The Oregon Tech Owl baseball Partlow said. "This is a good fourth hit by the Mile High team."

men, getting outside for only the third time this season because of the weather, played a 2-2 tie in 10 innings with the College of Siskiyous at Weed Tuesday afternoon before snow flurries and darkness won out over both clubs.

Coach Jim Partlow's Owls, small in numbers with only 14 players on the roster, have been unable to get outside to work out for three times this season due to the bad weather on the Mile High campus. "I thought we did a very good job considering the lack of work we've been able to obtain in the weather," Partlow said.

"The baseball fortunes seem to group of young men and they have a lot of desire. I used all four pitchers in the game to give them all a chance to work and to study them in game action. They did surprisingly well considering that they've had so little work off a dirt mound instead of a gym floor," he explained. The four pitchers were Jim Keller, Dave Ferrer, Louis Hunter and Marv Edwards.

The Owls scored both their runs in the first inning and it was ironically, three former Klamath Union players who came through for the Owls in the scoring column. Don Gresdel singled to chase home Bob Yungler and Marv Ed-came off the bat of outfielder Appleman.

"They scored one run in the fifth and one in the seventh tie it up," Partlow said. "I got nine hits against our four and we had some fine fielding."

"Yunc was the fielding star of the game for both teams I would say. He came up with some beautiful plays at shortstop. He started for us and went first three innings. Ferrer pitched in the fourth and worked six innings, giving up the first run. Hunter worked the seventh and gave up the other run. The words came in from the clubhouse, not to hurl the first Spahn's Stengel can't say whether it's a miracle or a mirage, but he and his New York Mets are in first place.

That's right, the hapless, helpless, hopeless Mets, who, lost a record 120 games in 1962, are 4-1-4 in the National League grapefruit League standings today. They've compiled a 149 record for a .609 percentage—a half game better than the Houston Astros and 6½ games better than league champion San Francisco Giants.

To make another comparison, the Mets' 14-9 mark is practically the opposite of the lordly world champion New York Yankees, who have only a 10-14 slate to show for their efforts this spring.

Ernie Broglio, the St. Louis Cardinals' opening-day pitcher, pitched the Mets to two hits and two runs in seven innings Tuesday but the Mets exploded like the 1927 Yankees in the eighth inning. They poured over five runs and then threw up a defense like the 1901 Athletics in the last two innings to preserve a 7-6 victory that stretched their winning streak to three games.

Home Highlights Rally

Highlighting the big rally was Cliff Cook's third homer of the spring with a runner on base. Ed Kranepool had a double and Larry Burright, Charley Neal, Mary Chonberry and Ron Hunt had singles during the rally. Bill White and Ken Boyer homered for the Cardinals.

Jim O'Toole of the Cincinnati Reds, Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves and Camilo Pascual of the Minnesota Twins all thrived in important performances during long stints on the mound. O'Toole yielded only two hits in three innings and stretched his string of scoreless innings to 22. The Reds downed the Chicago White Sox, 7-0. Eddie Kasko had four hits and rookie Pete Rose came free to lead the Reds' 14-hit attack.

Spahn and Pascual each went the route in the Braves' 5-1 triumph over the Twins. Pascual yielded a homer to Lee Maye Terrence in the first inning but then settled down to demonstrate he is ready to open the season. Spahn scattered six hits in a typical performance by the 40-year-old Milwaukee star.

Apapricio Hits Slam

Luis Apapricio hit a grand slam homer and Dick Brown also homered to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 9-2 romp over the Washington Senators. Chuck Estrada went the first seven innings for the Orioles and was tagged for five hits, including a two-run homer by Don Lock.

Two-run homers by Willie Mays and Felipe Alou carried the Giants to a 6-3 decision over the Cleveland Indians. A two-run homer by Fred Whitfield and a double by Walter Bond were the big blows for the Indians.

Ernie Fazio homered and Rusty Staub had a key double to lead the Houston Colts to a 9-3 victory over the Los Angeles Angels. Don Notebart and Hal Woodeshick held the Angels to seven hits. Bob Turley, former Yankee ace attempting a comeback, was bombed for five runs in three innings.

A's Beat Tigers

Ted Bowsfield and Ed Rakow coordinated in a four-hit rally that enabled the Kansas City Athletics to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 4-0. The A's nicked 16-game winner Hank Aguirre for two runs in the second inning and added two more against Bob Anderson in the eighth. Haywood Sullivan drove in three of the runs with two singles and a double.

