

'Around World' Musical Is Spectacular Show

By JACK GAVAR
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—That musical version of "Around the World in 80 Days" at the outdoor Marine Theater at Jones Beach turned out just fine, and don't miss it if you reach these parts this summer or next.

Spectacular, of course, is the word for Guy Lombardo's production of the musical conceived by Michael Todd Jr., based on the celebrated film his late father made with a bow to Jules Verne's novel.

The gigantic production whips along at good speed on the theater's two immense stage areas and in the lagoon that separates the amphitheater from the island where the main sets are housed. June Taylor, who also devised the many dances, did a wonderful job, abetted by the endless inventiveness and skill of set designer George Jenkins.

Most of the highlights of London clubman Phileas Fogg's 1872 trip around the world have been worked into the show by librettist Sid Herzig and songwriters Sammy Fain and Harold Adamson. The score is lively and tuneful.

Among the more spectacular effects are the balloon that helps speed Fogg and valet Passepartout on their way, the rescue of an Indian princess from a jungle suture, an escape on an elephant, wild doings in a saloon on San Francisco's Barbary Coast, an American Indian attack on a train, the burning of the superstructure of the S. S. Henrietta to supply fuel for her boilers.

The show plays nightly—weather permitting—until Labor Day. It will be repeated next summer.

Producer Alexander H. Cohen was selected by the directors of the Sam S. Shubert Foundation

OLDEST SCIENCE

Astronomy is the oldest of the sciences. Greek nature philosophers, as early as the 6th Century B.C., proposed a plan of the universe with the earth as a stationary globe with the sky around it, a great spherical shell on whose inner surface the stars were thought to be set like jewels.

to receive their ninth award for the outstanding individual contribution to the New York stage for the 1962-63 season.

Cohen's "Beyond the Fringe" still is one of the most popular shows in town. During the season he also presented "The School for Scandal," Maurice Chevalier's one-man entertainment, "Lorenzo," Sir John Gielgud in "Ages of Man" and the Karmon Israeli Dancers.

After exhaustive search, the producer of Meredith Willson's new musical, "Here's Love," decided upon seven-year-old Sheri Bond, of New York, for the important child's role in the show. She is the daughter of a singer-dancer and her aunt is prominent comedienne Sheila Bond, but the girl has had no acting experience or even training. The producer chanced upon her quite by accident, felt she looked just right and discovered in an audition that she is a natural.

NEW 'MET' — Approval of plans for the interior of the Metropolitan Opera, Company, being constructed at Lincoln Center for the performing arts, has been announced. The new house will retain essentially the horseshoe shape of the old theater. The new 'Met' will seat 3,765 compared with 3,625 in the old. The new building will cost more than $40 million and is now under construction.

Bathtub Waterline Is Measure

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — When Hollywood strips a star nude for the movie cameras she is almost always dunked in a bathtub to utilize the audience.

The degree of nudity is measured by the high (or low) water line.

And the nude generally is a glamour girl—Jayne Mansfield, Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Liz Taylor and the like.

Rarely, if ever, does a dedicated actor studio-type ever take the plunge. You know, it's beneath their dignity and like that.

But Carroll Baker, the girl who stunned movie-goers as a thumbsucking nymph in "Baby Doll," will have audiences in a dither once again. She not only disrobes entirely for the latest picture, she doesn't even have a tub of water to hide in.

No Cover-Up
Actors studio graduate Baker is true to her method acting background, too. She wore no flesh-colored leotard nor any of the other clever little cover-ups favored by other actresses supposedly appearing in the nude.

For her opening scene in "The Carpetbaggers" Carroll appeared absolutely stark, bare, altogether naked.

"I felt a little embarrassed," Carroll confessed with just the trace of a blush blooming on her pretty face. "But I concentrated as much as I could on the scene which called for me to be alone in my boudoir. So I couldn't just sit there looking self-conscious."

The set at Paramount was cleared of all unauthorized personnel, including some members of the crew.

Director Eddie Dmytryk maintained a skeleton crew, including the cameraman, a couple of electricians and a grip or two to shoot the scene.

"My makeup woman and wardrobe woman were there, too," Carroll said. "For some reason I wanted other females around."

"I held a robe around me as long as possible. Then they were ready to go and I had to let it drop. The whole thing took about a half hour as they shot the scene—with me sitting in front of a dressing mirror—in four takes."

"They wanted four different camera angles just to be on the safe side, to see that not too much of me showed."

Carroll was pleased that there were no jokes from the crew, no giggles nor other untoward behavior.

"Everyone was very professional about it," she said.

"But I didn't go to see the rushes the next day. I was too self-conscious about seeing myself naked on the screen. Really, I didn't have a stitch on except for my slippers."

DISCUSS RIGHTS — Actors Tony Franciosa, left, and Burt Lancaster, right, join Rev. H. H. Brookings as guests on a panel in Beverly Hills discussing civil rights problems in the wealthy movieland community. Some 2,500 persons attended the meeting sponsored by the American Civil Liberties Union and the American Jewish Congress.

Hits Offered Jazz Fans

NEW YORK (UPI) — Teen-agers and modern jazz buffs should have no trouble finding what they want on records this summer.

Roulette has issued 12 LP's of "Golden Goodies" which play back tunes that have become hits. Each tune is the original as performed by the artist who made it popular.

Jazz lovers should especially welcome "Norman Granz Presents 'Jazz at the Philharmonic' in Europe." This is a four LP series issued on M-G-M's Verve label and records the jazz wizardry of such giants as Coleman Hawkins, Roy Eldridge, Jo Jones, Stan Getz, J. J. Johnson and Dizzy Gillespie, just to mention a few.

Space does not permit a review of each of the 12 LP's comprising the "Golden Goodies" but each LP should delight the teen-ager.

Vol. 1 (Roulette R25207) offers "Paper Castles" by Frankly Lymon, "Ding Dong" by the Echoes and "Glorious Love" by the Angels. In Vol. 2 (Roulette R25210) Roulette has obtained hit originals from other labels such as "Tears on My Pillow" by Little Anthony & The Imperials, "Look In My Eyes" by Chantels and "Chapel of Dreams" by Dubs. This LP sets the tone for the remaining 10, which star performers of other companies, and feature Chubby Checker, Joey Dee, Dion, Chuck Berry as well as Roulette's own proven teenage favorites.

The economy-minded teen-ager should be reminded that he can buy each LP separately but he probably will want all eventually. The Norman Granz LP's over-extended arrangements of "Take the A Train" and "Indiana" (Verve V-8541), "Kusk," which occupies an entire side (Verve V-8542), and "Sweet Georgia Brown" and "Bop 'n' Boogie" (Verve V-8540).
