THREAT RUINED AT HOME—Milwaukee's Norm Larker was called out at home plate in San Francisco Tuesday when he tried to score from second base on teammate Del Crandall's single to centerfield in the fourth inning against the Giants. Play was from Giants' Willie Mays who threw to catcher Ed Bailey shown here about to make the tag. Calling the play is umpire Ken Burkhardt. Backing up play is Giants' pitcher Juan Marichal. The Giants won in 16 innings on Mays' home run. —UPI Telephoto

Near No-Hit Contests Spice American Action

By MILTON RICHMAN
 UPI Sports Writer

Al Downing and Dave Morehead can console each other today over coming so near, yet so far, in their bids for no-hitters.

Downing, the 22-year-old New York Yankee's southpaw, held the Chicago White Sox hitless for 6 2/3 innings Tuesday night but had to settle for a one-hit 3-0 victory.

And Morehead, a 19-year-old rookie right-hander for the Boston Red Sox, had a no-hitter going until the eighth against the Cleveland Indians only to wind up with a two-hit 6-1 triumph.

"I would have liked to pitch a no-hitter," said Downing, "but I am not complaining a bit. Winning the game was more important."

Morehead was equally philosophical. "I did my best," he said, "and I'll take a two-hitter any day of the week."

Yanks Pad Lead
 Downing's victory was his third and the Yankees' fifth in a row, stretching their American League lead to three games. The Yankee left-hander, who had held the Red Sox hitless for 6 1/3 innings in his previous start last Friday night, had visions of a "no-no" as the ballplayers call it—Tuesday night until Camilo Carreon rapped a sharp single off his glove with two out in the seventh.

There wasn't the least bit of doubt about Carreon's hit, which skipped over second base and rolled into center field. But that was the only one of 134 pitches by Downing which was hit safely.

He struck out 10 batters, walked six and got the only run he needed when Tony Kubek singled home Hector Lopez in the third inning. Lopez then hit a two-run homer in the fifth. The Yankees' run in the third was their first off loser Ray Berbert (8-5) in 20 consecutive innings.

Morehead, whose record now is 5-5, pitched perfect ball until he walked Willie Kirkland with two out in the seventh. He lost his no-hitter when Fred Whitfield led off the eighth with a grounder that took a freak bounce over second baseman Chuck Schilling's head for a single.

Twins ahead, 4-1, and kayoed loser Bill Faul, while Hall's eighth homer came off reliever Tom Sturdivant in the sixth and put the game out of the Tigers' reach. Dick Stigman struck out nine and scattered eight hits before Bill Dalley came on in the ninth to nail down Stigman's seventh victory.

Bob Johnson's single and Al Smith's double were the key blows for the Orioles in a two-run seventh-inning rally that took care of the Angels. Baltimore scored all its runs off Paul Foytack, who suffered his second defeat against one victory. Dick Hall, second of three Orioles pitchers, was credited with his third win. Albie Pearson hit his fifth homer for the Angels.

Bennie Daniels limited the A's to seven hits as his Senator teammates took advantage of four errors by Oakland's Pena. His 11th setback, Marv Breeding and Jim King paced Washington's eight-hit attack with two hits apiece.

His Pinch Homer
 There was nothing freakish, however, about John Romano's pinch homer in the ninth. Romano had been restored to the active list just before the game. The Red Sox scored two runs off loser Barry Latman (5-4) in the second inning and Lou Clinton's homer featured a four-run outburst in the sixth.

The Minnesota Twins reeled off their eighth straight victory and took over second place with a 7-4 triumph over the Detroit Tigers, the Baltimore Orioles outlasted the Los Angeles Angels, 4-3, and the Washington Senators downed the Kansas City A's, 7-2.

Homer's Tell Story
 Bob Allison's two-run homer and Jimmie Hall's three-run walk-off homer were the key blows for the Yankees in their victory over Detroit. Allison's 20th homer in the third put the

It was the Giants' only other serious threat of the night against the Milwaukee veteran, who walked only one batter and struck out two.

Dodgers Take First
 Don Drysdale pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers into first place with a 1-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Houston Colts, 4-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, and the Chicago Cubs downed the New York Mets, 4-1.

Drysdale picked up his 10th victory for the Dodgers with a five-hit effort against the Cardinals. Southpaw Curt Simmons, who suffered his fourth loss in 11 decisions, pitched on even terms with Drysdale until the seventh when Ron Fairly singled home Frank Howard from second base with the only run of the contest.

Sparks Reds Rally
 Gordy Coleman's two-run single was the key blow in a three-run seventh-inning rally by the Reds that beat the Colts and ruined reliever Don McMahon's first starting assignment in the majors. McMahon led, 3-2, going into the seventh but Vada Pinson doubled home the tying run and Coleman supplied the clincher. Bob Purkey gained his third victory with help from Al Worthington.

