Rotary Club Members were busy making a last minute check of some of the livestock to be available for the annual 4-H Junior Livestock Show and Sale which they sponsor each fall. This year's event is slated for Aug. 18-20 at the Klamath County Fairgrounds.

MODOC WAR INCLUDED IN CLAIM...

Half Million Due State In Old War Claims

SALEM (UPI) —The Salem Capital Journal said today the federal government still owes the state of Oregon nearly $500,000 for state expenditures during the Civil War and two Indian campaigns in the 1870s.

The newspaper said Oregon Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton will investigate to see whether the claims still could be collected.

The newspaper said the state still has claims pending for $390,000 in bonus pay and bounties paid by the state to Oregon Militiamen who were mustered into federal service at Pacific Northwest Indian posts during the Civil War.

An additional $52,000 is claimed from state expenditures during the Modoc Indian War in 1872-1873 and $21,000 from the Umatilla Indian War of 1878.

The Capital Journal said the Civil War claim, resulting from two bond issues passed by the Oregon Legislature in 1864, were approved in part by the U.S. Court of Claims in 1909, but that Congress never appropriated the money.

The claims for the two Indian campaigns were filed in 1911.

They seek additional monies refused by the federal government in original settlement of the state's Indian war claims.

The militia said the state troops were mustered during the Civil War after all federal army units were called back to the east coast from the Northwest stations.

The enlistment bounty of $150 a man and the bonus pay was authorized by the legislature at the urging of army officials when state authorities found it impossible to fill the recruiting quota set by the war department.

Some 1,810 Oregon Militiamen were stationed at posts in Oregon, Washington and Idaho between 1861 and 1866. Although no Oregon units ever participated in campaigns against Confederate

PLAYLOT WORK UNDERWAY — The Parks and Recreation Department is developing its play lot at the corner of North Second and McKinley streets and work crews Thursday began building the sidewalk encircled sand-pit that will be over 30 feet in diameter. The first phase of the automatic irrigation system was installed and the system should be completed next week. Grass will be planted by the end of the month. Several pieces of play apparatus will be placed in the playlot after it is turfed and landscaped, Gary Woodring, park director, said.

Strict Religious Bars Can Do Harm

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 15 and I'm writing in behalf of a friend of mine who is the same age. She said it would not be right for her to write to you because it might sound as if she were criticizing her parents. She did give me permission, however, to ask you some questions.

This girl is not permitted to wear make-up—not even lipstick—because it is against her religion. She can't date and is not allowed to talk to boys on the telephone. She can't dance because this is prohibited by her religion, also.

But the saddest thing is that the poor kid is not allowed to wear a bathing suit. If she wants to go swimming she has to wear a dress. Of course she's ashamed and refuses to go swimming with us girls unless we go to an out of the way creek.

Can you do something to help her? — A FRIEND

Dear Friend: I have received countless letters from teenagers who are unhappy because their religion prohibits many things which they believe are harmless—such as dancing and movies. I cannot advise these teenagers to oppose their religious training.

If this girl's religion prohibits the wearing of a bathing suit, then I am not going to tell her to wear one. Unfortunately, some teenagers who feel that their religious restrictions are unjust break loose and do everything they shouldn't do the first moment they get out from under the eyes of their parents.

Dear Ann: Please print this letter for the husband who won't allow his wife to hire a sitter for their 18-month-old baby because he doesn't think young children

CHAMBER COMMENTS

by GEORGE T. CALLISON

Manager

KLAMATH COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A slate of 10 candidates for election to the chamber's Board of Directors will be submitted to the board at its luncheon meeting Wednesday by a nominating committee chairmanned by Sam I. Ritchey. Further nominations will be received from the floor at that time.

Ballots will be mailed to the chamber membership on Aug. 21, with election day set for Wednesday, Sept. 4. The five candidates receiving the greatest number of votes will be elected to the board for a term of three years, replacing five present directors of the 15-man board who retire from office Sept. 30.

The long-range development plan for Klamath Falls and Klamath County, announced by President James D. Monteith at last Wednesday's luncheon meeting is worthy of serious consideration by every Klamath County citizen interested in seeing this area progress and prosper.

The chamber's board is presently devoting its attention to the formulation of this plan. While this group feels fully qualified to assess the major needs of this area, it also recognizes the fact that it has no monopoly on ideas. That is why the chamber officers and board are anxious to

River Posted Against Use

PORTLAND (UPI) — Portland health officer Dr. Thomas L. Meador said Friday he has ordered the Willamette River posted against swimming and water skiing within the city limits because of contamination.

Multnomah County officials have ordered similar postings. Dr. Meador said raw sewage has raised the bacteria count in the river between Lake Oswego and Portland 100 times above the safe level.

The State Sanitary Authority made a similar announcement.