Don Drysdale, Pete Richter and Ed Roebuck pitched a one-hitter as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the University of New Mexico, 4-0. In Albuquerque, N.M. Coach Pete Reiser appeared as a pinch hitter for the collegians and drove in the final Dodger run with a single.

great catch in the outfield in the 10th inning. He caught a fly through that swirling snow in near darkness."

The Owls will jump right in league action next week when they go to Ashland Tuesday to take on the powerful Southern Oregon College nine in a single game at 3 p.m. Southern Oregon already has at least eight games under its belt.

The Klamath Union Pelicans, behind the combined four-hit pitching of five reserve hurlers, downed the Weed Cougars with ease Tuesday afternoon, 8-4, for their fourth straight victory in five games.

Assistant Coach Wade Patterson, taking over for an ill Coach Bill Mansfield, used 16 players in the game, five of them pitchers, to get a better look at some who hadn't been seen under fire. Most passed with flying colors.

Patterson saved the two starting hurlers, No-Hit Rich Jackson and No-Hit Gary Benson, for the upcoming doubleheader in Roseburg Saturday, a non-conference duo.

The Pelicans, despite a shaky fifth frame by Kim Coon, were in complete command of the game all the way. Coon was the only Pelican hurler who didn't fare too well under the fire. But it was his lack of control which got him into trouble.

Patterson termed the performance of four of the five hurlers a good one and it certainly was indicative of things to come. Jim Jackson started the game and box to chase Bath across the plate.

Jackson gave up singles to the first two batters in the second but then struck out Jim Poloni and got the next two sticklers to pop up to John Gray at first.

The Pelicans had their big inning in the second when they scored six runs. The second inning seems to be their big inning in every game. Rick Horn led off with a walk and Marvin Yuncr singled to left. Lanny Guyer plated Horn with a single to left and Yuncr stole home while Guyer was being thrown out at second on an attempted steal.

Jackson ground out and Bath walked. Tom Osa reached first on an error and Kitching singled again to drive home another run.

Gray got first via an error and Vern Petrick the same way.

Horn singled and Marvin Yuncr finished the inning with a fielder's choice which cut Horn down at second.

The Pels got their final run in the fourth when Gray led off with a double to right. Petrik and Horn flied out but Marvin Yuncr singled to score Gray.

The Whitebirds got runners but no more runs going into the fifth struck out Mario Petrin but Hildreth was safe on Kitching error. Bill Duchi walked to the bags and Jim Poloni as to score Hildreth. Coon was the next two batters to walk, run in and relief pitcher Jim Poloni singled to score Poloni. Hildreth then came in to put out the

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Arnold, jing a bagful of balls on the prac- he has the equipment to win

Palmer, going contrary to all tradition, singled out newcomer Tony Lema today as a good bet to become the only golfer in history ever to win the Masters on his first try.

"I realize no first-timer ever has won here before," said the 33-year-old Palmer, who will be seeking his fourth Masters title starting Thursday, "but that doesn't mean it can't happen.

"And if it does happen, Lema could be the boy to do it. Man, have you seen some of his drives? He hits 'em clear out of sight. I like the rest of his game, too."

In On "A Pass"

Lema, a slender, good looking 29-year-old pro from Oakland, Calif., is in the Masters on "a pass." He was invited only a few weeks ago because of his outstanding play on the fall tour and is honest enough to admit his knees still are shaking a bit.

"I'm sorry if I seem preoccupied," he explained, while heeding the advice of his caddy, "but tee, "but this is my first time here and I'm still trying to get my bearings.

"I can understand why they say it takes a few years to get the feel of being in the Masters. I'm honored just to have been invited—why, some of the men in this tournament like (Gene) Sarazen and (Byron) Nelson I only know from reading about.

"A man who was invited here for the first time and didn't feel the magnitude of this event would have to be numb."

Still, there are other fine golfers besides Palmer who think the rangy Lema has an excellent chance to shatter precedent.

Lema Has Equipment

"Ordinarily, you have to stick with Palmer and some of the boys who have done it in the past," says former PGA champ Jay Hebert, "but don't sell a fellow like Lema short. I like the way he's been playing lately and

Wally Burkemo, another former PGA champ, thinks so, too.

"He's one of those long knockers who can carry most of these hills with his drives," Burkemo said. "The first time out here is always rough. You gotta get used to hitting in the water and you gotta know when to go for it and when not to.

"But if one of these new boys is going to do it, I'd put my money on Lema. He looks like he knows what to do with those 14 sticks."

Lema, winner of four tournaments last fall, has played in nine so far this year and finished in the top 10 in seven of them.
