Pepitone's Debut Highly Successful

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The New York Yankees wasted no time letting American League rivals know that Ralph Terry is as good as he looked in the World Series and Joe Pepitone may be better than Joe DiMaggio predicted.

Put the two factors together and they spell calamity for long-suffering American Leaguers who are hoping their majesties will lose the pennant this year. The AL's "shirtless ones" had hoped (1) Yankee pitching might be vulnerable and (2) the Yanks had out-smarted themselves by trading first-baseman Bill Skowron to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

But Terry and Pepitone threw plenty of cold water on those hopes Tuesday when the Yanks opened their season with an 8-2 victory over the Athletics in Kansas City. Even the fact that the Athletics were all dolled up in their new gold and green uniforms wasn't enough to make the 30,976 hometown fans confuse the with royalty.

Terry, who added two World Series victories to his 23-12 record in 1962, pitched a six-hitter and walked only one batter while Pepitone, making his varsity debut, led the Yankees' 13-hit attack with two homers and a double.

Pepitone is the 22-year-old free-swinging first-baseman who had a sensational homer-streak early in last season but who cooled off to .239 and was farmed to Richmond. His biggest booster is DiMaggio, who has assured Yankee brass that Pepitone will make the big time this year.

Pepitone hit the first pitch offered to him for a homer Tuesday and also homered in the eighth inning. Elston Howard got a homer and Bobby Richardson had a triple. Terry, meanwhile, breezed seven shutout innings before yielding solo homers in the

Celts, Royals In Crucial Playoff Tilt

BOSTON (UPI) — Nearly eight years of unchallenged rule over professional basketball reaches crisis stage tonight when the Boston Celtics face Cincinnati's upstart Royals at Boston Garden.

The National Basketball Association playoff game now is a one-shot affair for both clubs. For Boston, victory would mean an unprecedented eighth straight Eastern Division playoff tilt.

For Cincinnati, an eight-point underdog in surprisingly light wagering, an upset would mean both an end of the Boston era and the arrival of a basketball team that already has exceeded by far its own fondest dreams.

The clubs stand at three victories apiece going into this seventh playoff meeting, despite the fact that Boston whipped Cincinnati nine times in a dozen regular season games.

Athletic Club Formed In City

The Klamath Basin Athletic Association was formed during a meeting Tuesday night with the purpose in mind of aiding athletics in the Basin area.

A public meeting will be set soon with all who wish to join and lend support invited. The Herald and News sports section will carry a story announcing the site and date of that meeting.

Mason-Yost Duo Cops Tourney

PORTLAND (UPI) — Professional Bunny Mason and amateur Dick Yost of Portland combined for a 3-under-par 69 Tuesday to win the two-day Chapman System pro-amateur best ball golf tournament.

Their 36-hole score was 139. Mason won $425. Four other teams tied for second place with 142s.

REDS OPTION PLAYER
CINCINNATI (UPI) — Catcher-first baseman Don Pavletich was optioned to San Diego in the Pacific Coast League by the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday. The move enabled the Reds to reduce their roster to 27 players.

eight and ninth to Bill Bryan and Chuck Essegian.

The Chicago White Sox got an early dividend from their key winter trade in topping the Detroit Tigers, 7-5, the Los Angeles Angels beat the Red Sox, 4-1, and the Cleveland Indians shaded the Minnesota Twins, 5-4, in the other American League games.

Rookie Pete Ward and veteran relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, obtained in a winter deal with the Orioles, were the stars of the White Sox' victory. Ward hit a three-run homer in the White Sox' game-winning four-run seventh-inning rally and Wilhelm protected the lead with three innings of one-hit shutout relief ball. Joe Cunningham homered for the Sox and Gus Triandos homered and Rocky Colavito had three hits for Detroit.

Ken McBride pitched a four-hitter and struck out six for the Angels, who clobbered Bill Monbouquette for all their runs in the fifth inning. Lee Thomas' three-run homer was the big blow of the frame. Carl Yastrzemski had two of the Red Sox hits, including a homer that accounted for their run.

Woodie Held, John Romano, Max Alvis and Fred Whitfield hit homers to produce all the Indians' runs off 1962 20-game winner Camilo Pascual. Jim Grant pitched a seven-hitter for the Indians, raising his lifetime record against the Twins to 23-7.

Giants, Dodgers, Cards, Phils Win

By DICK JOYCE
UPI Sports Writer

All Art Mahaffey's got is a blazing fastball and a nickel curve, according to baseball know-it-alls, but that big hummer was good enough to get the Philadelphia Phillies off winging in the National League pennant race.

"Just let him throw that fast ball," says Phillies Manager Gene Mauch. "He doesn't need those other pitches."

The Cincinnati Reds found that out for the second straight opening day when the big right-hander pitched a four-hitter and struck out 10 in a 2-1 victory Tuesday night.

"It was just fast balls," Ma- haffey said after the game, "I threw only five breaking pitches all night."

Mahaffey, a 19-game winner for the Phillies last year, suffered from a painful right shoulder during spring training but his opening night performance apparently has dispelled any of Mauch's worries.

Defeat Joey Jay
The Phils, long-time doormat of the senior circuit but the best team in the league for the second half of last season, defeated 21-game winner Joey Jay for the second straight year on opening day. Don Demeter's single drove in the first Phillie run in the fourth inning and the clincher came in when Gordy Coleman muffed a double play ball in the sixth.

The Reds rallied in the ninth off Mahaffey when Frank Robinson singled and John Edwards doubled him home with one out. Mahaffey then settled down, striking out Gene Freese and Tommy Harper.

The National League champion San Francisco Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers, rated with Cincinnati as the top contenders for the NL flag, won their opening day contests.

Four home runs—by Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda, Willie McCovey and Felipe Alou—led the Giants to a 9-2 victory over the Houston Colts and 25-game winner Don Drysdale of the Dodgers at the Chicago Cubs, 5-1.

Broglie Pitches Two-Hitter
In other games, Ernie Broglie pitched a two-hit, 7-0 victory for the St. Louis Cardinals over the New York Mets, and Ted Savage's two-out, pinch single paced the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-2 win over the Milwaukee Braves.

Jack Sanford, a 24-game winner for the Giants last season, pitched five-hit ball for five innings before giving way to Jack Fisher, who retired all 12 Colts in order. The 90-degree heat and Sanford's base-running—he hit a triple and a single, driving in three runs—caused the Giant right-hander to tire.

The Giants raked four Houston hurriers for 17 hits, with starter Dick Farrell getting the loss.

Maury Wills of the Dodgers, the NL's most valuable player in 1962, suffered an injured ankle as he tried to score in the third and had to be replaced. Drysdale spaced 11 hits and was helped by three double plays. Rookie Ken McMullen drove home two runs for the Dodgers as Larry Jackson took the loss for Chicago.

Larry Burright of the Mets got the only hits off Broglie—in the first and ninth innings. In between, the Card right-hander set down 20 straight Mets. Bill White's homer and George Altman's four hits led the Cards' 14-hit attack—12 of them coming off Roger Craig.

Bonus baby Bob Bailey and veteran Smokey Burgess homered for the Pirates, who beat lefty Bob Hendley. Relief ace Elroy Face picked up the victory.
