

Janice Mitts Bride Of Frank Allen Crowe

Janice Aileen Mitts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mitts, this city, became the bride of Frank Allen Crowe on Feb. 23 at Assembly of God Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Crowe, Frankfort, Ky., who were unable to be present for their son's wedding.

Baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and blue iris laced with yellow ribbon and lighted yellow tapers in floor candelabra decorated the church for the 3 p.m. double ring ceremony officiated by the Rev. Gordon S. Blay of Burney Assembly of God Church, uncle of the bride.

Organist was Peggy Kellogg, Chester Russell, Weed, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of faile taffeta with long tapered sleeves and scoop neckline accented with seed pearls. A band of seed pearls and rhinestones held in place the fingertip veil. She carried two white orchids on her prayer book with a cascade of hyacinths and feathered carnations.

Mrs. Dale Mabry of Cottonwood, Calif., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Barbara Ann Merrill, Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Robert Brown, Redding, cousin of the bride.

Attendants were dressed alike in sheath frocks of blue with net overskirts. Their bouquets were fashioned of yellow roses and white carnations with silver and white streamers.

Candlelighters Minerva Blay, Burney, and Sherry Colas, Klamath Falls, wore yellow taffeta dresses with crystallette overskirts and flowered headbands.

Robert Aldridge, Stanton, Calif., was best man and John Kassing, Salinas, Calif., and Ron Hoffmaster, Parma, Ohio, were groomsmen. Guests were seated by Richard Mitts, brother of the bride, and Mike Mikkelsen.

The bride's young sister, Eva Marie Mitts, wore a white taffeta dress with organza overskirt for her role of flower girl. Ernest Lynn Leporini, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a blue sheath trimmed with lace and rhinestone appliques. At her shoulder was a pastel cymbidium orchid.

The church parlors were festooned with yellow streamers and white wedding bells for the reception in the church parlors. Aunts of the bride, Mrs. Gordon Blay, Burney, and Mrs. Ernest Leporini, Redding, served the wedding cake. Another aunt, Mrs. Leonard Mitts, Weed, served punch and Mrs. Frank Burton, coffee. Luella Stafford and Louise Alward attended the gift table.

The bride changed to a beige suit with beige and brown accessories with the bridal orchids as a corsage for the honeymoon trip to San Francisco and Sacramento. She is a graduate of Ashland High School and attended Bethany Bible College at Santa Cruz. Her husband is presently stationed at Kingsley Field and they will make their home in Klamath Falls.

Among the guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Eva Mitts of Redding, and two great-aunts, Mrs. Cliff Clift and Mrs. Birdie Westwick, both of Pleasant Hill, Calif. Other guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Riley and Evelyn Michael, Ashland.

Couple Visit Grandson

Dr. and Mrs. Albert O. Roenicke have returned from a trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., where they greeted a new grandson, their second.

The baby, first child of L.L. and Mrs. Edwin Jackson Clough III, was born March 11 at Fort Carson Hospital and has been named James Ferrell. He weighed 8 lbs., 2 ozs. at birth.

Mrs. Clough is the former Virginia Roenicke. Her husband is stationed with the Army in Colorado.

Paternal grandparents of the new arrival are Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Clough Jr. of Tulalake. He is their first grandchild.

Girls Can Wear World Of Fashions

Designers of little girls' fashions roam the map of the world and come up with a world of ideas for a beautiful young spring, with the American frontier look, distinguished by an easy, outdoor feeling. These styles star natural shapes, slim and slightly fitted. Fabrics carry out the theme—denims and denim looks, homespun types, authentic madras and madras looks, cord, seersucker, nubby-textured wools, cottons and blends.

Saddle stitching and suspender effects contribute to the casual frontier look, as do hipline belts and sashes.

India inspires the rajah look, another favorite for little girls' styles. It appears in dresses and coats, closely seamed at the top, widening toward the hem, over all, easy and natural.

IN THE BAG

The paper bag has many uses around the house. It makes a good container, for example, when you want to clean your artificial flowers and fruit. Put either a half cup salt, sugar or sand in a bag with the items to be cleaned. Hold the flowers in the bag upside down, grasp the top of the bag tightly and shake well.

Paris influences the little girls' world of fashion with the "pant-skirt" dress, demi-fitted and boasting a front pleat or panel. In coats, the now-classic A line and the "open air" look reflect Paris, too. Slim and easy, some "open air" coats have tunneled Norfolk belts, others show open V necklines, and most are designed in rugged, nubby fabrics—boucles, herringbones, basketweaves.

