On the evening of March 2 in the Lents Evangelical United Brethren Church in Portland, Donna Miriam Mueller of Milwaukie, Ore., and Richard Forrest Kelly of Klamath Falls were united in marriage.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was dressed in a floor length bouffant white net gown with rose patterned lace overskirt. Rose lace appliques on the net skirt were detailed with seed pearls and sequins and alternating tiers of net and lace formed a cascade down the back of the skirt from the long waisted bodice. The scalloped square neckline was outlined with seed pearls. The bride's

DAC Meets In Portland

Mrs. Arch G. Proctor, Oregon state regent, National Society, Daughters of the American Colonists, and a member of the Klamath Chapter, presided at the sixth annual State Assembly luncheon held at noon March 19 in the University Club banquet room in Portland.

Klamath Chapter, DAC, was hostess and Mrs. Charles K. Wells, regent, was chairman. Assisting were Mrs. A. G. Proctor, Mrs. Roland E. Wright and Mrs. Rollin E. Thompson.

Mrs. John Y. Richardson, national and state resolutions chairman, spoke to the group on resolutions. One of the resolutions passed was that Oregon honor the Fourth of July by a "Ring out the Bells" at noon.

The Oregon Daughters announced the selection of Mrs. John Y. Richardson of the Portland chapter to run for vice president of the Pacific Coast Section, DAC, in the next national election.

Mrs. L. B. Gardiner, national patriotic education chairman, Memphis, Tenn., sent a letter complimenting Klamath Chapter on its patriotic education work and commending the Herald and News for its coverage of the George Washington poem contest.

Mrs. Howard P. Arnest, Oregon state historian, asked that chapters place historical markers. Klamath Chapter plans to erect a marker in 1963 to Martin F. Fraim, whose fur trading post was located at Payne Alley and Main Street in Klamath Falls. He was one of the first white fur traders to the Klamath Basin from New York State, sailing to California in 1850 via Cape Horn. He arrived in Klamath, crossing at Link River and camping there April 30, 1857.

only jewelry was a single pearl on a chain. Her short veil fell from a water lily crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a yellow throated white orchid surrounded by stephanotis, net and small pearl hearts.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Norman Mueller, who wore a pink rose pattern brocade sheath with matching accessories.

Bridesmaids were Sharon White and Esther Entenman of Portland and Virginia Kopley, Milwaukie, each wearing blue brocade and accessories similar to the outfit of the matron of honor. Each carried a white lace fan with pink carnations and wore a short veil which fell from a cluster of tiny brocade rosebuds in her hair. The attendants' ensembles were made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Albert Dannehl.

Three-year-old Tammy Johnson, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a pink brocade dress and carried a white basket filled with pink flowers. Steve Youst was ring bearer.

Best man was the bride's brother, Norman Mueller. Ushers were Carl Kuehne, cousin of the bride, and Darryl Mourer, Portland, and Alan Eberlein, Klamath Falls.

Soloist was the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Portland, who sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer." She was accompanied by Mrs. Roy Mourer at the organ.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Bleicher, pastor of Lents Church. At the close of the ceremony, during the prayer of dedication, the couple knelt on white satin pillows, smooched by the bride for the occasion.

Following the ceremony in the church sanctuary, the wedding party and families greeted the nearly 400 guests at the reception in the church parlors. The mother of the bride wore a light blue brocade dress with jacket, matching shoes and white with pink flowered hat. The bridegroom's mother chose a gold and ivory sheath with jacket and matching accessories. Both had a white orchid corsage.

TIPS ON TOOTH CARE

We are constantly bombarded by dentifrice commercials and reminders to go to the dentist twice a year. But, do you take as good care of your teeth as you are advised to do? Brushing at least twice a day is really more important to you than to the companies trying to sell a variety of products.

Constant and proper care gives you cleaner, prettier teeth for a prettier smile, and also cuts down on painful infections which often result from poor dental habits. Gum massage stirs circulation of blood. Without this massage, your gums get soft. Food particles are trapped when this happens, and decay and infection often follow. This may sound far from beauty talk but it is not. Your teeth are important to your beauty as well as to your general health. It pays to take care of them.

Cox. Coffee was poured by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ted Kuehne, Portland, and Mrs. M. L. Patterson, Gilchrist. The punch was served by Mrs. Darryl Mourer and Mrs. Ron Herzog. Lovely silver services, punch bowl and serving dishes were loaned for the reception, and Mrs. Lloyd

Henry Cadonau. Following the wedding trip to the Oregon Coast, the newlyweds will be at home in Portland.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest L. Kelly of Klamath Falls, is a graduate of Klamath Union High School and Oregon State University. He is presently employed at Portland Federal Savings and Loan as management trainee. Traveling to Portland for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McAndrews, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Work, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Eberlein and Neil Eberlein, Klamath Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Martin, Pilot Rock.

ENGAGEMENT TOLD — Mr. and Mrs. John C. McFarland, this city, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage on May 11 of their daughter, Laurine, to Franklin W. Butte. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Butte of Portland. The bride-elect, graduate of KUHS, was the first woman graduate of the Highway Technology (engineering) course at Oregon Technical Institute in 1959. She has worked since that time for the Forest Service at Lakeview and was transferred to Juneau, Alaska, in 1962. Her future husband is a station engineer at the Juneau radio and TV station.
