

Beavers' Krausse Winner

By United Press International
Portland's Lew Krausse is the winner over Tacoma's Bob Garibaldi in the latest battle of the bonus babies.

The two hurlers, who reputedly lugged $275,000 to the bank between them for signing bonus contracts for Kansas City and San Francisco, tangled Tuesday night at Portland and Krausse emerged victorious in a homer-spattered 6-4 battle.

It marked the Beavers' debut under new pilot Danny Carnevale and was a big win for Portland. Their win over the northern division leaders pushed them to within 4 1/2 games of the top.

Padres Slip

In other action, former Stanford pitcher Marv Mecklenburg hurled Dallas-Ft. Worth to a 6-2 win over San Diego to increase the Rangers' southern division lead to three full games.

Oklahoma City bopped Hawaii 5-3 at Honolulu; Salt Lake edged Denver 7-6 and Seattle nudged Spokane 2-1.

Krausse's win gave him a 5-4 record, while Garibaldi is now 6-4. Bill Kern sparked the Beaver attack with a pair of homers, while solo shots were belted by the Giants' Bill Hain, Jimmy Hart and Jerry Robinson.

Mecklenburg, a lefty, is 6-1 after his easy win over the Padres. George Banks belted a pair of homers for Dallas-Ft. Worth and Joe Christian added another round tripper to the Dallas-Ft. Worth attack.

The loss dropped San Diego into third, a percentage point back of Oklahoma City. But the Pads have to play Dallas-Ft. Worth six more games in the current series.

Three in Sixth

Oklahoma decided its contest against Hawaii by pushing three runs across in the sixth inning. Glenn Vaughn's triple, and singles by Carroll Hardy, Dave Roberts, and Von McDaniel accounted for the scoring. Hardy and Glenn Vaughn had three hits apiece for the 6th.

Cuno Barragan singled home the winning run in the ninth inning to give Salt Lake its win over Denver.

The win came despite a four-homer barrage by the Bears including fourmasters by Lou Klimchick, Phil Roof, J. W. Porter and Ray Whitford.

Warner in Relief

But Salt Lake singles and walks accounted for three runs in the first and three more in the third. Jack Warner picked up the victory for Salt Lake in relief.

Seattle's Don Helfner outpitched Spokane's Phil Ortega, although both Rainier runs off Ortega were unearned.

Rac Slider scored the go ahead when a throw from the outfield which appeared to have him beat hit him in the back instead.

Attendance Up

Meanwhile, the whole league got good news from President Dewey Soriano, who announced that attendance is up 23 per cent this year, even figuring in the two new teams.

He said Spokane's 180 per cent rise in attendance was the league's best and also cited rises in Hawaii, Seattle, San Diego and Tacoma. Portland and Salt Lake, hard hit by bad weather all year, have suffered minor decreases.

Soriano also said that the anticipated increase in travel costs in the far-flung league have failed to materialize because of the division of the league into two divisions.

Snead May Be Taking Last Crack At Open Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — This once again for a shot at the one could be the last time around for old Sammy Snead in the U.S.

Open golf championship.

Sam had had his Open hopes buried more times than one of these movie cadavers and, at 51, he admits it's getting tougher all the time. But here he is back at Brookline, Mass., June 20-22.

"God knows how bad I've wanted to win this tourney in all those other years," Sam said in that honey West Virginia drawl of his. "It sure would be nice if I could make it this time, but I know it'll be a grind with all those good young players around."

Only 11 players among the 129 who won Open berths through a second qualifying round at 13 sites on Monday and Tuesday shot better golf than Snead. They were topped by a sparkling 69-64-133

by Dow Finsterwald at the Clover-brook Country Club in Cincinnati.

The veteran Fred Wampler of St. Louis had a 69-66-135 at the Indian Hills Country Club in Kansas City and Gardiner Dickinson, another tourney pro, had a 69-67-135 at the Detroit Golf Club.

Those were the top scores but most were turned in against mediocre qualifying fields, while Snead was shooting with some of the best pros on the tour at suburban Westchester, where golf's elite are gathered for the start of the $100,000 Thunderbird classic

Thursday.

As it was, unheralded Bob Schoener of Bethlehem, Pa., was tops in the New York field, where 45 players qualified, with a 69-70-130.

Some of the game's stars who failed to qualify at New York were former PGA champions Jim Ferrier and Jim Turnesa, Bob

Toski, Jerry Steelsmith, Don Whit, Bill Collins, Bo Winger,

Ken Venturi and George Knudson, while Lew Worsham, failed at Pittsburgh, Jerry Barber missed out at Bakersfield, Calif., and Shelly Mayfield was a casualty at Fort Worth.

Ed Furgol, shooting on his home course in Export, Pa., carded a

73-66-139 to share honors with fellow Pennsylvanian Schoener for

Tuesday's second-best scores.

RIDES THREE WINNERS

STANTON, Del. (UPI) — Jockey Charlie Burr rode three winners

Tuesday at Delaware Park, scoring with Kings Pet ($14.20), Ferrous Sout ($6.60) and Frankie Nod ($4.60).