London is the world-of-fashion source for the "ya-ya" dress, a fall and winter favorite that shows up in spring fabrics, sporting a hemline bounce or ruffle.

From London, too, comes the "guardsman" look in both coats and suits. They're trimly tailored, with double-breasted closings on wide front panels. In some of the coats, the panels button on and are removable to create still another look, the slim cardigan.

Appearing as part of the American frontier look are wrap skirts, slim or full, wrapped to the back, front or side.

The nautical look sails into the little girls' spring in many red, white and blue combinations, and in mid-type overblouses and sailor-collared coats.

The Paris-inspired matchbox silhouette continues strongly into spring. Its slim lines, seen in dresses, coats and suits, make it very much in key with the overall easy look of the season.

The majority of suits for little girls follow classic lines. Newness enters in open air V necklines and open air fabrics, in longer, leaner jackets and in fresh variations on the ever-popular Chanel look.

Like their mothers, little girls this spring have a world of ensembles to choose from. The dress-and-jacket returns, while the newer idea of the dress-and-coat is expected to compete strongly for fashion attention.

From Mom's world, too, is an array of slim, skimpy shapes. This styling is seen in coats as well as dresses, separates.

Though fabrics are, for the most part, vigorously textured, there are surprises in store, in the form of eyelets and sheers used in smartly-tailored styles.

Little girls' fashions greet spring in colors that are clear and pale. Leading no-color is white, lighting up dresses, suits and coats. Pink and yellow vie for favor, and there are many whitened pastels. Gray and wheat make news as neutrals.

Woman's Assoc. Meets In Malin

MALIN — Mrs. Laddie Rainus presided at the March 21 meeting of the Malin Woman's Association. A special prayer for the South Central Area was offered by Mrs. Merle Loosley.

Dorothea E. Teeter, speaker, talked on Lebanon and showed slides of the country and its schools.

Mrs. Ernest Gray and Mrs. Jim Bunnell continued the program with organ and piano selections. A poem, "The Meeting Place," was read by Mrs. J. Walter Browning.

Mrs. Frances Street, birthday chairman, presented packages of flower seed to those having birthdays in March.

April 4 will be a general cleanup day at the church when the society will next meet.

CLAN PLAID — Authentic tartan plaid sparks a young man's spring. The vest reverses from solid to plaid, and solid color slacks completes the outfit.

Goldenweds Are Honored

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Galloway were honored Sunday, March 17, on their golden wedding anniversary with a reception. Hosts were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Gayle) Stevens, Mount Shasta, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne K. Galloway. The home of the latter at 1334 Johnson Avenue, scene of the open house, was decorated in a spring theme of yellow roses, daffodils and pussy willows.

Focal point of the refreshment table was the beautifully decorated cake, four tiered, made and decorated by Mrs. Joe Heider. The collection was iced a pale green for St. Patrick's Day with yellow roses and pink lilies of the valley with the numeral "50" at the base.

Assisting during the afternoon were Mrs. Lillian Stevens, Mount Shasta, Mrs. F. A. Burton and Mrs. Joe Heider. Serving were Mrs. William Milne, Mrs. B. Lottsgaard, Mrs. Dale Alter and Mrs. Raymond Brolier.

Charles Galloway, a grandson, and Mikell Totton presided at the punch bowl. Susan Stevens, granddaughter, attended the guest book and another grandson, Kenneth Galloway, assisted.

After the honored couple cut the first slice of cake, it was served by Mrs. Heider and Dee Milne, assisted by Christie and Connie Letcher.

During the afternoon, John and Irene McClintock of Fort Bragg, Calif., telephoned their congratulations and also a surprise call from Ralph Gilbert of Seattle was received.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Eloise Elliot, Medford; Fred Miller, Vancouver, Wash., Dr. and Mrs. William Letcher and Christie and Connie, Mount Shasta; Rudy Gaynor, Weed; Lani Gaynor and Patricia Anderson, Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Galloway were married March 16, 1913 in Dodge City, Kan. She was the former Helen Callett. Later they moved to Ulysses, Kan., where they celebrated their 15th anniversary. At that time they were given a silver coffee service and handmade lace table cloth by her brother, Warren Callett. These were used at the golden anniversary.

The honored couple have lived in Klamath Falls since 1936. He was associated with the local retail lumber business here. Their family home is at 2931 Bristol Ave.
