

Old Church Unit Razed

As the building which has housed the congregation of the Weaver Memorial Pilgrim Holiness Church for 19 years is being dismantled, an old landmark is also being razed, said Rev. Sherman Moore, pastor.

The structure, located at 2301 Wantland, was originally the Mills School building, but it was used for many other purposes before being acquired by the church.

The church has sold the old lot and purchased new property in the 2000 block of Summers Lane. A sanctuary, 36 by 62 feet of broken-face block construction, is being erected at the new location.

Plans include a framed educational unit of vertical siding to house the junior assembly and several classrooms. The work is being done under the supervision of Rev. Moore and financed by the Church Loan Corporation of Salem.

The congregation will hold services in the Lucile O'Neil School gymnasium, Eberlein and Avalon streets, until the new building is completed.

Masses Slated At Crater Lake

Rev. Harold Fumo, pastor of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church in Clatskanie, has announced that he will conduct Catholic services at Crater Lake beginning Sunday, June 30, and continuing through the summer months.

The services will be held at 7 a.m. each Sunday in the community hall at the Rim Village. They will be open to everyone in the area.

Touring Choir Member Impressed By Norway

STORD, Norway — Norwegian hospitality has impressed Don Isensee, Klamath Falls, a member of the Pacific Lutheran University "Choir of the West" which currently is on a two-month concert tour of Europe.

"They are a very generous and kind people," commented the PLU junior, "and they also are very well-mannered."

"Their custom of presenting a gift of flowers for almost any occasion is very interesting and touching," he added.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Isensee, 79 Washington Street, Don was also impressed with the great amount of food the Norwegians consume. "They always serve the main course of a meal twice," he commented.

He found the food similar to that of America, except that he thought it strange to eat cheese, tomatoes, and cold cuts for breakfast.

A business administration major at PLU, Don also found Norway to be more modern than he had expected, especially in the larger cities.

Don is one of 12 Oregon members of the 56-voice a cappella choir which will present 41 concerts and travel in nine countries before returning home July 26.

The first half of the two-month trip is being spent in Norway, where 28 concerts will be presented. On June 30 the choir will head for Denmark where six concerts will be given and then to Germany where five more are slated.

The choir also will travel in Switzerland, Italy, France, Belgium, and Holland.

Under the direction of Gunnar J. Malm, the choir has been afforded the royal treatment everywhere. Receptions, banquets, and parades, along with meetings with ambassadors, mayors, and other city and national officials, have been the order of the day.

Wherever the choir has appeared, the local newspapers have had a critic and photographer present, and the PLU singers have received extremely favorable reviews.

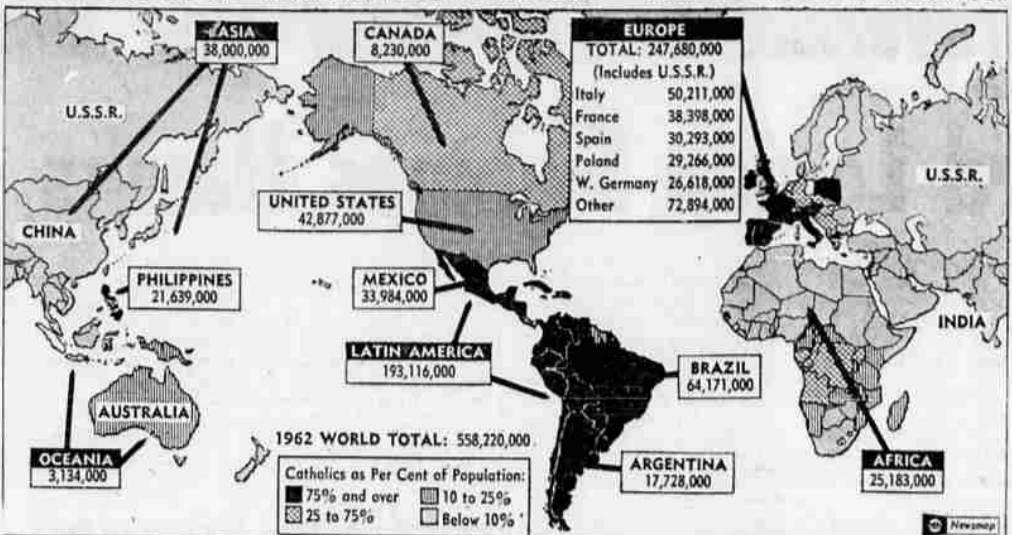

One reviewer called the program "a fantastic performance" and said the choir resembled a huge symphonic orchestra in technique and tone.

