

House Okay To Surplus Grain Curb Seen Victory For JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Representatives today approved a bill designed to make the wheat plan more attractive to farmer-voters, and the Senate is expected to pass it before May 21, the date provisions of a 1962 law granting more flexible acreage controls on wheat will expire. Opponents of the wheat control program for 1964 plan to change a House-passed bill to curb surplus feed grain production. The current struggle over the bill involved timing Democratic

Right Play Makes Bid

By OSWALD JACOBY

 "When worse contracts are reached," mumbled South when he saw dummy, "I expect to be declared."

Meanwhile, North wandered around the table to look at South's hand. This is not good bridge etiquette, but it happens all too often.

"Where did you find that immediate two no-trump bid?" yelled North.

"The same place you found your jump to six," replied South. "Keep still and let me see what I can do with this mess."

After that peroration South proceeded to make the slam and there was nothing East and West could do about it.

South figured out that there was one combination of cards that would allow him to make six no-trump and then gave the cards a chance.

He took the first spade, led a heart and finessed dummy's jack. Then he laid down the ace and king of diamonds and dropped East's queen. Now he cashed dummy's three high clubs to see if the jack would fall. Then back to his hand with the ten of diamonds for another heart finesse. Eventually he conceded the last trick, but scored game, slam and rubber.

"The luckiest so-and-so alive," grumbled East.

"A lucky player would have dropped the jack of clubs and made seven," replied South.

Shasta Legion Names Officers

MOUNT SHASTA — Craft Post No. 157, American Legion, and Unit No. 157, American Legion Auxiliary, recently elected officers for the 1963-64 year.

Post officers are Philip Goggin, commander; Dave Peterson, first vice commander; John Kinstry, second vice commander; and John Codomo, third vice commander.

Other officers include Howard Simcox, adjutant; Cathy Sehorn, historian; and Arnold Durkee, sergeant-at-arms.

Auxiliary heads are Rilla Peterson, president; Barbara Simcox, first vice president; Reita Bassett, second vice president; Sylvia Sehorn, secretary; and Mrs. Petrie Fitzgerald, treasurer.

KENNEDY DOLLS — The JFK Musical Rocker, that rocks and plays Happy Days Are Here Again, is pictured with some of the first models of the Japanese-made toy. The manufacturers were told to use their own judgment on costumes but to keep it dignified. They sent back several samples, shown here, of what they thought the U.S. President would wear during a 24-hour period.

Obscenity Law Revision Okayed In Oregon House

SALEM (UPI) — A revision of the Oregon anti-obscenity law was approved by the House today with only 11 dissenting votes.

The House - passed measure, however, differed widely from the bill that cleared the Senate earlier. It will have to return to the Senate in an effort to iron out differences.

Two law enforcement officers warned that the House - passed version contains "loopholes" that will make it ineffective and perhaps unconstitutional.

The Senate version was brief, leaving it up to a jury to define obscene matter.

The House Judiciary Committee rewrote the bill, adding definitions of obscene matter, and adding certain "defenses" where a person would be innocent under the law.

Rep. Shirley Field, R-Portland, said the House version was based on language from the American Law Institute and had stood up in court tests in other states.

She called the Senate version "open to legal question . . . a pig in a poke."
