said he was awaiting trial of a Teamsters suit against Kennedy and television performer Jack Paar in connection with an interview on Paar's program about Hoffa.

"He (Kennedy) had no immunity when he appeared on the Paar show," Hoffa said.

He said Kennedy will be subpoenaed to cite "chapter and verse under oath about all the statements he made about our union and me."

Retarded Children Plan Gains Committee Okay

SALEM (UPI)—The House Education Committee Friday approved a pilot program for the mentally retarded, tabled a proposed change in the basic school support formula, and created a subcommittee to study a proposed increase in basic school support.

The $117,600 pilot program for retarded children would serve youngsters who cannot benefit from already established school programs.

The measure also calls for a detailed report on the program to the 1965 legislature.

The tabled bill would have modified the method of giving transportation aid to school districts, and the method of disposing of unneeded funds allocated for expanding districts.

A four-member subcommittee will give further study to a bill which would increase basic school support from $120 to $135 per child in 1963-64, and to $150 thereafter.

Named to the subcommittee were Reps. Norman Howard, D-Portland, Edward Branchfield, R-Medford, Joe Rogers, R-Independence, and Carrol Howe, R-Klamath Falls.

Committee Chairman Rep. Nancy Kirkpatrick, D-Lebanon, told the subcommittee to "study it for

Exile's End Suggested To Cardinal

VIENNA (UPI)—Franziskus Cardinal Koenig returned to Vienna from the Vatican Saturday prepared to visit Hungary and there "privately" suggest to Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty that he end his exile and go to Rome.

Mindszenty has been a voluntary prisoner in the United States Legation in Budapest since 1956 when he sought asylum there after Soviet tanks crushed the Hungarian uprising. There have been growing reports recently that he may now be willing to end this exile which for many years has been an embarrassment both to the Church and to the archbishop.

Cardinal Koenig, Austrian archbishop of Vienna, who conferred in Rome with Pope John XXIII, has been invited to Hungary by the country's bishops and now will seek a visa. He expects to visit Cardinal Mindszenty although nothing formal has been arranged.

The Austrian cardinal tried to trick newsmen on his flight from Rome.

Before leaving the Eternal City he announced his travel plans were changed and instead of going direct to Vienna he would fly to Switzerland for several days rest in Zurich.

He said in Rome that one reason for the switch in plans was that he understood a large group of newsmen would be awaiting him in Vienna.

Chemult Girl Dies In Crash

New Trial Granted In Barkley Case

Judge David R. Vandenberg granted a motion for a mistrial in the assault with a dangerous weapon case against Melvin Barkley, 42, following some surprise developments during the first day of testimony in circuit court, Friday.

The request for a new trial was made by the defense attorney after deputy district attorney Bob Thomas informed the court that one of the jurors was related to a staff member of the sheriff's office. The juror had been queried on that relationship during the impaneling of the jury Thursday, but the venireman denied having knowledge that any of his relatives were employed by the sheriff.

Judge Vandenberg then denied a motion that the court acquit Barkley before finally granting the motion for a mistrial. The jurist then set March 18 as the time for the new trial.

County Clerk Charles DeLap said later that a new jury would be selected from a special panel of 40 veniremen to be drawn between now and the date set for the trial.

The subject of the misguided juror was the second unusual occurrence that developed during the two-day trial. The first episode occurred Wednesday when the case was continued one day after the district attorney's office was unable to locate the complaining witness, James Thomas, 19. A subsequent investigation by the sheriff's office established that Thomas was the victim of a shooting by Barkley last Nov. 13, was served into custody and returned to the jail sentence in Madras. Klamath County Jail.
