Scout Ranch Film Offered

"Beyond the Tooth of Time," a movie depicting the history and high adventure of the Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron, N.M., has been released to the public by the Boy Scouts of America, it was announced recently by Joseph A. Brunton Jr., chief scout executive. The film commemorates the 25th anniversary of the national scout camp.

The 27-minute color film will be available free of charge to all adult leaders in the Boy Scouts' 629 councils across the nation. It will serve to introduce the camp to boys who may later plan to attend.

The movie will also be offered at no cost to schools, PTAs, civic organizations, religious groups and television. It will be distributed by Modern Talking Pictures, Inc. This marks the first time an outside organization has distributed a Boy Scout film.

"We want to show everyone the scouting activity and rugged mountain living that's available to every boy at Philmont," says Brunton. "For this reason we are not limiting the distribution of the film to the scouting organization. This is an opportunity to show parents, teachers, and community leaders the fine training in citizenship and character a boy receives through the diverse activities of the Boy Scout program at Philmont."

Philmont Scout Ranch was donated to the Boy Scouts of America by the well-known philanthropist, Waite Phillips, in 1938. In addition to rugged mountain camping for older boys, the camp provides a volunteer training center for adult leaders and is maintained as a year-round working ranch. Since the camp's inception, over 150,000 boys and adult leaders have camped or been trained there.

Groups interested in ordering "Beyond the Tooth of Time" may write to Modern Talking Picture Service, Inc., 3 East 54th Street, New York 22, N.Y.

Rise Shown By Weeklies

Weekly newspapers enjoyed an increase of 6.8 per cent in total income in 1962 over 1961, while the total expenses went up only 3.7 per cent. These figures were determined in a weekly newspaper cost study conducted by Carl C. Webb, associate professor at the University of Oregon School of Journalism.

The findings of the National Weekly Newspaper Cost Study were published in the June issue of National Publisher.

Webb is chairman of the cost study committees for both the National Editorial Association and the Newspaper Association Managers, co-sponsors of the annual studies. He also is manager of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association.

The financial report was based on the 35 "composite" weekly newspapers which furnished figures for each income and expenditure. The "composite" had an average circulation of 3,842 and employed 13.1 persons at an average income of $10,038.

Advertising accounted for 53.4 per cent of the total income for the composite paper, and circulation income represented nine per cent of the total income.

The study showed wages and salaries were the largest expenditure—43.7 per cent of the total income. Total expense equaled 87.5 per cent of the total income leaving a net of 12.5 per cent for net income before taxes and including the publisher's salary.

When the publisher's salary is subtracted, the percentage for net income drops to 6.8 per cent of the total income.

Allen Funt, creator-producer of "Candid Camera," had no experience as a performer before he became the man behind the hidden mike and camera.
