

In Our Churches

HERALD AND NEWS, Klamath Falls, Ore.

Friday, July 5, 1963

PAGE 3

St. Barnabas Guild Plans To Install Memorial Bell

LANGELL VALLEY — At the June 27 meeting of the Guild of St. Barnabas Episcopal Church, with vice president, Grace Deuborn, presiding, the members set Nov. 2 as the date for their annual turkey dinner and bazaar.

Ethel Jones reported that a stone mason from Klamath Falls will meet with the group on Saturday afternoon, July 6, to make an estimate on erecting the church bell donated to the church by the Clements ranch. The bell will be erected in memory of Tommy Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lindsay.

JET PASSENGERS

More than one-half of all United States airlines' passenger miles were flown in jet-propelled aircraft in 1962, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

DOWNTOWN OFFICE SPACE
Inquire At
GUN STORE
714 Main

First Church of Christ, Scientist

A Branch of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Mass., 10th and Washington
Services: Sunday Service 11:00 a.m.
Sunday School 11:00 a.m.
Wednesday Evening Testimony Meeting 8:00 O'Clock
Lesson-Sermon Subject July 7, 1963
"GOD"

Golden Text: Psalms 62:11. Power belongeth unto God.
Nursery facilities available during church services

Four Make Communion

BLY—Rev. Harold Fumo administered the sacrament of Holy Communion to four young confirmands at the St. James Catholic Church on Sunday, June 30.

Dressed in white to receive their first communion were Linda Hall, Rebecca Hall, Hope Dillavou and John Hall. Bonnie Rente portrayed the angel who opened the gates for the children.

In a setting of white carnations, yellow roses, and peonies, the adult choir sang "Come, Holy Ghost" and "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother." The organist, Mrs. Jack Dillavou, played "Jesus, Jesus, Come to Me."

COLLEGE QUARTET — The Simpsonaires Male Quartet, which will present a sacred music program at the Immanuel Baptist Church on July 10, includes Richard Cox of Klamath Falls, left, as tenor. Other members of the Simpson Bible College group are Harry Ecklund, Don Crawford, and Jack Teeter. Bruce Longstreth is the accompanist.

Local Man To Appear With College Quartet

A local talent will be represented when the Simpsonaires Male Quartet from the Simpson Bible College of San Francisco presents a concert of sacred music on Wednesday evening, July 10.

Interested in music for a number of years, Cox sang with both the a cappella choir and the Madrigal Singers at Klamath Union High School, graduating with the class of 1962. He is a member of Immanuel Baptist Church.

Other members of the Simpsonaires are Harry Ecklund, second tenor, from Everett, Wash.; Don Crawford, baritone, from La Habra, Calif.; and Jack Teeter, bass, from Sedro Woolley, Wash. The accompanist is Bruce Longstreth of Santa Barbara, Calif. He will also be featured at the piano at the sacred music program.

The quartet will present a wide selection of musical offerings including standard hymn arrangements, Negro spirituals, majestic worship melodies, and sprightly martial selections.

The public is invited to hear the college singers, according to Rev. William E. Cross, pastor. There will be no admission charge for the program which will begin at 7 p.m.

The college, represented by the vocal group, is the West Coast regional college of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. As an accredited four-year coeducational school, Simpson Bible College specializes in preparing its students for full-time church occupations.

Pope Admits Legacy Of Popularity Gained From Beloved Predecessor

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

No Pope in a thousand years has begun his pontificate with a greater reservoir of good will than Paul VI.

As he takes up the lonely burdens of his office, Protestants and Eastern Orthodox Christians are praying as earnestly as the world's half-billion Catholics that he may be truly guided by the Holy Spirit.

The unprecedented interest which non-Catholics are taking in the new Pope is a carryover of the vast affection they had for his predecessor. By the sheer force of goodness, Pope John XXIII changed the whole image of the papacy for the non-Catholic world. During his reign, it was possible for those outside the Catholic fold to hear the authentic voice of a Good Shepherd speaking from the Throne of St. Peter.

Pope Paul is too brilliant and sensitive, too aware of the world, not to realize that his present popularity is a legacy. And, as he made clear in his first formal address, he is not ashamed to acknowledge his inheritance. He is quite willing to be known as the Pope who came after the great John XXIII, and tried to carry on his work.

Use Word "Continue"

In outlining the aims of his pontificate to the College of Cardinals, he repeatedly used the word, "continue."

He said his "preeminent" concern would be the continuation of the Ecumenical Council summoned by Pope John and automatically suspended by his death.

He also promised to "continue" with full dedication the great work started by his predecessor in attempting to "restore the unity" of the Christian family.

"We are opening our arms to all those who take pride in the name of Christ," he said. "We are calling them by the precious name of brothers, and let them know that they will find in us constant understanding and benevolence."

Despite his devotion to John XXIII's goals of renewal and reunion, Paul VI is by no means a carbon copy of his predecessor.

On the contrary, he differs from him very strikingly in temperament and personality, and it would be unreasonable for anyone to expect him to do things in the same style.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

by the most outrageously informal conduct. Like St. Francis, he manifested the rare combination of a Christ-like, self-denying character with a happy, outgoing personality.

Paul VI is an introvert and an intellectual, intense in his feelings but disciplined in the expression of them. He is subject to melancholy moods. His compassion for humanity is said to be great, but it seems unlikely that he will display it with the same kind of spontaneous little gestures which so endeared John XXIII to the world.

Being a good Pope, however, is not the same thing as winning a popularity contest. And there are reasons for suspecting that Paul VI may prove to be even more effective than his great predecessor in pursuing their common goals.