Another comment, "The impression which remains after the 'Choir of the West' concert is so overwhelming that one has difficulty finding words to accurately describe the performance."

However, the greatest critic of all is probably the Norwegian people. Norwegian audiences do not applaud readily. If they don't like a group, they can "sit on their hands." But, they have broken into rhythmic applause, an especially high honor, on numerous occasions.

The Negro spirituals and the five Norwegian numbers on the program have been the favorites of the Norwegian audiences.

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC WORLD - THE POPE'S PARISH

URBI ET ORBI — Following his coronation in Vatican City on June 30, Pope Paul VI will officially become the 262nd supreme spiritual leader of hundreds of millions of Roman Catholics around the world. The new pontiff will head the largest and most far-flung of churches, as well as one of the most powerful of earthly thrones. Figures on the newsmag [which include baptized infants] show the number of Catholics in 1962, as reported by the National Catholic Almanac. In addition to lay adherents, Pope Paul VI will command the allegiance of some 1,900 bishops, 422,000 priests, plus 189,000 men and one million women in religious orders. The Roman Catholic Church also runs nearly 150,000 schools, over 9,200 hospitals, and numerous worldwide missionary activities by various orders.

Camp Fund Gets Boost

NEW PINE CREEK — Following the morning worship service last Sunday, several car-loads of young people from the First Baptist Church here left for the summer church camp, situated north-east of Prineville. The group was accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Harris.

The camp activities will last approximately 10 days, and according to Rev. Harris, the enrollment from the various missionary Baptist Churches of central Oregon will average between 135 and 150 daily.

In recent years, the camp facilities have been rented to other church groups, scout troops, and youth organizations. With this income plus private donations, $1,500 has been raised for the camp improvement fund. This summer plans have made it possible to enlarge the building accommodations and generally improve the grounds.

ANCIENT BELIEF

In botany, the "signature of doctrines" is an ancient belief that plants, by the shape or form of their parts, indicated to man their medicinal values. For example, the spotted leaves of the lungwort "showed" that this plant was a cure for diseases of the lungs.

4-H NEWS

DAIRY ROUGHRIDERS
 The Dairy 4-H horse club, the Roughriders, held a meeting Thursday, June 6, at Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Coffelt's new home in Dairy. The meeting was presided over by Ralph Crawford and Kenny Coffelt.

The meeting came to order with a look at our record books to see if we had them up-to-date.

Mr. Crawford gave a quiz on terms used in connection with horses, parts of the horse, and parts of the saddle and bridle.

The main topic of the evening was what kind of show halter to buy. Mr. Crawford provided each member with a rope, and we were taught how to make lead ropes.

At the meeting we discussed having a trail ride. It was decided that the trail ride would be on June 17.

Mrs. Coffelt and Mrs. Crawford served the refreshments, and the meeting was adjourned.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
 "Bread is that which feeds the body neither health nor sleep." (Psalm 127:3)

Do you really appreciate our God? The only one who should experience activity is the one who feeds himself—man. It is greater than the structure. If we are humble, conscious of God's promises and are striving to do His Will, all our fears ought to vanish—for none are as safe as those whom God keeps. The words of our text were written by the psalmist to assure his readers of the certainty with which they may rely upon God. He, as their protector, defender and Lord does not cast off into helplessness, nor do his eyes become heavy with sleep. He is ever alert to their needs, ever watchful of their interests, and constantly keeps his arm of protection about them. We are assured that nothing can hinder our God.
