Chemistry Protects Timber From Thieves

As one means of protecting federally managed timber against possible theft, the Bureau of Land Management is now employing the aid of chemistry, according to Medford district manager, Donald J. Schofield.

In timber sales where the trees are individually selected for cutting by professional foresters, the trees are spotted with a special tree-marking paint. A mark is made on the bole of the tree, so the tree fallers can readily spot it, and also on the butt, near the ground. The lower mark remains on the stump after the tree is cut and serves to show that the tree that was cut was the one intended. To discourage unauthorized use of paint, the Medford District of the Bureau of Land Management now adds a special chemical "tracer element" to all tree marking paint.

Blue paint is generally used to indicate individual trees that are to be cut. Orange paint is now used to mark trees that form the encircling boundary of a clear-cutting area in which the trees to be cut are not individually marked.

If it is suspected that trees have been illegally marked and cut, it is possible to chip paint from the stumps and have the paint analyzed. If no tracer element is revealed, paint other than that used by the BLM was employed and the theft is revealed, Schofield explained.

The tracer element used is analysis simple, fast and inexpensive. All of this adds up to better management and protection of the public's forest by the Bureau of Land Management, Schofield said.

Meet Held By Grange

SUMMER LAKE — Summer Lake Grange met in regular session Saturday evening, April 20, with 13 members present. Guests included John Githner and son, Dan, Klamath Falls; F. A. Frazer, Fort Rock; and state steward and district deputy, Roy Means, and his wife of Redmond. The secretary, Diane Elder, was instructed to write a letter to all members of the House Taxation Committee protesting the proposed property tax on fraternal buildings.

In addition to remarks by Means, Jeanne Webber, Fort Rock, played two piano selections, "In a Persian Market" and "Alley Cat." Judy Irwin, Fort Rock, and Ronnie Markus, Silver Lake, gave their winning soil conservation speeches; and Susan Claggett gave a recitation on Easter.

Viewing the program were Mrs. Freda Thayer, Mrs. Glenn Irwin and Don Aardappel, Fort Rock, and Mrs. John Githner.

Youth Missing Since Sunday

HOOD RIVER (UPI) — There was no organized search today for James Thomas Atkins, 16, Parkdale, missing since Sunday near Hood River.

Sheriff Rupert Gilmouth said there were no new leads in the boy's disappearance. He left his home last Sunday and told a sister he was going to a lava bed to look for rocks.

Sheriff Gilmouth said he was later sighted in a movie at Hood River.

A search through Tuesday failed to turn up any leads. The missing boy was described as husky and 190 pounds.
