Arnie Faces Tough Field In Tourney

LYTHAM-ST. ANNES, England (UPI) — It's going to be Arnold Palmer against the field in the British Open golf tournament. That's what the experts say and it's also what Palmer's rivals say. Even Jack Nicklaus, a man who has beaten Palmer at his best, is touting Arnie as the likely winner.

"Arnie plays fantastically well over here," says Nicklaus. "If he continues his present 'slump,' he should win easily."

British odds-makers have installed Palmer as the 2-1 favorite in the field of 120 golfers which tees off Wednesday on the 6,757-yard, par-70 Royal Lytham and St. Annes course. Nicklaus is quoted at 7-1, four-time British Open champion Peter Thomson at 10-1.

Nicklaus' pessimism is caused by the "tight fairways" which he and other experts here insist favor Palmer's game.

"The fairways are much too tight for me," commented Nicklaus after a practice round on the championship course. "It's also very difficult to get on in two on most British courses if you stray into the rough, whereas in the United States you always have a good chance to make the green with your second shot no matter where the tee shot goes."

Palmer has won two of the last three tournaments in which he competed but he isn't taking anything for granted. In fact, he seems to be the only expert in England who thinks he may have a tough time winning.

"There are a lot of good golfers in this field," he commented. "It's an honor to be the favorite but it will be a tough battle."

The top prize in the British Open is only $42,000 compared with some of the huge winners' pots Palmer has hauled in en route to his $85,545 in earnings so far this year. But Palmer says the prestige is every bit as important as the money — perhaps more so.

"The main purpose of competing in the British Open is because it's still a great prestige event, and I wish there were more," he says.

The field will play 18 holes each on Wednesday and Thursday with the top 45 scorers and ties playing the final 36 holes Friday.

Islanders Back Team

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — The Hawaii Islanders still haven't got colorful playboy pitcher Bob Belinsky on their roster, but the Pacific Coast League team is hardly lacking for attractiveness to its fans.

In figures released today by league president Dewey Soriano, Hawaii, the Los Angeles Angels' chief farm club, leads the 10-team triple-A loop with 117,367 paid admissions as of July 1. It represented a gain of $4,774 over last year's total at the same date.

Overall attendance for the teams is 33.3 per cent higher than 1962.

The only team down from last year's count is Salt Lake City, which encountered bad weather at the start of the season and is 14,000 under its 1962 gate with 26,493 paid.

help park the Washington Senators to their longest winning streak in 14 years.

Durocher called it "the shake-well system—shake well before using."

And that's just what Hodges has done since succeeding Mickey Vernon. In fact, he's shaken it so much American League rivals can hardly believe it's the same franchise.

The Senators ran their winning streak to seven games Sunday when they defeated the Los Angeles Angels, 7-3 and 6-4. It is the Senators' longest winning streak since 1949 when they reeled off nine straight victories.

Bennie Daniels pitched a five-hitter and struck out 12 batters to win his third game of the season in the opener while Don Zimmer, ex-Dodger pal of Hodges, sent the Senators off in front in the nightcap with a grand slam in the first inning.

Jim Duckworth was credited with his third win in the second game although he needed the relief aid of Dick Radolph, who pitched perfect ball for the final 2 2/3 innings. Zimmer had two doubles in the first game and a homer and a single in the nightcap to lead Washington's attack.

Yankees Split
The New York Yankees scored a 7-4 10-inning win after losing to the Cleveland Indians, 11-3, the Chicago White Sox downed the Boston Red Sox, 4-1, in 12 innings, the Baltimore Orioles shaded the Minnesota Twins, 4-3, in 10 innings and the Kansas City Athletics won, 8-7, after suffering a 5-1 loss to the Detroit Tigers in other American League games.

Yogi Berra's tie-breaking double in the 10th and powerful relief pitching by Jim Bouton and Whitey Ford enabled the Yankees to gain their split after a crowd of 37,290 saw the Indians slam out 14 hits, including homers by Max Alvis, Al Luplow and Joe Azcue, in the first game. Ralph Terry suffered his ninth loss against eight wins for the Yankees.

Juan Pizarro shut out the Red Sox for the last two innings to win his 11th game for the White Sox, who rallied for three runs in the 12th on singles by Al Weiss, Pete Ward, Mike Hershberger and a double by Nelson Fox. The loser was Red Sox ace Bill Monbouquette, who went the last four innings and dropped his sixth decision against 11 triumphs.

Scores From First
Pitcher Lee Stange's wild throw enabled Bob Saverine to score all the way from first base and give the Orioles their sixth win in their last seven games. Stu Miller, who pitched the last two innings, won his third game for the Orioles. Jim Kaat was the loser for the Twins, who now have dropped six of their last seven games.

Jim Bunning struck out eight and pitched a seven-hitter to win his sixth game for the Tigers but the Athletics rallied for seven runs in the seventh inning of the nightcap to split the doubleheader. A single by Charlie Lau and a double by Chuck Essegian were the big blows of the rally which ended a six-game Kansas City losing streak and a six-game Detroit winning streak.

