First Assistant Pastor To Church Recently Arrives To Begin Duties

Early in February the congregation of Bible Baptist Church made a decision to engage an assistant pastor, and the call was accepted less than one month later. The new addition to the Klamath Falls ministerial group is a former Myrtle Point minister, Rev. John Fenderson, who arrived with his family this week to assume the position.

Rev. Fenderson visited the church Feb. 17 to become acquainted with the members and the program, and the following week the church voted to issue the call, said Rev. Freeman

Schmitt, pastor. Although others have been employed to guide particular phases of the church's work, this is the first time Bible Baptist has named an assistant pastor, he added.

The duties of the assistant pastor will be concerned with Christian education work and various youth programs. He will also direct the camp program, participate in visitation, and serve as song leader for the Sunday evening services.

Before coming to Klamath Falls, Rev. Fenderson was associated with two other Oregon churches.

He was minister of the Tri-City Conservative Baptist Church in Myrtle Creek for four years, and for two years served as pastor of the Myrtle Point Baptist Church.

He studied at the University of Minnesota and received a B.A. Degree from Bethel College in Minneapolis, Minn. He later attended the Bethel Seminary in that city.

Rev. Fenderson's family includes his wife, Ruth, whom he met while they were both studying at Bethel College, and five sons, Daniel, 9; Darel, 7; John Mark, 6; David, 4; and Timothy, 2. They are making their new home at 5530 Miller.

To formally welcome the Fendersons, Bible Baptist Church is planning a reception service in their honor Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

High and Lifted Up

LENTEN LIFELINES
By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is an ancient story in the Old Testament which told of a serpent, made of brass, which Moses held on a staff before the people, that they might be healed. It might have been only an incident from the distant past except that it became magnificently alive when Jesus discussed the possible event in his own life. "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Son of Man be lifted up."

The other insight is from the prophet Isaiah who spoke of an experience in his life, "In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord, high and lifted up." Now the point of all this for our own existence is that we ought to have something to lift us up beyond peering into distant space or the attempt to measure our universe. Unless we have a faith great enough to lift us up, we shall live in illusions. One of these deluding hopes is that we can do it ourselves, as though all we need is to devise a kit of rules and with enough spunk, somehow we can pull ourselves out of our problems.

Or there is the other illusion which makes us think that we're not going to see much when we look up. So it makes us content to talk of man's existence as though it were all noise and sex and selfish individualism. It's definition of life is pretty much: Pussy cat, pussy cat, where have you been?

I've been to London to visit the Queen.
Pussy cat, pussy cat, what saw you there?
I saw a mouse right under her chair.

It is the mark of this faith that is brought into focus during Lent that calls things by their right name. Pain, sin, ugliness, death, shame—all these are not camouflage. They are to be met. But these are not the end of the story. Jesus said, "In this world you will have tribulation, but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

Altar Group Plans Party

BLY—The Altar Society of St. James Catholic Church met at the home of Mrs. Martin Melness on March 11 to discuss the coming fund-raising dinner and card party. The group also began practicing the music which will be used during the High Mass on Easter Sunday. Among the 12 members present for the meeting were Mrs. Martin Caven, president, and Mrs. Edward Smith, secretary-treasurer.

BINGO BLASTED
(CBN)—In the name of sweet charity, churches, private clubs, fraternal, civic and service groups being the law in many areas of Pennsylvania by operating bingo games, the Harrisburg Evening News asserted in a recent editorial. The News noted that bingo is classified as gambling under Pennsylvania law and "gambling is against the law." The Pennsylvania Legislature has before it a bill to legalize bingo for churches, charities, and certain social events, but the News commented unfavorably on such legislation.

Plan Helps Kick Habit Of Tobacco

As a non-denominational free community service, the Klamath Falls Seventh-day Adventist Church will sponsor a controlled program for those who wish to stop smoking. The course will run for five consecutive evenings, March 17-21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Green Room of the Winema Hotel.

The Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, offered in cooperation with an American health journal, "Life and Health," is not a religious program. The sessions will be conducted by Dr. Robert W. Graham, local ophthalmologist and eye surgeon, and directed by Elder Kenneth H. McVay, Seventh-day Adventist minister.

Regarded as a comprehensive assault on the habit, the Five-Day Plan involves group therapy, lectures, films, the buddy system, and a personal control booklet. Discussions will be held on such topics as the physical effects of smoking, exercises in strengthening will power, and weakening physical craving for tobacco.

Because smoking is a complex neuromuscular habit which millions of people seem unable to break, they often need a controlled program to successfully kick the habit, Elder McVay said.

SILVER TEA SET

The United Church Women of Klamath Falls will meet Friday, March 22, at 1:30 p.m. in Klamath Lutheran Church. A silver tea will be included with the regular business meeting.

Methodist Congregation To Hear Chaplain Speak

Capt. Jefferson E. Davis, chaplain of the Kingsley Field Air Base Chapel, will speak at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services of the First Methodist Church on Sunday, March 31.

