

Roberts Ruins Peters' No-Hitter; Mets Break Losing Streak

White Sox Blank Orioles In Tilt

By United Press International
The odds are better than 1,000 to 1 and they're even higher that you'd never guess who ruined Gary Peters' bid for one.

The villain was rival pitcher Robin Roberts, who has seen a number of his own no-hitters ruined but never before had acted as the spoiler himself.

Peters, a 26-year-old southpaw for the Chicago White Sox, struck out 13 batters and did not walk any in beating the Baltimore Orioles, 4-0.

Winner In Sight Of Goal

HONOLULU (UPI) — The 72-foot ketch Ticonderoga, apparently enjoying nothing but favorable winds, was expected to sail past Diamond Head today as the first finisher in the 1963 Trans-Pacific yacht race.

The crew of the Ticonderoga, which is under charter to Robert F. Johnson of Portland, Ore., reported Monday night that it was "out of whiskey, women, cigarettes and water" but had land in sight.

At the earlier roll call, the ketch was just 170 miles from the finish line in the 2,225-mile race, which began in Los Angeles on July 4.

The Audacious, Baldwin M. Baldwin's 72-foot yawl out of Newport Beach, reported she was 267 miles from Diamond Head and making good time under a 15-knot wind.

The little class D 40-foot sloop Islander, owned by Thomas C. Corbett of Balboa, appeared to be the potential winner for both the fleet and her class on a handicap basis. She logged an impressive 182 miles in the 24 hours preceding the roll call and stood just 542 miles from Honolulu.

Australia's Astor finally found good winds and pulled to within 332 miles of the finish line at roll call. She had logged 185 miles in 24 hours.

Japan's Contessa reported her position at 512 miles from Hawaii, which indicated a day's run of only 25 miles. Race officials said this probably was due to a miscalculation.

The Novia Del Mar, 90-foot scratch boat of the fleet owned by publisher John P. Scripps of San Diego, found favorable winds for a 24-hour run of 191 miles, which put her 210 miles out of Hawaii.

However, as a result of winds in the south during the early days of the race, the Scripps' boat remained 28th in fleet handicap standings and last in her class of seven class A entries.

The first three corrected time leaders all were class D boats—the Islander, Tiare and Mamie. Corrected time leaders by class and their distance from Honolulu were:

Class A — Ticonderoga (170), Orient (320), Audacious (257).
Class B — Legend (387), Ichiban (415), Khamsin (420).
Class C — Mistress (473), Annie Too (473), Patronilla (497).
Class D — Islander (542), Tiare (570), Mamie (552).

Don Larsen's World Series masterpiece in 1956.

Can't Beat It
"No one can ever beat that," Larsen still quips. "The best anyone can ever do is tie it."

Peters lost his chance to even tie it when Roberts singled up the middle with two out in the third inning, after which the White Sox lefty retired the last 19 batters in order to become only the third southpaw to pitch a complete game against the Orioles this season.

J. C. Martin assured Peters his seventh victory with two-run homer in the fifth and Tom McCraw also connected with one on in the eighth. The blows dealt Roberts his ninth loss in 15 decisions.

The Kansas City A's outlasted the first place New York Yankees, 11-10, in 12 innings, the Boston Red Sox nipped the Los Angeles Angels, 2-1, Minnesota routed Cleveland, 13-1, and Washington drubbed Detroit, 11-6.

The Athletics-Yankees marathon went three hours and 41 minutes before Bill Stafford walked Jerry Lumpe with the bases full in the 12th to force in the winning run. The Yanks broke an 8-1 tie with three runs in the 11th but the A's came right back with three runs of their own. Ed Charles hit a pair of homers and John Blanchard connected for one. Rookie reliever Pete Lovrich was credited with his first major league victory.

Homer Settles Game
Frank Malzone's 13th homer in the sixth inning off Don Lee settled matters between the Red Sox and Angels. The victory was Boston's fifth in its last seven contests and the loss was the 12th for Los Angeles in its last 14 games. Bill Monbouquette brought his record to 13-6 although Dick Radatz came on in the eighth and pitched hitless ball.

