Street Project Policy Protested At Council

they're right or wrong, but I think we should consider postponing final reading and investigate this more thoroughly. Let's find out if it will work hard- ships and result in many lots being turned back to the city."

Councilman Chet Hamaker in whose ward the street lies, objected, stating, "I have had just as many calls for the project." He added, "Absentee owners have called me and urged the project go through."

He agreed to hold up final reading on the project for two weeks for the continued study.

Kyle reported that with the new objections, there were now 34 and two-thirds per cent of the area opposing the project.

Councilman James Barnes, who lives on an unpaved street himself, said, "I believe that if we had improvement we would see more building on this street. I would be opposed to strip paving. It is a makeshift thing and incurs hardship in maintenance. Improvement added to the value of the property, and, I agree, raises the taxes."

Councilman Ladd Hoyt disagreed with the delay, commenting, "It will happen on any street you pave, it will hurt someone."

However, in the voting, all approved the two-week delay on the Laguna project.

The Warden Street opposition was led by a quartet of women residents who informed the council that it would work a decided hardship on them. Kyle had pre- pared the discussion with a res- ume of the project, pointing out that the first three blocks from Delta to Shelley had been started by petition but that the council had added the last two blocks, from Shelley to Lytton. It was in this area, he explained, that the objections arose principally.

Roberta McGee protested the paving as a financial problem, saying that when she called the city manager about what she should do about her vacant lots, he told her to sell them. She said, "When I explained that I couldn't do this because of a tax situation, he told me I must be loaded. I'm not loaded, but I am a single woman with two children to raise and cannot raise the money for this project."

Mrs. Paul Matney told the council that she has four chil- dren, and that if the project goes through they will have to move out since they cannot af- ford the cost. She explained that they had traded a trailer for a small home that hadn't been lived in for two years, and we're trying to fix it up as a home.

Frances L. Paradis, a widow, also expressed opposition to it on the grounds it would work a hardship.

George Knight, 1619 Worden, commented, "If it is going to work a hardship in that area, let's drop the last two blocks."

Mrs. Victor Murdoch, 1920 Worden, also objected and inquired as to why these two lots could not be left out and included in a future project whenever Lytton is paved.

Despite objections voiced by Lloyd Wilson, 1125 Addison, and Ed Jolly, 1125 Prescott, Councilman Hoyt moved to drop the last two blocks from the project, and all voted for the motion except Councilman Barnes.

Bids were opened on the storm sewer project for Pershing Way and Avalon area and tabulated by the council. Eight firms submitted bids.

Low total bidder was the A. H. Patterson Company of Klamath Falls at $29,786.20. Other bidders and their totals were Frank T. Matthews, Portland, $30,397.55; Klamath Plumbing, Klamath Falls, $31,454.35; P. J. Bush, Col- tage Grove, $31,463.92; Inter-City Construction Company, Eugene, $32,852.88; W. M. Ausland, Grants Pass, $36,945.70; Rex Kimsey Con- struction Company, Stayton, $42,269.85, and W. D. Miller, Klamath Falls, $44,988.75.

The council awarded the bid to A. H. Patterson, low bidder.

Public hearing on condemnation of three buildings on Michi- gan owned by Dr. Phillip A. Cole was continued to June 3. An or- dering condemning two buildings owned by A. D. Lambert on Michi- gan was given first and second reading.

Monday, July 1, was the date set for public hearings on va- cating a portion of Hilltop Street in McLoughlin Heights, and va- cating a portion of Urban Road in McLoughlin Heights.

A bid of $918.22 by Herman Sample to construct a cement curb around the Conger-California playground was accepted by the council.

A zone change request by Rich- ard Lockrem just off East Main was objected to by a petition with 35 signatures representing more than 60 per cent of the residents within a 200 - foot area of the property involved. The Planning Commission recommended denial of the zone change but the council agreed to set a pub- lic hearing on the request. Councilman Chet Hamaker explained that this was to clear the air of misunderstandings as to the request.

