

Cardinals Pay Tribute To Memory Of Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — More than 60 cardinals, one of whom probably will be chosen as pontiff next week, paid tribute Saturday to the memory of Pope John XXIII before a red-draped catafalque bearing the three-tiered papal crown.

U.S.-Haiti Relations Hit New Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United States' relations with Haiti were at a new low today with Haiti's announcement that U.S. Ambassador Raymond L. Thurston was unwelcome.

At the same time the Haitian government requested Thurston's "withdrawal," it said Dr. Louis Mars, the Haitian ambassador to Washington, will not return to the United States.

This leaves the United States and Haiti without ambassadors to each other, but the embassies in Washington and Port au Prince will continue to be staffed and run by the charges d'affaires.

The United States could appoint another ambassador to Haiti, but the State Department has not yet decided whether to do so.

Both Thurston and Mars were in their respective capitals for consultation when the announcement was made Friday night. The State Department said Thurston is expected to return to Port au Prince for a few days to "take leave" of the diplomatic corps there and wind up his personal affairs.

U.S. officials were mystified over the timing of the Haitian announcement, but said it appeared to be a delayed reaction to the events of last May, when U. S. fleet units and 2,000 Marines were sent close to the island to protect Americans from possible violence.

From May 15, the day U.S. officials contended Haitian President Francois Duvalier's legal term of office expired, until June 3, the United States gave the Haitian government a diplomatic "silent treatment," suspending formal diplomatic contacts.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Singer Bing Crosby's son, Philip, has been sued for divorce by his former showgirl wife, Sandra, on the grounds of grievous mental suffering.

Crosby, 29, and then showgirl Sandra Drummond were married Sept. 25, 1958, in Las Vegas, Nev. They separated once and reunited before their last separation Dec. 4, 1962.

Action On Constitution Expected In Few Days

PORTLAND (UPI) — Action will be taken in the next few days to place the proposed revised Oregon Constitution on the 1964 general election ballot, the Citizens Committee for Constitutional Revision decided Friday night.

The group's executive committee composed of several members of the State Commission on Constitutional Revision and a number of other interested citizens, made the decision after a meeting here. The first step will be to determine whether the initiative process can be used legally for the purpose, according to former Gov.

Goldwater Seen Ahead

PORTLAND (UPI) — A Kentucky industrialist told the Associated Oregon Industries Friday that Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., would sweep the country if he ran for president today.

Raymond Watkins, executive vice president of the Associated Industries of Kentucky, was a principal luncheon speaker at the annual meeting of the Oregon industrialists. Watkins said he believed Goldwater could gain all 112 electoral votes from the South as a conservative, which would defeat President Kennedy.

Turning to industry, he said a community should not offer an industry free land, buildings, or low taxes but should seek the type that will enhance the community and is beneficial to all.

Mental Ills View Given

SALEM (UPI) — Mental health problems should be dealt with on a private and community basis and only when these are exhausted should the state help, Dr. Joseph H. Treleven told representatives from Oregon's 17 mental health clinics here Friday.

Dr. Treleven, administrator of the state Mental Health Division, said also there was some reluctance on the part of communities to accept this responsibility. He said there will be more emphasis on community service for the mentally disturbed in the future.

The role of the state will be to assist and direct establishment and expansion of clinics and to set standards for their operation, he said.

Several Groups Said To Be Uniting Together To Spearhead Movement To Bring About Referral Of State's Tax Boost

SALEM (UPI) — An attempt to refer the 1963 Legislature's $60 million tax increase package will be made "by several groups uniting together," the editor of the Albany Greater Oregon told UPI today.

J. Francis Howard, editor of the weekly newspaper, said he was not now in a position to identify the groups.

"There will be petitions, I can assure that," Howard said.

If 21,185 signatures are obtained on referral petitions, a special election would be held in October so voters could either reject or put their stamp of approval on the tax increase.

The recently adjourned legislature adopted a revenue program which included a $40 million increase in state personal income taxes.

The legislature also set aside $300,000 and an October date for a special election in case the tax package was referred.

Howard said he expected former State Rep. W. H. Gwin of Albany to be active in the referral movement.

Gwin spearheaded the successful 1959 referral of legislative action which would have removed federal taxes as a deduction for computing state income taxes.

Assistance Offered
Gwin was not available today for comment.

Howard told UPI "If Gwin asks our assistance, we will give it."

Howard's firm also publishes the Benton County Herald in Corvallis.

Both the Corvallis and Albany weeklies commented editorially this week that a referral action was pending, and offered to support the circulation of petitions.

Howard said the papers were not leading the referral drive, but were ready to support it because they feel "it was a disservice for the Oregon Legislature to boost income taxes by $60 million."

"People should have the right to vote on a sales tax, and we believe the legislature should have enacted a cigarette tax."

He said the fact that the legislature set aside money and a special election date indicated lawmakers' lack of confidence in the revenue program.

The income tax increase measure has not yet been signed by Gov. Mark Hatfield. The governor must take action before June 26.

more than half of the state's general fund budget, Barton said. He added "there would be no other place we could make major cutbacks."

At the time he made the statement, Barton called upon educators throughout the state to support the legislature's tax program.

11 Muslims Found Guilty

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Superior Court Jury which had deliberated for 18 days returned a guilty verdict Friday night against 11 of 14 black Muslims for participating in a riot April 27, 1962, outside the temple of the militant Negro sect.

Two men were cleared of all charges, including the principal defendant—the Rev. John Morris, pastor of the temple. A mistrial was declared in the case of a third man.

About 100 persons had participated in the riot, in which one cultist was killed and about a dozen black Muslims and police were injured.

The all-white jury found the defendants guilty of charges ranging from interference with police officers to assault on officers. Four who had been convicted last Monday heard their verdicts read again.

All those convicted were directed to return for sentencing July 18. Defense attorneys said they would appeal.

The 18-day deliberation was the longest in the history of Los Angeles County, surpassing the second murder trial of Dr. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff, in which the panel emerged deadlocked after 17 days of deliberations.
