Prices High At Show Sale

ALTURAS—In spite of a downpour of rain that moved more than 300 spectators from the bleachers to the barns, FFA and 4-H showmen gained top dollar for their fat stock at the final day of the 15th Annual Junior Livestock Show.

Thirty five steers, 53 fat lambs and 18 fat hogs were sold by auctioneer Aaron Stockton. The grand champion steer, shown by 4-H member Althea Baird of Alturas, received a high bid of 46 cents per pound. The grand champion was purchased by the Warner Hotel and John Kelley Meat Packing Company.

Western Stores of Alturas bought the reserve champion steer, shown by Andy Olson of Madeline, for 41 cents per pound. The average steer price was 30 cents per pound.

The grand champion hog, shown by 4-H member Paul Savage of Alturas, brought a top 55 cents a pound and was bought by Dr. Mel Horning. The reserve champion, owned by FFA member Bill Baird of Alturas, was purchased for 40 cents a pound by the Loveness Lumber Company of Canby, Calif. The hogs sold for an average of 39 cents per pound.

David Starr, showing his champion fat lamb, gained 60 cents a pound from Don Flournoy and sons of Likely, Calif. The Modoc Co-Op of Alturas purchased the reserve champion from John Picotte of the Alturas FFA for 43 cents per pound. The sale average on the sheep was 35 cents per pound.

Many Seek Last Refuge In 'Gamblers Anonymous' Groups

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Telephone directories in many big American cities have a listing of "Gamblers Anonymous." This organization is the last refuge of the compulsive gambler, the man in whom the urge to gamble has become so strong that he is a psychiatric case.

The other day I looked up Gamblers Anonymous in the Washington telephone book and dialed Regent 7-6800. Ninety minutes later I was sitting in a parked car talking to a compulsive gambler who found his own salvation while poised on the dark brink of suicide.

"The 'anonymous' in gamblers anonymous means what it says. No member of the organization is allowed to reveal his identity or that of any other member in a newspaper story, a magazine article or a television broadcast. They're trying to make new lives for themselves, many of them hold good jobs and they don't want anybody to rake up the past and use it against them.

"Just call me Ed W.," said the man sitting next to me in the parked car. "I know I'm cured now and it wouldn't hurt me personally to be identified, but it's the rule of our organization."

Still Paying Debts

"I'm retired now and have a small income. But I'm still paying off my gambling debts so I've taken a part-time selling job. I might as well be frank about it, I was a compulsive gambler for 30 years. Any kind of gambling, horses, craps, cards, roulette, but mostly at the horse tracks. I don't think I missed a track in the United States, and I figured out the other day that I must have lost between $75,000 and $100,000. "Anyway, a couple of years ago I owed about $10,000. I had done everything. Sold my war bonds, borrowed from the banks, put my life insurance in hock.

"Sometimes you win, but most of the time you lose. Once I had a big day at the Pimlico track and won $6,000. I owed money all over the place, but it never occurred to me to settle up with my creditors. I was saving that $6,000 to gamble some more and eventually my bookie got all of it. I lost it all in four days.

"That was my last stop. I began to develop suicidal tendencies. There wasn't much communication between me and my wife. I went to a clergyman and a doctor, but they didn't seem to help much. Then one day my wife was reading in a magazine, something about gambling called "A Tiger On His Back," and it told about Gamblers Anonymous.

Cured On The Spot

"She called them up and took me to a meeting. I listened to those men tell about their troubles. Don't ask me to explain how it happened but right there in that meeting I got cured. I haven't touched a card or been to a race track since. I'm still in debt for about $5,000—this car isn't even fully paid for—but I'm cutting down the debt all the time. And, brother, do I feel like a new man. I'm really living now for the first time. As long as I live I'll never forget April 6, 1962. That's the day my wife took me to Gamblers Anonymous."

Psychiatrists know compulsive gamblers are sick men and they have all sorts of fancy names and explanations for the ailment. Ed W. doesn't know about those things, and his explanation is simple: "You just don't give a damn about anything except gambling. Day and night it's the only thing on your mind and nothing else matters."

URGES BAN ON TESTS

LONDON (UPI) — Anglican Canon John Collins, head of the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament (CND), called on France and the Soviet Union Tuesday night to match President Kennedy's announced suspension of atmospheric nuclear tests.

In a cable to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, Collins said "We are pressing our own government and the government of France to make a similar declaration."

National headquarters for Gamblers Anonymous is in Los Angeles (Address: P.O. Box 17173), and it was founded in 1957 by Jim W., who previously had been a member of Alcoholics Anonymous. There are no dues and the organization exists entirely on voluntary donations. A financial statement for last February showed expenses of $747.67, which left the headquarters $309.42 in the red for the month.