The reasons include his relative youth and vigor, and the reasonable expectation of a fairly long pontificate.

Also, as an old Vatican hand who spent 30 years in the secretariat of state, he knows the varied and wondrous ways in which curia professionals may sidetrack and smother papal initiatives of which they disapprove. He is not likely to be as patient with such obstructionism as was the kindly old man whose slipper he seeks to fill.

The curia conservatives did not approve of Pope John's Ecumenical Council. They tried to talk him out of it, and when they failed in that, they sought to postpone the date indefinitely. When it met last fall over their protests, they tied it up in protracted debate over draft statements which they had prepared, and which were directly contrary to the spirit of renewal and reunion.

The tolerance which Pope John displayed toward these tactics dismayed many of the progressive bishops at the council, and it was not until weeks after the council met that they felt sure enough of the Pope's support to get on with the work of "updating" and reforming the church.

When Paul VI summons the council back into session, it is a safe bet that things will move faster.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

Paul VI is a peasant's son who retained an unaffected humility and simplicity all of his life. He had an irrepressible sense of humor, a natural affection for all sorts of people, and an innate dignity which could not be marred.

A "NEW" POPE — Pope Paul VI, spiritual leader of the world's 500 million Roman Catholics, is described as an introvert and intellectual who differs both in temperament and personality from Pope John XXIII. Yet it is thought he might be even more effective in carrying out his predecessor's goals of renewal and reunion because of his relative youth, vigor, and more than 30 years of experience in the Vatican secretariat of state.

Fully half of all women 45 to 54 years of age are engaged in gainful employment — the highest proportion for any age group of women, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

The DANMOORE HOTEL
1217 S.W. Morrison St.
Portland, Oregon

All Transient Guests. All those who come return. Rates not too high, not too low. Free garage, new location, 10 block from Hotel. Open until 10 P.M. TVs and Radios. Reputation for cleanliness. Children under seven, no charge.

Slides Set For Meeting

A program of slides narrated by Dorothy Schupp will highlight the July 8 meeting of the Women's Association of Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church. The slides will be concerned with Miss Schupp's recent travels in Hong Kong, Singapore, and Rotorua.

The meeting will be held in the fireside room of the church, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Members are invited to bring guests.

Youth Night Ends School

BONANZA — Sixty children of the Bonanza Community Church concluded their Vacation Bible School activities with a program on the evening of June 23.

The program included recitations and special music by each class, a play given by the junior class, and a rhythm band featuring the nursery group. The superintendent, Mrs. Russell Pederson, was presented with an orchid.

FRIENDLY HELPFULNESS
To Every Creed and Pursue
WARD'S
Klamath Funeral Home
Marguerite Ward and Sons
925 High Ph. TU 2-4404

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

"There is no restraint to Jehovah to save by many or by few." (1 Sam. 15:22)

We need to realize that the majority may be, but seldom is, on the side of right. The right or the wrong of a cause is not to be determined by the number of people in that cause. Might is always on the side of right no matter how weak in number the right side may be. This we should always remember. The word of God will help us to determine the right. Let us maintain our loyalty to him. It is quality and not quantity — or large numbers — that count with the Lord. May each of us have faith, wisdom and courage to seek that which is right and then stand firm.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
2205 Wentland Ave. Ph. TU 2-0374, 2-4579
You Are Cordially Invited To Worship With Us

HOT BUYS

Happy Sex: DON'T miss these week-end specials!

Matching Dryer (with trade) $129.95

G-E Filter-Flo
Automatic
WASHERS
$189.95 With Trade

Big 12 pound capacity with exclusive G-E Filter-Flo! Two cycles, 3 water levels, porcelain top and tub, all the convenience features you expect from G-E. Low priced!

G-E TELEVISION SPECIALS!

G-E 19" Portable TV
Clearance Special!
$139.95

Built-in antenna, Daylight Blue screen, famous G-E tone. Here's a lot of TV for a low, low price!

G-E 23" CONSOLE TV
$189.95 With Trade

Smart modern styling in this 23" 60-line console in walnut finish. Daylight Blue screen, up front sound and Big tone. A set that will grace any home!

Now In Stock! Brand New G-E
11" PERSONAL PORTABLE TV
Truly portable! Weighs only 12 pounds! $99.95

HAPCO.
Home Appliance Co. Stores growing with Oregon
1001 Main Store Hours: 8:30 A.M. to 5:30 P.M. Phone TU 4-8183

I Fought the Scourge of Narcotics... and Won

At 25, this pretty mother of three seemed doomed to the slow suicide of dope addiction; then help came from an unusual source; a group of ex-addicts.

Today she is winning this tortuous battle against the life-destroying dope habit, and she now works in a church nursery school where one of her pupils is President Kennedy's niece.

Don't miss her fascinating story in the JULY 7TH Issue of Family Weekly with your copy of the SUNDAY Herald and News

Insured Safety

can be the firm foundation of your PERSONAL SECURITY at FIRST FEDERAL

BUILD YOUR PERSONAL SECURITY on the safest investment available anywhere—a savings account at this association. It's always worth 100 cents on the dollar, insured safe up to $10,000 by a permanent agency of the U.S. Government, and pays you a generous profit regularly.

This association operates for your benefit. Reserves must be large enough to guard against any possible losses. Assets are invested in government securities and dependable home loans. Your money is ready when needed.

For your present and future security, think of safety first. Start your insured-safe, profitable savings program today...with the savings specialist.

Current rate 4 1/4%
per annum on all savings

FIRST FEDERAL
Savings and Loan Association
540 MAIN STREET