Yvonne Bailie Now Mrs. Richard Reiling

Yvonne Margaret Bailie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bailie, this city, and Richard LeRoy Reiling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Reiling, Poe Valley, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony June 22 at Immanuel Baptist Church. Pastor William E. Cross officiated.

For the eight o'clock candle-light ceremony, floral arrangements were arranged with pale pink tapers, white gladioli and pink rhubarb lilies.

Mrs. William E. Cross was the organist. Soloists were Lynn Ferrell and Hugh Barnwell.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of Chantilly lace and imported silk organza. The long, tapered sleeves and fitted bodice were sculptured with tiny seed pearls and iridescent sequins at the scalloped neckline. The bell bouffant organza skirt was outlined with garlands of lace appliques. A wide sweep of lace formed an apron which swept to the back to be caught up with a romance rose before cascading into a chapel train. A tiny Swedish crown of seed pearls held the fingertip veil of silk illusion.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white phalaenopsis orchids, white tiara roses and stephanotis. With her bouquet the bride carried a handmade lace handkerchief from her maternal grandmother, Karin Carlson.

Proceeding the bride and her father down the aisle were four bridal attendants, Barbara Taylor, Klamath Falls, maid of honor, and Mrs. Ted Schroeder, Ashland, Diane Siegner, Portland, and Linda Bailie, sister of the bride, bridesmaids.

The attendants were dressed alike in frocks of turquoise raw silk with fitted bodices and short petal skirts, matching mitts and peau de soie slippers. Each carried a crescent-designed bouquet of pink Lucy Wilson rhubarb lilies.

Steve Reiling, Klamath Falls, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Jim Long, Malin, Tom Veltman, Eugene, Charles Holt, Ashland, and Rudy Hedberg, Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Bailie chose for her daughter's wedding an imported silk organza sheath in ice blue with schiffli embroidery. Small matching hat, shoes, bag and corsage of pink Frills rosebuds completed her ensemble. Mrs. Reiling wore a turquoise and white brocade sheath with matching accessories and white hat. Her corsage was of Caricea orange rosebuds.

At the reception, a lovely tiered wedding cake, set between silver tinselabra with pale pink candles, was encircled with tiny pink filigree rosebuds. Serving the confection were Mrs. Jonas Waldin, Mrs. Pete Hedberg, Mrs. Swan Erickson and Mrs. Art Reed.

At the coffee services were Dorothy Bailie and Mrs. Erik Carlson, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Richard Spielman and Mrs. Fred Taylor.

Cousins of the bride, Janice Carlson and Karine Carlson, poured punch.

Attending the guest book were Sharon Carlson, cousin of the bride, and Diane Reiling, the bridegroom's sister.

Hostesses were Mrs. Terry Sherrill, Pam Ely, Mrs. George Baker, Gena Spielman, Mrs. Monte Voight, Krias Spielman and Mrs. Charles Kujawski.

For going away, the new Mrs. Reiling changed to an azalea pink wool suit with ranch mink collar and black patent accessories. On her white straw hat were roses to match the suit. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Both Mrs. Reiling and her husband are students at Southern Oregon College. She is majoring in business education and he in science and mathematics in secondary education. He will practice teach this fall. They will make their home in Ashland.

Special guests at the wedding and reception were Mrs. Elsie Eggers, grandmother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Karin Carlson and Mrs. Clara Bailie, the bride's grandmothers.

Out-of-town guests included the Gerald Tillmans, Mrs. Wilbur Siegner and Diane, Portland; the Erik Carlson family and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stockstill, Medford; Mrs. Sloan Smith, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Al Morgan, Canby, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Caldwell, Vallejo; the Hilding Erickson family and Tom Veltman, Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Schroeder, Pam Ely, Mary Wampler, Steve Bowman, Bruce Lattin, Ashland.

Prior to her marriage the bride was feted at numerous showers. Mrs. William Tubach, Mrs. Richard Spielman and Mrs. L. F. Rodgers entertained at the Poe Valley Community Hall; Mrs. Fred Goeller, Mrs. Glenn Bowman and Mrs. Art Reed were hostesses at a party at Molatore's; Mrs. Ruth Barnwell, Mrs. Bob Dorch and Mrs. Leonard Gately were other hostesses at the Bill Russell home, and Mrs. Fred Taylor and Bobbi also entertained for the bride-elect. On the SOC campus college friends arranged a shower at the dormitory.

SOAK SOOTHES

Spring fever puts us in a rush of unaccustomed activity. Often we jump into sports after a relatively sedate winter, or feel that the house needs cleaning immediately. The result can be painful sprains or just plain stiff and aching muscles.

A bracing shower will wash away much of the fatigue at the end of the day, but a long soak in a hot tub soothes the ache. Follow this with an alcohol rub and you'll feel less achy the next morning.

Couple Note Silver Date

On June 22 the children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moore arranged a reception to honor their parents' 25th wedding anniversary. The party planned as a surprise was held at the Moore home on Newcastle Street.

Babs Moore, a dental hygienist in Portland, Jean Moore, sophomore at Oregon State University, and Clifford, KUHS junior, decorated their home in a white and silver theme with streamers from the chandelier and numerous bells and birds.

The lace covered refreshment table held the three tiered wedding cake, cut first by the honored couple. The handsome silver tea and coffee service used was the gift of the Moore's children.

A cleverly designed wishing well held gifts from friends.

Mrs. Conrad Borsing served the cake and Mrs. James A. Melvin, sister of Mrs. Moore, poured coffee. Attending the punch bowl were Mrs. Fred Scott and Mrs. Leon Palmer.

Jean Moore took care of the guest book.

The bodice with pearl outlined scoop neck-line was fashioned of Chantilly over peau de soie and on the skirt front insets of the same lace came to a point defined by a self bow. A dainty crown of braided and pearls secured the float veil of imported English illusion. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white roses. A sapphire-set necklace, gift of the bridegroom, had belonged to his grandmother, Mrs. Oscar Shive.

Susan Miller was maid of honor.

The bride's brother, Tom Miller, and Michael Hurley were altar boys.

The wedding reception was held in the Pelican Party Room which was decorated in the bride's colors of pink and white. The bride's table with its silver appointments was centered with a bowl of pink peonies. At one end was the three tiered wedding cake, iced with pink and white roses.

Following champagne toasts to the young couple, they left for New Orleans where the bridegroom will serve his internship at Charity Hospital. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon and the University of Oregon Medical School. Mrs. Bechen attended Marylhurst College and has recently been employed at Klamath Valley Hospital.
