Lamb Gaining In Popularity

BUTTERFLIED LEG OF LAMB
Have butcher bone out leg of lamb and slit leg lengthwise to spread it flat like a thick steak. Prepare marinade of French Dressing or lemon juice and butter and pour over lamb in shallow pan. Let stand 1 hour or more. Sprinkle generously with seasoned salt and 1/2 teaspoon lamb herbs. Place marinated lamb fat side up over hot coals and broil 45 minutes to 1 hour 15 minutes, basting with marinade and turning to brown both sides. Broil to desired doneness. Just before meat is done, place pineapple slices on squares of heavy duty foil and heat for last 5 minutes. Brown sugar and cinnamon may be sprinkled over hot pineapple rings before serving.

Remove lamb from grill and cut across grain into thick slices and serve hot with pineapple.

Commercially packed; or try dry mint flakes, rosemary and dry grated orange peel.

THICK LAMB RIB CHOPS
Rib chops should be cut 1 to 1 1/2 inches thick for best flavor and juiciness. French the bone ends of chops and wrap in foil to prevent charring. Rub grill with piece of lamb fat. Arrange chops on grill and cook over glowing coals eight to ten minutes on each side. To determine when chops have cooked to the desired degree, make a small slit next to the bone. Chops are at their best when meat is slightly pink. Season just before serving. For different flavor, chops may be marinated before cooking or served with lemon butter.

Lemon butter (for eight) — 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash or two of tabasco sauce, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Let butter soften in bowl. Work with fork until creamy. Add salt, tabasco sauce, parsley. Slowly add lemon juice and blend.