Dick Stigman's four-hit pitching and three homers by the Twins proved too much for the Indians. Earl Battey hit his 20th homer with one on in the second inning. Don Mincher belted a two-run homer in the third and Harmon Killebrew socked his 21st with one on in the seventh. All three homers came off Dick Donovan, whose record now is 6-6. The victory was Stigman's eighth against nine losses.

Home runs by Chuck Hinton and Bobo Osborne off Jim Munger of the Tigers carried the Senators to their ninth victory in 11 games. Don Rudolph registered his fifth victory although Ronnie Kline took over for him in the eighth following Bubba Phillips' three-run homer.

Marlene Hagge Wins Golf Meet

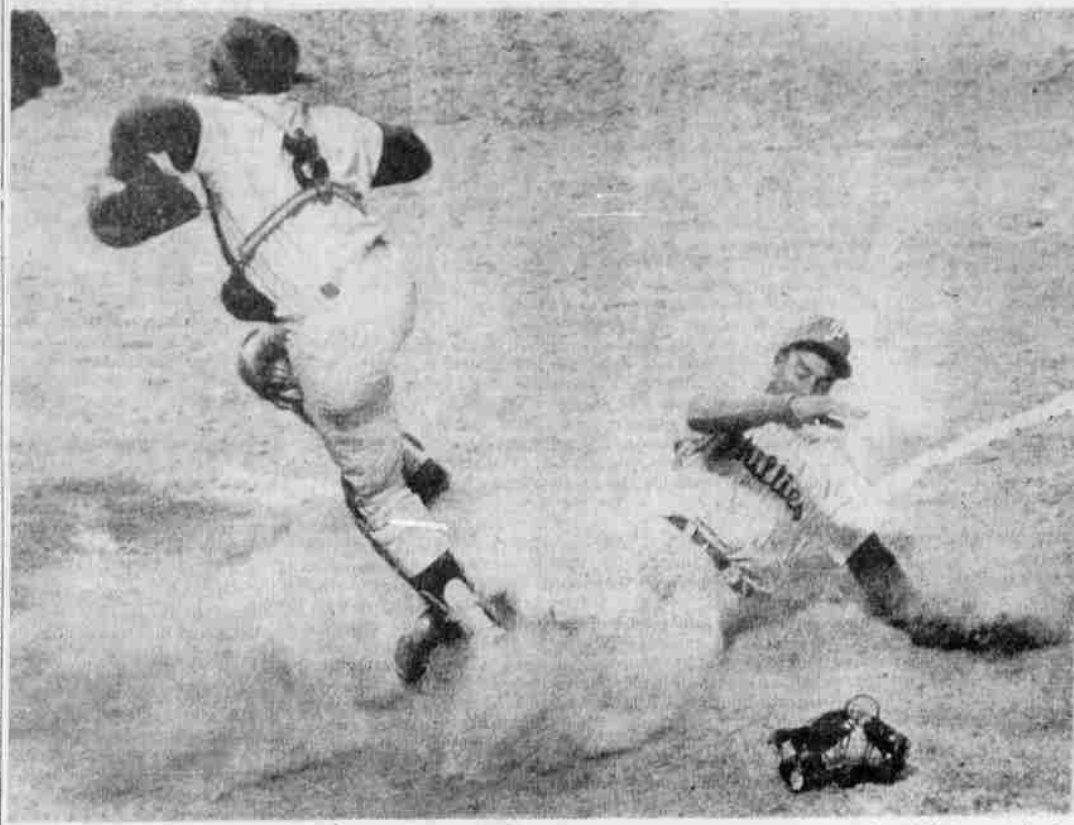

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (UPI)—Marlene Bauer Hagge was speechless after winning the Sight Open golf tournament—and with good reason.

It was her first victory on the ladies' PGA circuit since the Hoosier State Open in Indianapolis in 1960.

"It's been so long since I had the pleasure of accepting this honor that I hardly know what to say," Marlene giggled after shooting a 69 in the final round for a 54-hole total of 208.