In the National League, the Pacific Coast League all-star game is scheduled tonight at Spokane but all of the talk in the league is about the controversial no-hit, no-run game thrown Saturday night by Spokane pitcher Bob Radovich.

The 24-year-old rookie right-hander threw the no-no game—his first complete game of the year—striking out six and facing only 29 batters, two over the minimum.

The controversy arose when Lander Ron Samford walked in the ninth and his pinch runner, Stan Palys, apparently let a grounder hit by Brown Taylor hit him on the leg. The rule book states that Palys should be called out, ending the game, and Taylor be given a single, ruining the no-hitter.

Ruling By Soriano
League President Dewey Soriano, attending the game, ruled that Palys had intentionally let the ball hit him and declared the game a no-hitter.

Tonight's all-star tilt will feature a team of top players voted on by the PCL Baseball Writers' Association. They'll meet the Spokane Indians. The stars will be managed by Grady Hatton, of Oklahoma City. The game starts at 8 p.m.

Dallas - Ft. Worth moved to within a half game of Oklahoma City in the southern division Sunday. The Rangers handed Seattle 6-5 and 2-1 setbacks while Oklahoma City was splitting with Tacoma. The 89ers lost the opener 2-1 and capped the nightcap 6-3.

Willie Tires
The 22-year-old Willie tired in the second game and pitched but seven innings in scoring his second victory. He shut out the Reds for six innings but in the seventh catcher John Edwards doubled in Daryl Spencer who had singled and Ron Perranoski took over to finish the game.

The Dodgers ended their home stand with eight victories against three losses and will resume action Wednesday against the New York Mets with a 50-33 record. Last year at the same time the Dodgers had a 58-31 record but were only a half game ahead of the Giants in first place.

A huge crowd of 53,269, of which 53,836 were paid admissions, jammed Dodger Stadium for Sunday's doubleheader to run the season's paid attendance to 1,275,051 with 36 more home games remaining to be played.

Seattle Youth Wins Century
PORTLAND (UPI) — Charles Grene of Seattle's O'Dea High School won the 100-yard dash in 9.7 and the 220 in 21.7 in special track events held as part of the Highland Games at Lewis and Clark College Saturday.

In the other events, Dave Wilborn of Albany High School won the mile in 4:17.3 and Jerry Van Dyke of Hudson's Bay High School at Vancouver, Wash., captured the 440-yard dash in 49.4. Jim Price and Bob McAlpine of South Salem High ran second and third behind Wilborn in the mile.

League President Ruling Gives Hurler No-No Game

By United Press International
The Pacific Coast League all-star game is scheduled tonight at Spokane but all of the talk in the league is about the controversial no-hit, no-run game thrown Saturday night by Spokane pitcher Bob Radovich.

in the first game but a home run in the bottom of the ninth by Tony Olivo gave Dallas-Ft. Worth the decision. The second game was a pitchers' battle with Larry Foster giving Seattle eight hits, three less than his club got. Marv Mecklenburg took his seventh triumph against four losses.

The Giants tallied twice in the third inning and held the lead in the opener. Danny Rivas of Tacoma was the victor and has a 9-3 mark while Ben Johnson absorbed his fourth setback. Rivas was tough in the clutches.

Jerry Nelson got victory number four in the nightcap, besting Jerry Thomas who has seven losses against eight wins. No home runs were hit in either of the games.

Spokane Tops Hawaii
Spokane showed its first place form in the northern division by coming from behind in the ninth inning to beat Hawaii on a homer by Bart Shirley with two mates on the sacks. Joe Moeller, last of four Spokane hurlers, picked up his ninth win against seven reversals.

Portland and Salt Lake City split their twin affair, the Beavers taking the first 7-1 and the Bees the second 7-3. Aurekio Montenegro annexed the first game for Portland while Cal Koonce went the route for the Bees in the second.

In the battle for last place in the southern division, Denver and San Diego split. Denver won the opener 12-4 in a game featuring five home runs. San Diego took the seven inning nightcap 9-6.

Dark Feels Four Clubs In NL Race

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Manager Alvin Dark headed for the all star game today convinced that National League pennant will be settled among four clubs come late September.

The steady-eyed leader, who will pilot the N.L. all stars, wouldn't say the teams he had in mind. But it's a cinch that his San Francisco Giants and St. Louis Cardinals, who split a double header here Sunday, are two of them.

Then there's the roaring Los Angeles Dodgers, who lead the second place Giants by 2 1/2 games. And Chicago or Cincinnati.

Largest Crowd
A crowd of 42,787—the largest ever to attend a Giants game at Candlestick Park—watched them win the opener of Sunday's twin bill, 4-3, on third baseman Ken Boyer's error in the 15th inning.

Then Stan Musial belted a two-run homer off Juan Marichal in the seventh inning of the nightcap to start the Cards toward a 5-0 win that ended an eight-game losing streak.

