

KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON, SUNDAY, MAY 5, 1963

The Call Of The Long, Long Road

With the final melting of winter snows, the armchair adventurer reaches for his cap and trades one armchair for another behind the wheel of a 200-horsepower highway juggernaut.

Aboard this snorting steed he rides, like Don Quixote jousting windmills, down the highways in search of new worlds to conquer. Today's page of pictures is devoted to highway scenes between Klamath Falls and Eugene.

THE LONG ROAD BECKONS

SPRING CREEK AT COLLIER PARK

COLLIER PARK LOGGING MUSEUM

COMING OUT OF THE TUNNEL

HAGELSTEIN PARK FROM HIGHWAY

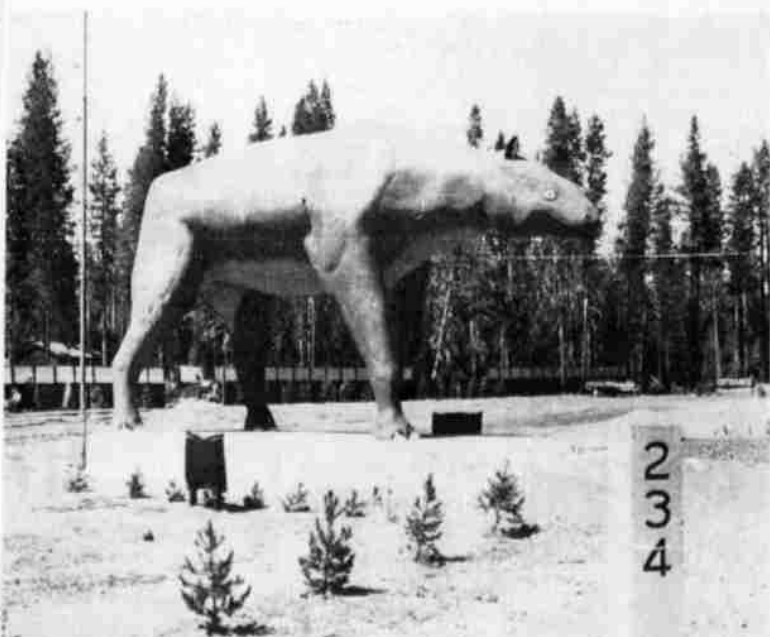

BRIDGE ACROSS BARCLAY SPRINGS

QUIET WATER AT HAGELSTEIN PARK

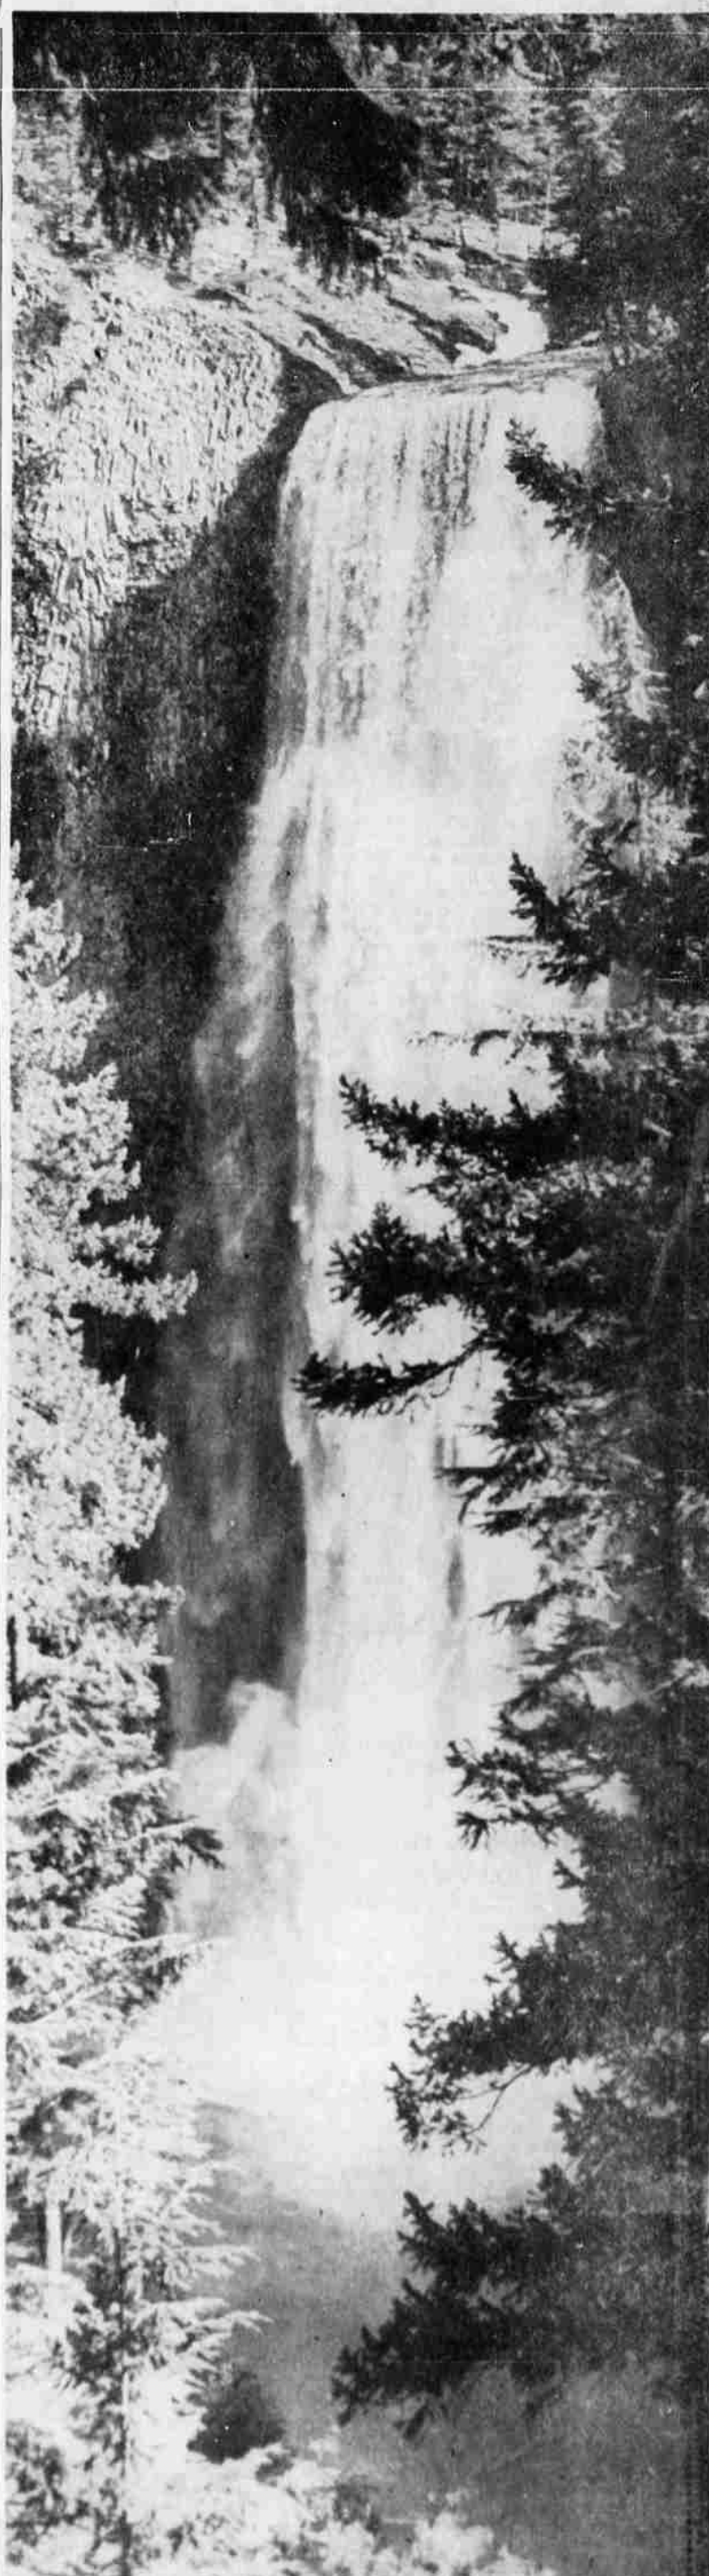

WHITE WATER TUMBLES IN STREAMS

PREHISTORIC ANIMALS STARE AT TRAVELER

PORTALS OF PAST MUSEUM

SALT CREEK FALLS ON HIGHWAY 58