Six Youths Arrested For Liquor Possession

Six Klamath Falls youths were arrested at 6:30 p.m. Monday on charges of minor in possession after they apparently sped away from a patrol car and drove behind the Hillside Hospital and then refused to come out of their vehicle when they were told they were under arrest.

The car the youths were in was spotted on Alameda Avenue near Esplanade with no license plate and a loud exhaust. When the pa- troldman in the squad car turned to stop the vehicle it sped away and was driven behind the hos- pital, according to the police re- port.

When the squad car arrived at the hospital the patrolmen were approached by an orderly who said he observed one of the youths throw a beer bottle out of the car window. Another witness, Thelma Lovelace, said she also observed the bottle being thrown.

All six occupants, who were under 21 years of age, were ar- rested for minor in possession and lodged in the city jail.

Wayne H. Johnson, who owned the car, was also cited for failure to display a license plate and disorderly conduct for having a billy club in the car.

Other occupants arrested were George L. Miller, 19, minor in possession; Jack Arthur Martin, 18, driver of the car, minor in possession and excessive exhaust noise; John Byron Tompkins, 20, minor in possession; Ted Puckett, 20, minor in possession and drunk, and a 17-year-old juvenile, minor in possession and breaking glass on a street.

The accident resulted as Jo-achim Karl Emil Pommerene, 33, on Mountain View, Calif., trav- eling eastbound on Johns Avenue, showed down to stop for a hitch- hiker when his car was struck in the rear by an automobile driven by Rosetta Mae Crain, of 1630 Homedale Road.

Miss Crain, accompanied by three passengers who were not identified, said later that she was unable to stop in time to avoid colliding with Pommerene's ve- hicle. The car operated by the woman motorist is registered to Winifred Hicks.

Both automobiles were removed to a local towing company at the request of the motorists.

Sheriff's Trial Date Postponed To June 17

In circuit court early today, Sheriff Murray "Red" Britton was instructed by Judge Donald A. W. Piper to appear in court 10 a.m. Monday, June 17, for a hearing on a demurrer involving contempt of court charges filed against him late last month.

Earlier this month, the sheriff had been ordered to answer the charges today in Judge David B. Vandenberg's court, but the mat- ter was transferred to the court of Judge Piper, who continued the proceedings until the June date. Judge Vandenberg has been on leave from the bench since May 13.

Sheriff Britton has been named in affidavits signed by deputy district attorney Bob Thomas and Irene M. Allison, juror in the criminal case of Oregon vs. Robert Huit, which requested the court to charge the sheriff with contempt of court. At that time, Judge Vandenberg received the affidavits and instructed Sheriff Britton to appear in court today and state why he should not be held in contempt.

The sheriff had been cited for discussing the Huit trial with Mrs. Allison, a member of the jury sitting in judgment of the case. As a result of the conver- sation, Judge Vandenberg de- clared a mistrial for Huit upon the recommendation of both the district attorney's office and the defense attorney.

The affidavits charge that Brit- ton joined Mrs. Allison in the elevator at the courthouse while the trial was in process and the pair proceeded to the second floor. Britton then pushed the "stop" button and halted the elevator between two floors. Mrs. Allison's affidavit states. He is then alleged to have presented Mrs. Allison with a letter written by Huit and began discussing the case with her, the document says further.

In the other complaint, Thomas states that Britton later pre- sented him with the letter to be used as evidence in the trial. Thomas declined to receive the letter, after which the sheriff commented that he had made known its contents to Mrs. Allison.

Huit, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, is accused of wounding Howard Wise in the leg with a bullet discharged from a rifle following a drinking party at the defendant's residence in the Agency.

The June 10 date had previously been suggested and agreed upon by the Klamath County School District board.

In other business, the elementary board authorized completion of the flood light project at O'Neill School. A total of $300 had been allocated for the lights.

The board also agreed that the heating system at Riverside School will be changed from a coal furnace, but it is yet unde- cided whether it will be replaced by gas or oil heat.