Jim Ray Hart, the Giants' rookie from Tacoma, cracked two hits in the first game while manning third base then sustained a fractured left shoulder blade when Bob Gibson of the Cards hit him with a pitch.

Dr. E. C. Sailer, the Giants' physician, said that Hart would be out "for a matter of weeks."

Marichal Fined
Juan Marichal was docked the automatic $50 by plate umpire Al Barlick after Gibson had to duck from a close pitch following Hart's injury.

Dark would not discuss the incident other than to say that Hart's injury was "a shame."

Gibson and manager Johnny Keane of the Cards said they thought that Marichal let fly with a close pitch in retaliation but they denied any intent to hit the Giant rookie.

Boyer Mulls Grounder
The Giants, who closed out their home stand with a 6-5 mark won the opener when pinch hitter Jose Pagan hit a bases loaded grounder to the left of Boyer. Ken charged over to the ball which hit his glove and skipped into left field as Willie Mays scored.

Mrs. George Calderwood of Eugene snared low net honors in the 9-15 handicap division with 148. The two-day, 36-hole tourney got under way Friday at Juniper Golf Club near Redmond.

Okay, baseball experts, who is the National League's top left-handed pitcher, Warren Spahn or Sandy Koufax?

If you are a Spahn fan you can quote statistics to back your argument all day long, and maybe through the night, too. Koufax fans can wrap up their argument in a hurry, mostly because Sandy hasn't been around nearly as long as the soon-to-be-43 -pahn. But they are imposing figures at that.

Koufax, who was only seven years old when Spahn began his major league career with the Boston Braves in 1942, hurled his eighth shutout of the season Sunday, only two short of the National League record of 10 set by Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1942, as the NL leading Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Cincinnati Reds, 4-0, in the first game of a doubleheader.

Spahn matched that performance about six hours later when he set the Houston Colts down on five hits in a 4-0 victory. It was Spahn's fourth shutout of the season and the 59th of his long career.

The victory was Spahn's 12th of the season against four losses. Koufax, who allowed the Reds just three hits, is 14-3. Both are scheduled for some duty on Tuesday in the All-Star game in Cleveland. Spahn goes into the classic with an earned run average of 2.67. Sandy has an even more glittering average of 1.73.

Dodgers Score Early
The Dodgers wrapped up the first game against the Reds in the first inning when rookie third baseman Ken McMullen singled across two runs. Bob Purkey, who had been showing signs of regaining his old form after nursing a sore arm for most of the season, took the loss, his fifth against three victories.

Los Angeles also won the second game, 3-1, behind the seven-hit pitching of rookie Nick Villhite and Ron Ferranski. Catcher Doug Camilli hit the key blow, a two-run homer in the fourth, as the Dodgers widened their lead over the second-place San Francisco Giants to three games.

The Giants split their doubleheader with the St. Louis Cardinals, winning the first in 15 innings, 4-3, and the Cards taking the nightcap, 5-0. In the other games, the Philadelphia Phillies clipped the third-place Chicago Cubs, 3-2, and the Pittsburgh Pirates buried the hapless New York Mets, 11-5.

In the American League, the first-place Yankees split a doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians, rallying to take the nightcap, 7-4, in 10 innings after the Indians won the opener, 11-3; the surprising Washington Senators extended their winning streak to seven by sweeping the Los Angeles Angels, 7-3 and 6-4; the Baltimore Orioles edged the Minnesota Twins in 10 innings, 4-3; the Chicago White Sox nipped the Boston Red Sox in 12 innings, 4-1, and Detroit and Kansas City split the Tigers winning the first game 5-1, and the A's the nightcap, 8-7.

Boyer Fumbles Grounder
The Giants struggled for three hours and 55 minutes before beating the Cardinals in their opener, the winning run coming across when Ken Boyer fumbled pinch-hitter Jose Pagan's grounder with the bases loaded and one out in the bottom of the 15th inning. Bill White's 14th homer gave the Cards a 3-2 lead in the 13th but the Giants got that one back on a single by rookie Jim Hart and a double by Ed Bailey.

Stan Musial rapped a two-run homer in the seventh of the nightcap to break a scoreless tie and the Cards went on to score three more in the ninth as Bob Gibson picked up his eighth victory. Juan Marichal (13-4) was the loser. A crowd of 42,787, the largest turnout in Candlestick Park's history, saw the doubleheader.

The Philadelphia Phillies beat the Cubs on Cookie Rijoas' ninth-inning single and clutch pitching by Dallas Green. Green came on to get the final out after Ryne Duren filled the bases on successive walks to Billy Williams, Ron Santo and Ernie Banks. Jack Baldschun (6-4) was the winner in relief of Art Mahaffey.

The Pirates, who rapped New York pitching for 17 hits on Saturday night, kept right on going with another 15-hit assault, featured by homers by Smokey Burgess, Bob Bailey and Don Clendenon. It was the Mets' 10th straight loss.
