

Ringworm, Skin Attacks Require Exacting Care

By W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is ringworm primarily a fungus condition or a blood condition? How can I get rid of it? Is it the same as athlete's foot?

A—Ringworm is a fungus disease that may attack any part of the skin but it has a marked preference for parts that are moist. For this reason it is common in the groin and in the feet where it is called athlete's foot. Many persons who are not in the least athletic also get it. A new fungicide, chloroxylonol, has proved very effective in some persons who have used it.

Recent studies indicate that in some persons rod-shaped bacteria rather than a fungus cause athlete's foot. This would account for the failure of some victims to get relief from any of the fungicides and for their cure by other drugs.

It all boils down to what I have said many times in the past: First, find the exact cause. When this is done the treatment prescribed by your doctor is often surprisingly easy. But always, you must keep your feet as dry as possible as much of the time as possible.

Q—For several weeks I have had a salty taste in my mouth. I've checked with my dentist and have used different kinds of mouthwash but nothing seems to help. What could cause this?

A—This rather baffling symptom is observed in some persons who smoke excessively. If you smoke try cutting it out for four or five weeks and see whether the salty taste disappears. Cutting out smoking will give you other dividends as well. On the other hand, the taste may be due to an acid saliva in contact with an amalgam filling, but such a cause would have been discovered by your dentist. In a few persons sleeping with the mouth open is associated with a salty taste.

If you are taking medicines that contain ammonium or calcium chloride, sodium or potassium iodide, or sodium bicarbonate, this could be the cause. If you are not taking any of these try cutting down or eliminating table salt from your diet for a week and see if that will not help you.

Q—What would cause me to feel pain in a leg that was taken off 10 years ago?

A—Nearly every person who has an amputation has some painful sensation in the severed ending of the nerve that supplied the lost leg. This is called phantom leg pain. In most persons this clears up in a few months. Operations to further remove sensory pathways to or in the brain have been attempted when the pain is persistent and severe, but the results are often disappointing.

Valley Rodeo Queen Selected

FORT ROCK — Marilyn Ward of Fort Rock will reign as queen of the second annual Christmas Valley Rodeo July 27-28, beginning at 2 p.m. on the 27th.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Ward, the queen is 16 years old and will be a senior at Bend High School this fall. Princesses Terry Ann and Janice Foster and Velma Reper, all of Summer Lake, comprise the queen's court. Tryouts were held July 21.

At an evening dinner party, the queen's silver belt buckle was awarded by Mel Brown in behalf of the M. Penn Phillips Company. Ed Cater, manager of Christmas Valley Lodge, presented a cake with decorations forming a crown.

Judges for the queen contest were: Red Withers, Summer Lake; Melvin Rosebrook, Silver Lake; and Reub Long, Fort Rock.

Plastic Contact Lens Brings New Life To Many

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A tiny piece of plastic has brought a new life to a baton-twirling beauty queen, a jet pilot who logs continuous hours in a B32, and a Negro porter who once could see only a hand before his face.

They are a few of more than 530 persons throughout the country who are wearing a new type contact lens.

The Pupils, a variation of the much-used contact lens, was developed by Memphis optometrist Dr. Irving P. Filderman. The tiny eyepiece rests on the lower lid of the eye, unlike its bigger brother, and covers only 35 per cent of the cornea compared to the 89 per cent covered by the contact. Because the lens is separated from the upper lid, Filderman says, there is a decrease of pressure on the cornea, increasing comfort and lessening chances of the Pupils becoming dislodged.

Beauty Queen Leads Way
A striking brunette led the enterprising optometrist to the Pupils.

Rita Wilson, Miss Tennessee of 1961 and Miss Dixie of 1962, had been Filderman's patient since she was 15, and was virtually the first one he fitted with the Pupils. "With Rita, we had the challenge of retaining perfect appearance and offering a stability in the lens that would allow her to participate with ease in beauty contests and twirling exhibitions," Filderman said.

Rita wore her Pupils for the first time about two weeks before she entered the Miss Dixie contest in Daytona Beach, Fla.

"Not only did she adapt well to the lens," Filderman said, "but she won the contest."

Another challenge came early this year in Booker T. Merriweather, 55-year-old Negro porter for a Memphis television station who had a cataract. Several operations proved fruitless.

"Now I see very well," Merriweather said. "Those lenses are my life."

A special problem brought about development of the Pupils' counterpart, the Bi-Ped.

Col. Allen R. Tennyson, an Air Force pilot who flies the big Air Command B32's, needed bifocal lenses. Because of bulk head gear and the stress of high-altitude, top-speed flying, Tennyson found wearing glasses virtually impossible.

He tried contact lenses and found they sometimes became dislodged, occasionally at crucial moments when he was piloting his air craft. Filderman gave him with the Pupils, which near-sight served his purpose, but did not short-range vision. Filderman went to work on a lens that would include all the advantages of the Pupils and also be bifocal. He came up with the Bi-Ped.

It departs from the circular shape of the Pupils but retains its small and light-weight qualities. It has an indentation at the bottom which gives it the appearance of sitting on short, fat legs.

It had the stability, it would not move from the desired position when he was piloting in the wearer's eye. This gave Filderman the chance to insert the bifocal lens with the as-yet unperfected long-range and place.

give him perfect long-range and place.