Mrs. Hagge started the third round, which was postponed by rain Sunday, with a three-stroke lead over Kathy Whitworth, who wound up in third place with a 218 after soaring to a 76 in her final trip over the Turf Valley Country Club course.

Mickey Wright carded a 73 in the final round to finish second with a 217 — nine strokes back of Mrs. Hagge.

PHILLIES' TAYLOR SCORES — Although it might appear that Dodgers catcher John Roseboro is trying to get out of the way of the flying spikes of Phillies' Tony Taylor, actually he is trying to catch up with a bad throw from centerfielder Willie Davis, who fielded a single by Philadelphia's Tony Gonzalez. Taylor scored on the hit in the fifth inning at Connie Mack Stadium. The Phils broke a Dodger win streak with a victory. — UPI Telephoto

PGA Winner Gets Crack At Big Money In 'World Series Of Golf'

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

DALLAS (UPI) — They'll go out in murderous heat this week in search of the PGA golf championship and a chance to become a television star.

The PGA is, of course, one of the most coveted titles in golf. But the ketchup on the caviar, while you can't knock the $15,000 top prize, is a shot at another $50,000 two months hence.

That will come in the televised "World Series Of Golf" for which Jack Nicklaus, Julius Boros and left-hander Bob Charles already have qualified as a result of their respective victories in the Masters, U.S. Open and British Open.

The PGA champion rounds out the four-man field for that Sept. 7-8 offering over NBC-TV and the sponsors are "fat and happy" regardless of who wins this one.

Show Is A Winner
Even if one of those three pulls a "double" in the PGA, the TV show has to be a winner. For in such an event, the losers in previous playoffs — Jack Cupit and Arnold Palmer in the U.S. Open and Phil Rodgers in the British Open — will play 18 holes at Firestone Country Club in Akron, site of the spectacular on Sept. 3 for the extra berth.

That fourth place playoff, if it comes to that, could be a pip in itself, particularly if one of the Nicklaus-Boros-Charles threesome wins a PGA playoff. Although there have been five in the last six tournaments, a new winner in the PGA would lead to a big prize for the television cameras at Akron.

Interest in the "World Series" — which teed off last year when Nicklaus bested Palmer and Gary Player — is at a fever pitch among the men who line their wallets with a wedge because the $50,000 first prize almost equals the total purses of the four big championships. The Masters paid $20,000, the Open $16,000, the British a mere $4,200 and the PGA $13,000.

Palmer Is A Draw
"A lot of people feel that we won't have a show unless we have Palmer," said Ed Carter, who beats the drums for the so-called World Series, an out and out television spectacular and yet one sure to provoke tremendous national interest. "But if we have to depend on one man, I say forget it."

There are two particularly interesting facets to the "world series."

One is the choice of costumes which the competitors will be given in the order of their victories and the other is the exposure of the left-hand Charles to parents who have been trying to break their offspring of southpaw habits.

Local Loan Cops Babe Ruth Title

Local Loan wrapped up the South Suburban Babe Ruth title Monday night with a slugging 12-10 victory over rugged South Sixth Street Oxygen team. Liston Aircraft won the other Monday game, 12-0, over Musgrove Plumbing.

Other games over the weekend found a big upset when Liston Aircraft upset Interstate Pump which left them in a tie for second with South Sixth Oxygen. Liston won that game, 5-2. Metler Brothers beat Musgrove, 14-1, and also beat K.C. Paint, 13-8.

The title game Monday night was anything but a pitcher's duel. The winning Local Loaners tagged 11 hits off three Oxygen pitchers while winner Johnny Ferrell went the distance in allowing 15 hits.

The winners got the hits when they were most crucial. Mike Cunningham led the winners with three singles. Gary Fanning chipped in with two doubles and Ferrell had a triple and single. David Warren also had a triple and single. The losers were paced by Greg Huck who laced four hits, including a triple. Barry Hackler had a triple and two singles and Gary Dalton two singles. The other hits were scattered although Tom Osa had a double as did Nolan Ferrell.

