

MALIN VISITORS — Recent guests at the Marvin Shell home in Malin were Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Shell and Scott, 2, and Shari Malin, 1, from their home in Lincoln, Neb. The three women pictured, Mrs. Charles Shell, left, Mrs. Marvin Shell and Shari, share a common birthdate, March 31 with birth years of 1913, 1933 and 1962, respectively. Charles Shell was graduated from KUHS and attended University of Nebraska. He presently is in the farm management department of the National Bank of Commerce Trust and Savings in Lincoln. His parents have resided in the Klamath Basin since 1935, the past 10 years ranching in the Malin area. On their return trip the young family visited his sister, Mrs. Charles (Delores) Parrish and family in Sacramento.

TO LIVE IN GUAM — The Marden Pilette family left this week for Guam where Mrs. Pilette will teach ninth grade science and her husband, seventh, eighth and ninth grade mathematics at Barrigada Junior High School. He has been a member of the Henley High School teaching staff. Accompanying their parents were Patricia and Bard, former KUHS students. Living in Guam will be no new experience to this family for they were residents of the island before returning to Klamath Falls two years ago.

Church Rites Unite Couple

On June 22 at First Presbyterian Church the Rev. Robert C. Groves officiated at a nuptial ceremony in which Beverly Fae Andersen became the bride of Edgar Eugene Couch.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton L. Andersen and was given in marriage by her father. She wore for her wedding a short white chiffon dress with lace jacket. Her shoulder veil was held by a jeweled crown. On a white prayer book she carried a corsage of gardenias encircled with small carnations with white streamers. In keeping with family tradition, she wore the wedding ring of her great-grandmother.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Jack Padgett was dressed in a blue suit with complementary accessories.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lillian Couch, San Antonio, Tex., and Col. Edgar Earle Couch, San Francisco.

Jack Padgett was best man. Mrs. Andersen dressed for her daughter's wedding in a flowered jersey sheath with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Hope Street.

The wedding cake was served by Mrs. Gean Shanklin and punch and coffee by the bride's twin sisters, Nancy Dean and Gladys Jean Andersen.

Mereleen Peterson, Eugene, was in charge of the guest book.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson of Eugene, great-aunt and uncle of the bride, who were celebrating their 33rd wedding anniversary that day.

After a honeymoon trip to Eugene the newlyweds returned to this city to be at home at 233 1/2 Garden Avenue. Mrs. Couch is a student at KUHS. Her husband is employed by Interstate Pump Company.

NEWLYWEDS — Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Eugene Couch were married June 22 at First Presbyterian Church. She is the former Beverly Fae Andersen.

OVER THE GARDEN GATE

NORTHSIDE GARDEN CLUB

At the time of the regular meeting of the Northside Garden Club, July 29, a joint committee from the Klamath Falls and Northside garden clubs met at 10 a.m. in Moore Park to discuss plans for the flower show to be held by both clubs on Aug. 28 at the city library. The theme of the flower show is "See America First."

Following the committee meeting, the Northside Club had a potluck dinner after which the regular business meeting was held and the program given. The main business was discussion of the flower show and plans for a rummage sale. A report on the horticultural theme for the year, heather, was given by Mrs. Gary Price.

The program was on bird houses and nests and was given by Mrs. Bernard Valk. She had arranged a display to illustrate her talk.

One sumptuous "at home" costume features soft glowing blue warp print with a long overskirt which doubles as a cape.

Retirement Party Given

DUNSMUIR — Thelma Bender, manager of the Dunsmuir office of the California State Employment Department for the past 24 years, retired July 31.

Mrs. Bender's work predates the state employment office. She first worked for the depression-born National Reemployment Service in Dunsmuir in January, 1936, which in turn became state employment a year later.

Mrs. Bender was honored recently by department employees, a officials and friends at a retirement dinner party in Redding where she received a maple rocking chair. She has been secretary of the Dunsmuir Recreation Commission for 15 years and plans to continue this work plus other community service and church activities in Dunsmuir. Her daughters, Phyllis Kleaver and Mary Lee Rossetto, live in Dunsmuir and a son, Harry W. Bender Jr., lives in Concord. She has seven grandchildren.

Girl Given Lovely Doll

Young Linda Hunsaker came to Klamath Falls last week with her parents from White Plains, N.Y., little dreaming that when she returned home she would be accompanied by a lovely heirloom doll. The doll was a gift from her great-grandmother, Mrs. Laura Hunsaker, now 97 years old, who resides alone at her home on Martin Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hunsaker and Linda made the trip west to attend the golden wedding reception of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Hunsaker. The reception was an event of Sunday, Aug. 4 at First Baptist Church. The doll was given to Linda one day while she visited her great-grandmother who is just recuperating from a lengthy illness. Mrs. Hunsaker was given the doll 90 years ago by Hi Allen in Kelseyville, Calif., after the death of his daughter who was a childhood playmate of Mrs. Hunsaker's.

Despite its age, the doll is in excellent condition with hand-stitched cloth body and beautiful English China head. Glistening jet-black painted hair frames the delicate features of the half-smiling face.

With fine stitches, Mrs. Hunsaker made the clothes in the style of the time with tucks and lace. Eyelet lace finishes the full underskirts and handmade tatting edges the pantaloons. Long red stockings and red shoes of leather with cloth tops completes her attire.

Through the years the lovely doll has been unnamed waiting for her new mistress to call her Laura Lee after her great-grandmother.

Drapery Making Directions Told In OSU Circular

Summer's a good time to replace faded draperies in children's rooms, or give kitchen windows a spiffy new treatment. "Specials" on drapery fabrics plus a new Oregon State University extension circular can help the most inexperienced seamstress with drapery making.

The new circular "Make Your Own Draperies" helps the shopper select appropriate fabrics, figure yardage required, and construction techniques for both lined and unlined draperies.

Author Evelyn Funk, an OSU state extension agent, includes step-by-step diagrams for the drapery making process including tricky french pleats. Miss Funk was formerly home furnishing specialist at Oklahoma State University.

The last few pages of the circular are devoted to drapery hardware. Some of the hooks now on the market are shown and suggestions for their use given. Drapery rods and weighting shots used to make corners hang evenly are also discussed.

Copies of the new publication may be obtained free from the Klamath County Extension Office, P.O. Box 231, Klamath Falls, or phone TU 4-8151.

Furniture Talk

By Ben Ryan

"HOME FURNISHING IS OUR BUSINESS"
WHERE YOU BUY, you'll often hear it said, is just as important as what you buy. That truism is fairly obvious in the purchase of, say, automobile or a major home appliance, when after-sale service is extremely important.

But this common sense saying is equally true when it comes to buying home furnishings. After-sale service is not so vital, though you want to deal with a firm which stands behind the merchandise it sells. But there are other factors.

Selection is one. Within the wide area of good taste in interior decoration, there is plenty of room for individual preferences and family needs. You may want furniture small-sized for smaller rooms. You may be looking for an individual piece of a particular style and color to blend with existing furniture. A sofa may have to fit a limited well space. A lamp may need to be tall enough for balance with other pieces.

Quality is another consideration. Fine name manufacturers are your assurance of the hidden values of quality construction and expert finishing - adding up to lasting value.

You'll find a superb selection of quality furnishings in our showroom - and in addition, you'll find courteous, helpful service. You don't buy good furniture every day, and we will be glad to help you choose the right pieces.
