Doubleton Is South Worry

By OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The hand that really cries for the Blackwood convention is one that has first or second round control of all suits so that the Blackwood bidder is really interested in the number of aces his partner holds.

Conversely, when a player holds a worthless doubleton in an unbid suit or a suit bid by the opposition he should find some other way of approaching a slam.

South has enough strength for a slam after his partner gives him a jump raise in spades, but he has a poor hand for the Blackwood bid. Suppose his partner shows him two aces, there may still be two losers in hearts.

South decides to bid four diamonds as the start of his slam campaign. At this point North might well try Blackwood but North feels that his three-spade jump has shown just about all his strength. North merely goes to four spades.

At this point South is still interested in a slam but still does not want to use Blackwood. Fortunately, he has an unmistakable way to invite the slam. South bids five spades.

This gives North a complete picture. South has taken time to show the ace of diamonds and has gone past game in spades. He doesn't have the ace of spades or king of diamonds so he surely has the king of clubs. He must be worried about hearts, but North isn't worried and North goes to the laydown slam.

Thomas Creek Area Changed

LAKEVIEW—Carl Simpson, forest supervisor, has announced the elimination of the Thomas Creek District of the Fremont National Forest, effective July 1. The district area will be divided about in half and its parts added to the Drews Valley and Warner districts. This combination of three light workload districts into two medium workload districts should result in better management and reduced costs of administration. The change was the result of a year-long study made of the administrative and management situation of the three districts involved. The change will allow a more balanced workload for the resulting districts. It will reduce administrative costs by the elimination of one district ranger position and elimination of duplicated administrative functions.

The reorganization should also result in better on-the-ground resource management by providing the district rangers with principal assistants for each major area of resource management.

Don Allen will remain district ranger for the expanded Drews Valley District. Henry McCormick, presently ranger on the Thomas Creek Ranger District, will take over as ranger on the new Warner District.

Clyde Peacock, ranger on the old Warner District, has accepted a transfer to a staff position in the supervisor's office of the Klamath National Forest in Alexandria, La. He will leave for his new job on July 10.

The Thomas Creek District was divided, roughly, on a line along the main divide between Thomas Creek and Messmen Creek to Cougar Peak. The north half of the

Fire Closure In Forests Scheduled

Gov. Mark Hatfield has proclaimed July 1 to be the beginning of the annual "two-rule" fire closure in all of the national forests in Oregon.

On lands protected from fire by the Oregon forest services these two rules will be in effect from July 1 through Oct. 31:

1. Smoking is prohibited while traveling in timber, brush, or grass areas, except while in vehicles on roads.

2. When using campfires, except when traveling as a pedestrian, or in an improved campground where fireplaces are provided, three tools are required.

The tools are an axe not less than 26 inches overall, with a head weighing two pounds or more; a shovel not less than 36 inches long overall, with a blade not less than eight inches wide; a water container, capacity one gallon or more.

In commenting on the proclamation, Winema Forest Supervisor Alex Smith pointed out that this annual procedure is in addition to the several state fire laws which remain permanently on the books.

"We need to remind ourselves at the beginning of each fire season that it is unlawful to throw burning material from a vehicle, to leave a campfire unattended, or to build a campfire without first clearing the ground around it."

"I am sure that most residents of Klamath County are aware of these laws, but perhaps we all could help by passing this information on to the many visitors we have each year from other states," Smith added.

The matter of campfire permits continues to be confusing. They are required in California, but this is not so in Oregon on national forest land. However, permits are needed in certain areas of private land.

"When planning to build a campfire in Klamath County outside the national forests, it is best to check first with the Klamath Forest Protective Association to see if a permit is required," Smith said.

Eagle Scout To Make Greece Trip

MOUNT SHASTA — Eagle Scout William F. Barnett, 16, has been selected to represent Crater Lake Council, Region 11, at the 11th World Scout Jamboree slated Aug. 1-11 in Marathon, Greece. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dearl Barnett.

Thirty-three boys from Region 11, which includes Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Alaska, and the northern tip of California, will also attend the jamboree. They will be accompanied by a scoutmaster and two assistants.

Bill, who will be a junior at Mount Shasta High School next fall, was selected for the honor by the Crater Lake Council. He is a member of Troop 97, Mount Shasta, Siskiyou Silver Tip District, and serves as a junior assistant scoutmaster.

The recipient of several scouting awards, Bill was presented the God and Country Award from the Community Methodist Church two years ago. He was recently initiated into the Order of the Arrow and selected by his troop to the Honor Camping Society of Boy Scouting. He became an Eagle Scout on June 12.

Bill was one of 60,000 scouts at the National Jamboree in Colorado Springs in 1960, but the preparations for that trip were very minor compared with those for the World Jamboree. Leaving July 18, he has planned nearly a year for the journey which will take him to Geneva, Zurich, Lucerne, Lausanne, Venice, Rome, Athens, Marathon, and home by jet plane via London. In each town, the delegates will be guided by the scouts in that area.

The flight limits each boy to 40 pounds of baggage which must include almost a complete set of camping equipment, clothing, personal effects, and items to trade with the 20,000 Boy Scouts camped at the jamboree. The American contingent will camp with scouts from various countries, insuring a good deal of souvenir swapping.

The Greek government has offered to furnish free visas, but the scouts will still require an international certificate of vaccination, medical certificate, passport, and according to Bill, dozens of shots.

Constantine, Crown Prince, Duke of Sparta, is the chief scout of Greece, and King Paul of the Hellenes has consented to be the patron of the jamboree. The Greek government has also volunteered to give full support and assistance to the international scouting event.
