Humor Float Wins Trophy

LAKEVIEW — A humorous float entered in the Alturas Pandango Days celebration parade on July 4 resulted in a trophy and two ribbons for the Eagles Lodge of Lakeview. Taking part in the parade were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cannon, Irving Gardner, John McKinney, Clara Pauck, Dick Wallston, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Poole.

The Strutting Honkers, Lakeview youth twirler group, won first in each of the senior and junior divisions.

At the Oregon State Eagles Convention in Coos Bay recently, the Eagles Auxiliary won a trophy for placing first in the fun parade. Taking part were Mary Luck, Clara Pauck, Joy Shields, Ethel Pepper, Lola Poole, Marie Peterson, and Mary Stanley, all dressed in Lakeview's "Tall Man" theme.

Soil Chemist Gives Advice

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Farmers bothered with acid soil can do wonders with the proper application of limestone, soil chemist W. F. Bennett of Texas A&M College says.

Bennett says the beneficial effects of adding limestone have been known for a long time, but farmers often fail to use the right amount. Soil testing is the best way to find out which soil needs limestone — and how much, Bennett says. Soil tests can determine the level of acidity, organic matter content, and the calcium level, all of which affect the need for limestone.

ATOMIC ELECTRICITY

By the end of 1962, five nations (the United States, the United Kingdom, France, the Soviet Union and Canada) had demonstrated capacity to produce electrical power from atomic energy, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

Herald and News

cal futures of leading Republicans next spring.

Under Oregon's unique primary election law, Howell Appling Jr. will arbitrarily select whom he considers to be the front running candidates for the White House.

Because of this, many political observers are predicting the 1964 Oregon primary could be the select.

most significant election in the nation.

President John F. Kennedy is expected to get the Democratic nomination.

But the Republicans have a wide open race.

Appling, a Republican, refuses to speculate as to whom he might select.

But many observers feel if he had to make the selection today, he would list four men as Republican presidential candidates:

Like that of other vertebrates, human blood has the same ratio of dissolved salts as ocean water, but in lower concentration.

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, Michigan Gov. George Romney, and Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton.

to keep them from being hardened with frozen snow.

The winner of the early — May 15 — Oregon primary will have a powerful campaign advantage. The losers may not be able to overcome the defeat.

And what happens to Gov. Mark Hatfield, long an unannounced but active campaigner for the vice presidency?

Appling didn't list any vice presidential candidates in 1960, and he may not do so next spring. This could take Hatfield off the political book.

Oregon's primary law directs the Secretary of State "to place the names of candidates upon the ballot when he shall have determined in his sole discretion that to become a candidate."

HERALD AND NEWS, Klamath Falls, Oregon

such candidate's candidacy is generally advocated or recognized in national news media throughout the United States."

The only way a nominee can withdraw is to file affidavit "stating without qualification that he is not now and does not intend to become a candidate."

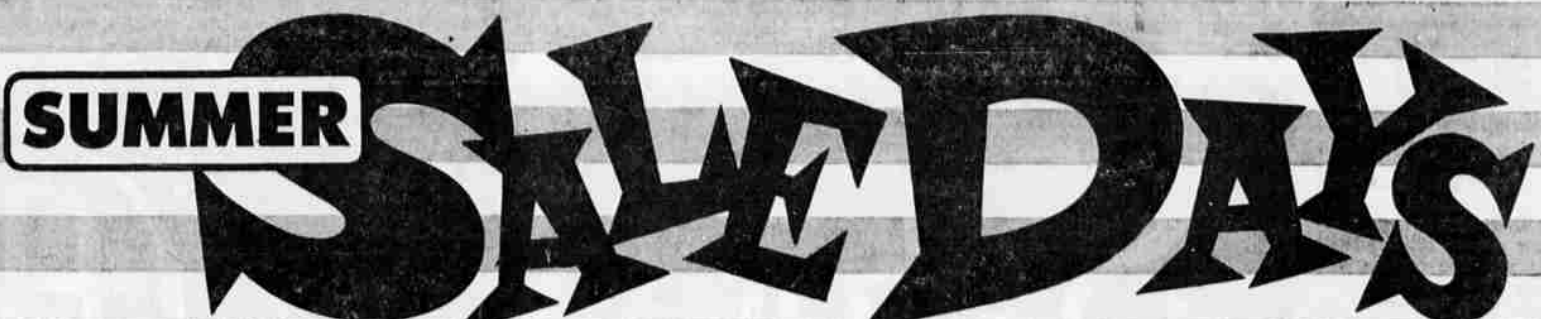

Thursday, July 11, 1963

The political climate may change greatly between now and March 6, the day Appling makes his choice public.

If Rockefeller, Goldwater, Romney and Scranton are the choices, and all four are seriously courting the nomination, Oregon will become a key testing ground.