Chaplain Davis received his AB and BD degrees from Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex. He has been in the Air Force for five years, with previous assignments at Sondrestrom, Greenland, and Otis Air Force Base, Cape Cod, Mass. In World War II he was a member of the U.S. Marine Corps and served in the Pacific Theatre of operations. During his four-year ministry and residence at Kingsley Field,

Conditions Favor Hillel Growth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Forty years ago, Dr. Edward Chauncey Baldwin was professor of Biblical literature at the University of Illinois. He was a devout Christian. Many of his students were Jewish, and Dr. Baldwin was appalled to discover they knew very little about the Bible—the book which grew out of the history of their own people.

Dr. Baldwin voiced his concern to Benjamin Frankel, a 23-year-old rabbinical student. Frankel agreed something ought to be done about it. With the Christian professor's help and encouragement, the young rabbinical student established a campus spiritual center for Jewish students. He named it in honor of a great Jewish sage, Hillel, who lived about 2,000 years ago.

Frankel died four years later, at the age of 27. But he had lived long enough to sell his idea to B'nai B'rith, the Jewish service organization. B'nai B'rith undertook the establishment of Hillel Foundations at colleges and universities all over the country.

Today there are Hillel Foundations on 244 campuses in every section of the United States, and similar ones in Europe, Israel, South Africa, Canada and Australia. They are served by the largest staff of rabbis of any Jewish institution in the world.

The movement instigated by a Christian professor is still growing, according to Dr. William Haber, national chairman of the Hillel Foundations.

"In our formative years," he said, "we had to overcome the prejudice of students. It was a period when youngsters were runaways from their Jewish heritage, answering 'none' to the question of religious affiliation on their college admissions cards.

"The academic climate today favors religious identification among students. Jewish youngsters, though still sadly informed about their Judaic heritage, are no longer runaways. We now have on file almost 200 applications for Hillel units at colleges where we are not yet based."

George Hricizese, presiding minister of the local congregation, in discussing the theme of the three-day meet said, "As at previous times, acting as a right kind of minister requires faith and obedience. It also requires study and the Apostle Paul, in particular, prepared for their ministries. By private and congregational study of the Bible, through association with others in the congregation meetings and assemblies such as the Yreka convention, we receive increased understanding and mutual encouragement."

"This Bible seminar, attended by 16 congregations in Northern California and Southern Oregon, will set the pace for six months of Christian endeavor on the part of family groups to draw more and more of the community to Bible study as a regular feature of home life to protect against the pressures of modern-day life," he added.

Hricizese announced the highlight of the Bible conference would be the keynote address, "Right Kind of Ministers," at 7 p.m. Friday, March 22. Dedication and baptism of new ministers on Saturday afternoon and the public Bible lecture, "Who Will Win the Struggle for World Supremacy?" at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 24, will be conducted by the convention chairman, Lester M. Dugan of New York.

WOMEN MEET

The Klamath Lutheran Ladies Aid will hold a regular meeting Tuesday, March 19, at 8 p.m. in the Klamath Lutheran Church.

Chapel Feed To Promote Fund Drive

An "all you can eat" spaghetti dinner on Thursday, March 21, is the latest of several projects initiated by Kingsley Field personnel to benefit the Presbyterian Intercommunity Hospital fund drive.

The menu will feature spaghetti with Italian sauce, a variety of grated cheeses, garlic bread, Italian salad with assorted dressings, and a choice of coffee, milk, or chocolate milk. Ice cream and cup cakes will top off the meal.

Dinner will be served in the Kingsley Field Officers Club from 5 to 9 p.m., and music will be provided throughout the evening by Eddy Butler at the organ.

Tickets for the dinner are $1 for adults, 25 cents for children, and no charge for children under six. Co-sponsored by two groups of the Kingsley Field Chapel, the Protestant Men, the event will be open to the public. Free nursery service will be available at the base nursery during the hours of serving.

Visits Set By Speakers

MALIN—At the February business meeting of the Women's Association of the Malin Presbyterian Church, it was announced that two prominent women in the field of church work will visit the association in March and April.

Miss Dorothea Teeter from the Tripoli Girls' School in Lebanon, who is sponsored by Synodical World Service, will address the group March 21. An honorarium of $10 will be paid, according to the president, Mrs. Halbert Wilson.

A Miss Logan will be the guest speaker April 26, when Malin will host the Tulake and Merrill Women's associations. Working in Taiwan, Miss Logan will be the featured speaker at the South West Presbyterian to be held April 1-2 in Grants Pass. The Malin Association has made reservations for the Presbyterian.

In other business, the group planned a regular work day meeting on April 4 for a general clean-up of the church. It was also decided to do necessary yard work if the weather permits. Mrs. Milo Smith reported the association had completed 21 tied quilts, and the members voted to hold a special meeting to make additional quilts in the near future.

Circuit Assembly Draws Local Witness Ministers

Ministers of the Klamath Falls Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are completing final plans to attend the "Right Kind of Minister" Circuit Assembly at the Siskiyou County Fairgrounds in Yreka, Calif., March 22-24. Over 600 delegates, including 70 local representatives, are expected to convene for the first circuit convention of the Witnesses in the newly organized California Circuit No. 27.

George Hricizese, presiding minister of the local congregation, in discussing the theme of the three-day meet said, "As at previous times, acting as a right kind of minister requires faith and obedience. It also requires study and the Apostle Paul, in particular, prepared for their ministries.