Liston clobbered hapless Musgrove on one-hit pitching by Dan Lyons. He went the route in striking out seven. Kelly Cassidy took the loss and he was relieved by Joe Snyder.

Liston got only six hits with Leland Estenson leading the way with a pinch-hit home run. Bob James had two singles. Rich Baker had the only hits off Lyons for the losers.

Liston's Ron Murphy chucked a neat two-hit game at Interstate Pump Saturday. Sam Hill was the loser on a seven-hit performance.

Tom Coleman and Steve Buhig got the two singles off Murphy. The winners were paced at the plate by Dan Lyons with two singles. Tom Hall belted a triple. Metler's dumped Musgrove by lashing 13 hits off loser Rich Baker and reliever Kenny Phelps.

The losers got only four hits off winner Scott Smelcer and reliever Paul Lattin.

Terry Metler, Billy Ryan, Lattin, Dale Ragalowski and Dave Martisak all got two hits each for the winners. Ryan's included a triple. Barry Gourley also had a triple. Musgrove's four hits were scattered singles.

Metler's also beat K. C. Paint with Terry Metler going the route on 10 hits for the win. Metler's got only nine hits off four Painter pitchers for the win.

Metler's hits were big ones, however. Smelcer laced a homer and triple. Metler two singles, Gourley a double and single and Ryan a homer and double. The losers were paced by Jim Goodman with a double and single. Mike Long with two singles, Larry Ward with a double and single and David O'Brien a pair of singles.

Phillies End Dodgers' Win Streak; Pitcher Hits Slam

By United Press International
Everything happens to Don Nottebart.

First he pitches a no-hitter but it's not actually a no-hit, no-run game.

And then he pitches a fine four-hit shutout for the Houston Colts Monday night, but technically it won't go into the books as a shutout.

"Maybe I'm just not living right," he laughed. "I guess I'll never come closer to pitching a shutout."

Nottebart missed by only one final pitch Monday night, and even though he hurled a no-hitter two months ago, he still has not pitched a shutout in the majors.

Here was the situation: The Mets had broken a 15-game losing streak with a 14-5 victory over the Colts in the opener of a two-night doubleheader.

Injured Ankle
Nottebart zipped through the first 8 2-3 innings of the nightcap and then had two strikes on Jim Hickman when Houston leading, 8-0. He suddenly injured his right ankle pushing off the mound and needed help.

"I couldn't throw another pitch," he said.

So Hal Woodeshick came out of the bullpen, made only one pitch — a strike — and it was all over with the Colts on top, 8-0.

"I'm not kicking as long as we win," said the 27-year-old Colt right-hander.

The victory Monday night was his sixth of the season and first since his no-hitter. Roger Craig dropped his 13th game in a row and his 15th of the season when Colt catcher Jim Campbell tagged him for a three-run homer during a five-run first inning.

Hit Grand Slam
In the opener, Met pitcher Carl Willey hit a grand slam homer during a six-run second inning rally which wrapped up the contest.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Phillies ended the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak with a 5-4 victory in 11 innings. Cincinnati defeated Milwaukee, 4-3, in 12 innings. Pittsburgh swept a pair from San Francisco, 2-1 and 4-1, and the Cubs beat the Cardinals, 2-0.

Second baseman Nate Oliver's two base error on Don Demeter's pop fly followed by Bob Oldis' single in the 11th off Ed Roebuck produced the winning run for the Phillies against the Dodgers. Don Drysdale started for the Dodgers but was raked for 10 hits, including a homer by Roy Sievers, during the 4 2-3 innings he worked. Jack Baldschun was credited with his seventh victory in relief. Reds Strand 18

The Reds stranded 18 base runners in their game with the Braves but still won it with the help of John Edwards' 12th inning triple. Frank Funk then walked two men intentionally and pinch hitter Ken Walters unintentionally, forcing in the winning run.

Al Worthington, who fanned six batters in four scoreless innings of relief, was the winner. Eddie Mathews and Tommy Harper hit homers.

