

Board Offers Theory On Communism Course

SALEM (UPI) — The best defense against communism is an understanding of the nature, purpose, methods, and objectives of communism.

And a knowledge of communism will make students more aware and appreciative of a free society. That is the theory behind a course about communism proposed for Oregon's public high schools.

The teacher guide "Understanding the Nature of Communism" has undergone almost two years of preparation.

Supt. of Public Instruction Leo Miner said, "This is a delicate problem. It was deemed as to propose the course now as an alternate. After more experience we could make it a required course."

Events Set For Granges

Wednesday, March 13, is the date for all new grange members to remember. On that date, the first and second degrees will be exemplified by Poe Valley and Lost River granges, respectively.

The event will be held at the Poe Valley Grange Hall at 8 p.m. It is important that new members attend so following degrees can be exemplified at the meeting later this month.

With National Grange being held in Portland this fall it will be an excellent opportunity for members to get all seven degrees in one year.

A HAPPY DAY — It's a happy birthday for Mrs. Calliope Patrikousis as she gets a big hug from the youngest of her great-grandchildren, Gary Retos, 13. Mrs. Patrikousis, believed to be the oldest woman in Pennsylvania, celebrated her 114th birthday on Sunday.

RICHARD W. CLARK WILLIAM J. GOGINS JAMES R. KALER

News Of The Services

Three Klamath Basin youths, Richard William Clark, 18, William John Gogins, 17, and James Robert Kaler, 18, recently enlisted in the U.S. Navy, according to Lon H. Winn, local Navy recruiter.

They are presently undergoing recruit training at the U.S. Naval Training Center, San Diego. Upon successful completion of the training they will be granted a 14-day leave prior to reporting to school or permanent duty.

Clark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Clark, Star Route, Malin. He is a graduate of Malin High School and enlisted under the Navy's electronic field seaman recruit training program.

He will report to Trade Training School after his leave.

Gogins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gogins, 2535 Vine Avenue. He attended KU prior to enlisting and will report to ship or station duty after leave.

Kaler, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vernon Kaler, 2110 White Avenue, will also receive training in the electronic field and will attend one of the many electronics schools after his leave.

Kaler graduated from KU before enlisting.

Nikita Under Pressure On Stalin Criticism

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today appeared involved in a major effort to keep tight limits on the de-Stalinization campaign and interpretation of it by Russia's intellectuals.

The Soviet leader, in a speech published during the weekend, indicated Kremlin fears that attacks on the reign of former dictator Josef Stalin possibly could involve present Communist leaders who served under him. They would include Khrushchev.

He made it clear in the speech to writers and artists that Communist party control over the arts in Russia is a necessary element of party leadership of the nation.

The premier reaffirmed the official line that there can be no "coexistence" between socialist art and "bourgeois" art of the West.

Khrushchev stated his views to a meeting of writers, artists and movie makers Friday. The text in Sunday's edition of the official party newspaper Pravda occupied nearly four pages.

"Exchange of Opinions"
 The meeting ostensibly was for an "exchange of opinions" on the cultural controversy over party control of the arts, but Khrushchev's speech was uncompromising in its demand for obedience by the country's intellectuals.

One of the writers singled out for criticism was Ilya Ehrenburg, the well-known journalist and novelist, who has said he and other Russians knew of the evils under Stalin but that he was forced to endure them with "clenched teeth." Khrushchev said the 72-year-old writer had been guilty of major "ideological mistakes" which should be corrected.

Khrushchev emphasized that not everything in the Stalin era was evil. He criticized writers who "one-sidedly concentrated on instances of lawlessness, arbitrariness and abuse of power."

He said "it is to be kept in mind that those periods were not the period of stagnation... our people successfully worked on and built socialism."

Years In His Eyes
 Khrushchev, who started the downgrading of Stalin in 1956 and has fostered the campaign ever since, said he had tears in his eyes at Stalin's funeral in 1953. He said Stalin was "devoted to communism" but in his last years had become sick and abused his power.

"We learned about the abuse of power by Stalin... only after his death," Khrushchev said.

The premier attacked his former colleague, Stalin's secret police chief Lavrenti Beria, as an "abominable character" who had welcomed Stalin's death. Beria was arrested and executed shortly after Stalin died, apparently to block his efforts to seize power.

Khrushchev said Beria and former Premier Georgi Malenkov, now discredited and demoted, had wanted to cut East Germany from the socialist camp after Stalin died.

Administration Foresees Fidel Fall From Within

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials have begun to talk with cautious optimism about the possible overthrow from within of Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has mentioned "evidence of great and growing discontent" in Cuba and intelligence reports disclose increasingly severe shortages of the necessities of life.

This comes at a time when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is pulling some of his military personnel out of the island, lessening the Kremlin's ability to keep Castro in power against whatever opposition may be developing.

There is divided opinion here as to whether the Kennedy administration actually sees more hope for home-grown trouble or seeks simply to justify the effectiveness of its policy of slow strangulation as opposed to more dangerous direct action such as an oil blockade.

The administration rejects the argument by some Republican leaders that a selective blockade aimed only at stopping Soviet oil deliveries to the island would not run the risk of war in the Caribbean.

Most officials believe now that Khrushchev will fulfill his pledge to pull "several thousand" of his estimated 17,000 military technicians and troops in Cuba out of the island by Friday. This is the promise he made to President Kennedy several weeks ago. Only the Russians know what they mean by "several thousand."

American officials are watching closely to see whether the Russians evacuated include the approximately 5,000 regular soldiers organized in four combat battalions. These units, equipped with the latest battlefield weapons, have been regarded as capable of helping Castro's government beat down any really serious threat of rebellion. If all of them have left or leave, Khrushchev gives his most effective immediate means of controlling the situation in Cuba.

U. S. officials, while pressing for evacuation of every Russian, recognize that complete withdrawal might well increase the danger of an armed clash involving the United States and Cuba.

This stems from the fact that the Russians up to now have retained the control of the anti-aircraft missiles capable of knocking down the high level U2 planes which continue surveillance of the island to make certain no offensive weapons remain.

It is acknowledged if Castro's trigger-happy forces get complete control of the weapons, there is increased likelihood of an "incident." Kennedy has warned there will be swift retaliation if any American plane is attacked.

Mint Sale Successful

The Camp Fire candy mini sale which opened Feb. 23 has been judged a success, according to Mrs. Naomi French, executive director. Many groups are sold out of candy, but Mrs. French said those who would like to purchase a box may call the Camp Fire office and she will see they are contacted.

March 15 is the last day of the sale, and no candy will be available after that date.

Tracy Taggart is chairman of the project, assisted by Elwyn Brown, but many people have been employed behind the scenes including the leaders, telephone committee, and delivery men.

Volunteering their services to the telephone committee were Mrs. A. E. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Ron Phair, Mrs. Joe Lovell, Mrs. Richard Francis, Mrs. Harold Ashley, Mrs. Henry Kerr, Mrs. George Allensworth, Mrs. Max Revis, and Carol Foster. The delivery men were Oren Gossett, Joe Matlick, Robert Kennedy, Wade Kirby, Chick Bailey, Clarence Bussman, Robert Rutter, George Dugan, Howard Amidon, Frank Ganong, Melvin Miller, Robert Baird, Roby Bedel and Skip Matlick.