Vern Law struggled to his second victory for the Pirates although Harvey Haddix and Al McBean both had to come to his rescue when the Phillies rallied in the eighth. Roberto Clemente's double off loser Dallas Green produced what proved to be the winning run in the sixth.

SEATTLE (UPI)—Brian Sternberg, holder of the pending world record pole vault of 16 feet 8 inches, remained in critical condition here today at University Hospital following an accident on the trampoline.

University of Washington officials said Sternberg was executing a double twist back somersault last night at the Edmundson Pavilion on the campus when he landed on the back of his head and neck.

Dr. William Robertson, medical director of the university hospital, said an examination indicated a dislocation of the cervical or neck vertebrae.

Robertson said this indicated possible damage to the spinal cord. Sternberg was placed in traction, Robertson said, and no surgery was foreseen in the immediate future.

Sternberg, 20, and a junior next year at the University of Washington, set the pending world mark at the Compton Relays at Compton, Calif., June 7.

He also won the National AAU championship June 22 in St. Louis with a winning vault of 15 feet, 4 inches. He was to have left New York July 14 with a U.S. track and field team which will go to Europe for four meets. The team will compete against a Russian team in Moscow July 21-22.

An accomplished gymnast, Sternberg was working out on the trampoline to keep in shape for the European trip when the accident occurred.

Falcons Host Legion Tournament

By JERRY WAGGONER
 Herald and News Sports Editor

The Klamath Falcons, hosting three of the top American Legion teams in the state, have their work cut out for them tonight and July 4 in the Holiday Legion Doubleheader Tournament at Gem Stadium. The other three teams are Medford, North Salem and Albany.

The Medford team, which presently is tied in the top position with the Falcons in the Southern Division, will take on North Salem in the 7 o'clock game tonight. The Falcons follow, going against unbeaten Albany in a game which will begin at approximately 9:30.

The Fourth of July schedule will pit Medford against Albany in the first game at 1 p.m. and the Falcons against North Salem in the second afternoon game.

It has been announced that American Legion season tickets are not ordinarily good for tournaments, but an exception is being made in this case and they will be honored.

The Klamath Hawks will be in Corvallis today and Thursday for a four-team doubleheader American Legion baseball tournament against Corvallis, Grant and North Eugene.

The Hawks, struggling along in its own league, hopes to increase its prestige by coming back home with some victories from this tournament.

Coach Irv Whit probably will go with Tom Pilgrim in one game and Steve Young in the other.

Coach John Paxton, still trying to decide on a pitching assignment, said he probably will go with Jim Jackson in tonight's game. He also has a crucial set coming up this weekend with Grants Pass in league competition. He said he probably would back Jackson up with either Gary Benson or Rich Jackson.

Jay Paxton will open behind the plate with John Gray at first. Larry Guyer or Marv Yunk will be at the keystone sack. LeVoy Young will lead off and play shortstop for the Falcons beside John Parisotto at third. The outfield probably will be made up of Larry Biney in left, Mike Kitching in center and Dave Johnson in right.

Johnson and Paxton were the big sticks in the Falcons' victory over Central last week as Johnson tied into a pair of triples and Paxton three singles for all five of the Falcons' hits. Virtually everyone got into the hitting act, however, as the Falcons stormed

Willie Mays' Homer Beats Spahn In 16th

By United Press International

With one swing of his bat, Willie Mays broke up the National League's greatest pitching duel in 30 years and all but broke Warren Spahn's heart.

Mays accomplished his handiwork when he lined a home run over the left field fence with one out in the 16th inning Tuesday night to give Juan Marichal and the San Francisco Giants a 1-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

For 15 dramatic innings, the 22-year-old Spahn called on all his cunning and pitched on dead even terms with the stronger and harder-throwing 25-year-old Marichal, but Mays' 13th homer ended the league's finest pitching duel since Carl Hubbell of the Giants went 18 innings to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, exactly 30 years to the day.

Marichal scattered eight hits and struck out 10 in posting his 15th victory of the season and his ninth in a row.

The defeat was doubly tough for Spahn. Not only did it snap his personal five-game winning streak and represent his fourth loss against 11 victories, but it also nullified a valiant 14th-inning effort in which he heroically pitched himself out of a jam by getting Ed Bailey on a fly ball for the final out with the bases full.

It was the Giants' only other serious threat of the night against the Milwaukee veteran, who walked only one batter and struck out two.

The Cubs cashed in on three unearned runs against the Mets, with Alvin Jackson's throwing error paying the way for his eighth defeat. Jackson's wild throw came in the second when the Cubs clinched the game with three runs. Bob Buhl stopped the Mets on six hits for his seventh victory against five defeats.
