Sentiment Reported To Be Jelling In Favor Of $10 Billion Tax Slice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sentiment seemed to be jelling in the House Ways & Means Committee today in favor of a $10 billion tax cut, with one half to go into effect next Jan. 1 and the other half a year later.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., gave his first hint of this possible timetable for tax reduction in a question he put Monday to Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon at a hearing on the national debt limit.

Mills asked what the effect would be on government revenues in the current fiscal year if Congress approved a tax bill that contained provisions for reducing taxes by $3 billion, effective Jan. 1.

Dillon replied that it would cut revenues only about $1.5 billion. Mills, who appeared satisfied with the response, did not pursue the matter. But several other committee members said later sentiment was swinging toward that tax-cut plan.

President Kennedy has proposed a three-stage $19.4 billion net tax cut, with reductions becoming effective July 1, 1963, Jan. 1, 1964 and July 1, 1965.

As he did repeatedly recently, with civil rights and the railroad legislation occupying the attention of Congress, the President today again stressed the urgency for action this year on taxes.

Kennedy told Democratic congressional leaders at their weekly White House conference that "the need for this (tax) legislation is as urgent today as it was when he sent the tax message to the hill." Speaker John W. McCormack, Mass., said.

McCormack said the House leaders assured the President that they were hopeful a tax measure would emerge from Mills' committee "in the reasonably near future."

The speaker said the leadership agreed with Kennedy, during the conference, that "even though the economy is on the upswing, the long-term economic health of the country demands prompt, strong action against the twin cankers of unemployment and underdeveloped resources."

Before starting its final round of voting Wednesday to draft a compromise version of Kennedy's tax proposal, the Ways & Means Committee was called into closed session today to consider the administration request that the temporary $309 billion national debt limit be extended through Nov. 30.

along with the request. In the absence of legislation, the debt limit would plunge on Sept. 1 to $235 billion, the level provided by permanent law. The debt, which stands now at about $306 billion, is expected to total $307 billion on Sept. 1.

A three-month extension of the existing limit would merely postpone until mid-August an administration fight to boost the debt ceiling to a new record high for the second time this year.
