Take this baby powder test

for your baby's comfort and protection

Other leading baby powder: Smooth it on your finger. Dip it into a glass of water. Notice: the powder washes right off... the skin gets all wet. This leading baby powder cannot protect your baby from moisture and from the diaper irritation it causes.

Z.B.T. Baby Powder: Smooth Z.B.T. on your finger. Dip it into a glass of water. Amazingly, there's not a drop of water on the skin protected by Z.B.T. And that's exactly how Z.B.T. keeps your baby's skin dry, "Moisture Proof," protected against diaper irritation.

WAS IT YOU?

That's what SMOKEY wants to know! Was it YOU who threw the cigarette from your car or dropped your match after lighting up?

Every year careless smokers are responsible for one of every five man-caused forest fires!

When your trash fire spreads out of control, you know you've done wrong! But smokers start fires and never know it! They're gone before the fire starts!

You see, a cigar or cigarette butt is like a time bomb. It smolders for a while before the leaves or needles where it lies are warmed enough to flame. A playful breeze may help it along. Then, in no time at all, a spark you could crush under your heel has grown to be a searing, roaring demon, killing the life in its path!

Remember - only YOU can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

Time Marches On!

The games are the same, the cake,
the punch,
The bride-to-be's feigned surprise,
The inevitable towels and coffeepots,
All things that I recognize.

Nothing is changed, and yet to me
This shower is like no other;
For I'm not here as friend of the bride,
Alas, I'm a friend of her mother!

Quips and Quotes

You Aren't THE William Shakespeare, Are You?

My wife has a peculiar quirk. Barring Smiths and Joneses, she is unable to believe that any two people can have the same name and not be the same person.

The other day she saw a headline stating that a Dick Johnson had broken a pole-vault record. "How exciting!" she exclaimed. "I'm going to phone and congratulate him."

"Huh?" I said, perplexed, and then it dawned on me. "Look," I explained, "it's not the Dick Johnson I play poker with. He's 55, has asthma, and weighs 235 pounds. He couldn't vault a fire hydrant!"

"But it said Dick Johnson," she insisted.

"Another Dick Johnson," I screamed. Just as I've tried to explain that our maid, Elsie Harper, isn't the same Elsie Harper who writes mystery novels and that our mailman, John Williams, isn't the man wanted by the FBI.

But my spouse goes further than that. If people have the same last names, she is sure they are close relatives. This forces me to explain that Mary Shore, the librarian, isn't Dinah's sister, and she can't get us tickets to television shows; that our butcher, Gus Morgan, isn't of the J.P. Morgan family; and that Ruth Glenn, who runs a dress shop, isn't John's sister.

Next thing you know my wife will claim that just because a person is named Kennedy, it means he's in the gov . . . Well, on second thought I may give up trying to straighten her out. We're all entitled to one good quirk. —Parke Cummings

One of the longest periods of time for a mother is the week between the end of school and the beginning of summer camp.

At least some of our dollars are going further these days—all the way to outer space. —Jan Shurluck

The Stenos in Our Office

Half the time they're chattering,
Repairing nails or hose,
Quenching their thirst or sizing up
One another's clothes.

But enter the office bachelor
(Tall, handsome, dark, and slim)
And look at the way they go to work—
On him. —Ruth Chadwick