The Pirates, who had lost all four of their previous meetings with the Giants this season, beat Juan Marichal in the opener on Willie Stargell's ninth inning single with the bases full. Joe Gibbon made it a sweep when he struck out eight in the nightcap, including Willie Mays three times. Al McBean posted his ninth triumph in the opener.

Southpaw Dick Ellsworth was a one-man gang in the Cubs' win over the Cardinals, limiting St. Louis to three hits in 6 2-3 innings and singling home both of Chicago's runs off Ernie Broglio in the seventh. Lindy McDaniel finished up and protected Ellsworth's 13th victory.

Humphrey Loses Bout Narrowly

Grant Humphrey, Klamath Union wrestler, lost his first match against the Japanese wrestlers as the Oregon High School All-Star team began its tour through Japan.

Humphrey's loss was a very narrow 1-0 loss to Hideo Hirao of Sansho. The Americans split with the Japanese team. The American heavyweights are having to wrestle Japanese college wrestlers because of the weight difference between the two nations.

The American team left today for Sendai and their second of nine competitive stops. On each occasion they will be wrestling district championship teams.

Cepeda Lawyer Appeals Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Orlando Cepeda's attorney made plans today for appealing the big slugger's $1 million libel suit which never got to first base in federal court.

U.S. District Court Judge Lloyd H. Burke dismissed Cepeda's complaint against Look Magazine Monday, saying that the article in question was "somewhat innocuous although in some areas it may not have been as flattering as the subject would have liked."

The San Francisco Giants first baseman filed suit following publication of the piece on May 21.

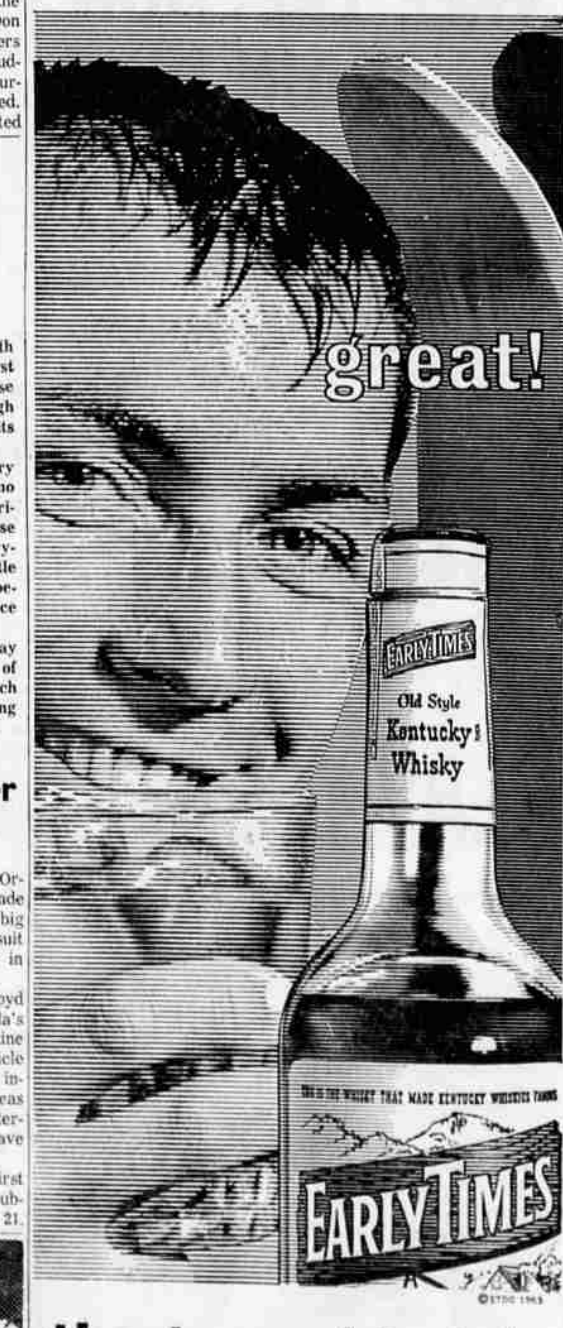

Look Magazine's article said Cepeda was "a selfish, arrogant, and dishonest person who is not a team player."