"I don't think they know what they are doing," said Daly, who revealed that only last week he was told he and Ortiz would be given a hearing at the WBA convention at Miami Beach, Fla., in August.

"Now they turn around and take the title away from Carlos," he added.

Daly said that Ortiz hasn't agreed to defend against Lane because "they've been offering us peanuts."

"A promoter in Muskegon offered us $30,000 for the fight," he said. "That's not even half enough. Carlos got $63,000 for his

WBA Strips Carlos Ortiz Of World Lightweight Hat

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — last title defense (against Doug Vaillant) in San Juan."

Anthony Petronella, former WBA president and currently chairman of the association's rating committee, also expressed surprise at the WBA action.

"I think they should have given Ortiz a hearing first," he said in Providence, R.I. "He may have some solid arguments why he has not fought Lane."

Petronella revealed he wired Larson as soon as he learned of the title stripping, asking the WBA prexy to "postpone the Ortiz matter until a hearing is granted all parties concerned."

Ortiz, currently vacationing in San Juan, has defended twice since winning the lightweight crown from Joe Brown on a 15-round decision on April 21, 1962.

He knocked out Japan's Tetsuo Kozaka in the fifth round at Tokyo last Dec. 3 and then scored a 13th round kayo over Vaillant at San Juan on April 17.

MacPhail, Hitchcock To Protest Pitching Mistake By Cleveland

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Club president Lee MacPhail and manager Billy Hitchcock of the Baltimore Orioles said today they will protest Tuesday night's loss to the Cleveland Indians, but both admitted it looked like a situation in which "the smart fellows lose."

Chagrined manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Indians, who forgot one of the simplest rules in baseball, and plate umpire Nestor Chylak agreed.

"We're protesting the game on two grounds," said MacPhail and Hitchcock. "But we doubt that the protest will be allowed."

"I believe in being brief," said Tebbetts, in explaining his role in the 'he's in, he's out' pitching changeover that touched off the protest. "I'll tell you in three words: I was stupid."

"The only guy who didn't foul up was Hitchcock," continued Tebbetts. "And he lost. So what good does it do to be smart?"

The situation developed in the last half of the ninth inning of the Indians' 9-5 victory over the Orioles. There were two out, the bases were filled and Jim Gentile was the batter.

Tebbetts walked to the mound and brought in Bob Allen to replace pitcher Jim Grant, who had allowed 10 hits in 8 2-3 innings. Allen made two pitches — both balls — to Gentile and Tebbetts immediately called in Ted Abernathy.

Abernathy reached the mound, stepped on the pitcher's plate and prepared to pitch to Gentile. Then Hitchcock made his appearance and reminded Chylak that the rules state a relief pitcher must complete pitching to at least one batter before another relief pitcher can be called into the game.

That meant, in effect, that the Indians had two pitchers in the game at the same time.

Recalls Allen

Chylak resolved the issue by recalling Allen to the mound. Allen completed the walk to Gentile, forcing in the Orioles' fifth run of the game, and then Abernathy returned to retire Russ Snyder for the final out.

MacPhail and Hitchcock said they were protesting because (1) Rule 3-05-B says a relief pitcher must complete pitching to the first batter he faces and (2) Rule 8-03 stipulates that a relief pitcher can take only eight warmup pitches whereas Abernathy had a total of 16.

Hitchcock spent a half-hour studying the rule book after the game and added another comment:

"If the protest were allowed, I don't know where we'd resume play but we'd have everything to gain and nothing to lose if it goes through."

"It was just an oversight," said Chylak, "just an oversight."

It's American League president Joe Cronin's baby now.

Oregon, OSU Track Teams Gather For Meet

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — Oregon's defending champion Ducks and the Oregon State Beavers arrived here by plane Tuesday for the three-day NCAA track championship meet.

Oregon will enter 19 men and Oregon State 13 in the competition, which will get under way Thursday.

The Ducks and Beavers shared the chartered flight with trackmen from Washington State and Idaho. Also aboard were some 30 Oregon boosters.

Making the trip for Oregon were Keith Forman, Mel Renfro, Ray Van Asten, Paul Stuber, Terry Llewellyn, John Burns, Archie San Romani, Mike Lehner, Les Tipton, Dan Tonn, Dave Steen, Clayton Steinke, Dave Blunt, Lewis Powell, Barry Adams, Ron Gomez, Marty Frank, Bob Watson and Vic Reeve.

Representing Oregon State were Lynn Eves, Rusty Brown, Norm Hoffman, Jan Underwood, Morgan Groth, Jerry Brady, Rich Cuddihy, Tom Wyatt, Jim Roelme, Marv Radloff, Lou Fasano, Gary Stenlund and Steve Pauly.

Forman, who has the nation's best college mile time this spring, has had the flu and is expected to compete only in the steeplechase.

The only final event Thursday will be the six-mile. Oregon Coach Bill Bowerman has entered three men—Clayton Steinke, Mike Lehner and Dan Tonn.

The Webfoots' best pole vaulter, Garry Moto, remained home with an injury.
