

Bukich Making Bid For Wade's Spot

By United Press International
Rudy Bukich is making a strong bid to steal Billy Wade's job as the Chicago Bears' No. 1 quarterback.

It was Bukich's two touchdown passes that carried the Bears to a 17-7 victory over the New York Giants in their pre-season opener last Saturday.

Wade's understudy resorted to mere heroics at Washington Thursday night, tossing a 68-yard scoring "bomb" to end John Far-ington in the fourth period that enabled the Bears to down the Redskins 28-26.

The Redskins opened a 23-14 halftime lead with the help of a pair of TD tosses by Norman Sneed. Bill Martin scored on a 77-yard punt return for the Bears in the third period to set the stage for Bukich's winning toss against his old teammates.

The first two Chicago touchdowns were scored on one-yard plunges by Wade and Rick Casares in the opening period. Bob Khyat kicked two field goals for Washington.

Two National Football League exhibitions are on tonight's schedule. The Philadelphia Eagles and the Pittsburgh Steelers, who both lost their openers, tangle at Bethlehem, Pa., and the Chicago Cardinals open their pre-season slate against the San Francisco Forty-Niners at Salt Lake City.

An American Football League exhibition pits the New York Jets against the Buffalo Bills at Buffalo.

Elsewhere along the pro football front:

The Detroit Lions traded guard Dick Mills and defensive end Dave Lloyd to the Eagles for a pair of pass-catching players. Bobby Crespi's pass-catching featured the Cleveland Browns' workout. The Oakland Raiders signed Mike Sommer, a former NFL halfback, as a free agent. Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets picked up another of his former Baltimore players when he signed linebacker Dave Yohn. Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants announced he will use Joe Morrison as a pass-catcher in Saturday's tuneup against the Lions.

A Little Tired
"I was a little tired and underweight after the basketball season ended," Baker agreed. "After all, I got a late start on the basketball team because of the Liberty Bowl game, and then we were lucky enough to get into NCAA playoffs which extended the basketball season."

"But I've gotten some rest, even though I've been working hard since I came to camp, and I'm close to the weight I carried playing football last season, around 190 pounds or so."

Coach Harland Svara withheld Baker from the Rams' first exhibition game a week ago against the Dallas Cowboys because he felt that Roman Gabriel was handling the team well and Baker had been back with the club less than a week after the All-Star game at Chicago.

"Terry has shown us a lot of poise in the short time he has been with us," Svara commented. "He learns quickly and his passing is sharp. We are very pleased with the progress and the ability he has shown."

Svara cautiously said he would be governed by the situation in the Minnesota game in determining when and how long he will use Baker. Next week Baker is expected to start when the Rams meet the Dallas Cowboys in Portland.

Football Lineups Announced
PORTLAND (UPI) — The State and Metro Shrine football teams were pronounced ready to go today for the 16th annual benefit game for crippled children at Multnomah Stadium Saturday night.

The game starts at 8:30 p.m. with the pre-game pageant at 7:30 p.m.

Metro named Pat Casey of Jesuit and Larry Burbuck of Jefferson as captains. Two Roseburg players, quarterback Paul Brothers and tackle Doug John, were named state captains earlier.

The tentative starting lineups included:

Metro: Rich Sheron of Beaverton and Marty Haveluck of Hillsboro at end; Bob Lawrence of Marshall and Ron Hudson of Oregon City at tackle; Burbuck of Jefferson and Joe Reid of Beaverton at guard; Jim Godfrey of Franklin Center; Barry Nordlof of Davis Douglas at quarterback; Tom McAllister of Jefferson and Milt Stout of Beaverton at halfback; Casey of Jesuit at fullback.

T. Baker Curious Of Game

ORANGE, Calif. (UPI)—Calm, self-assured Terry Baker, the most honored college football player in the nation last season, says he has a great feeling of curiosity on how he will react in his first pro football game.

And the 22-year-old Heisman Trophy winner and All American quarterback from Oregon State probably will get his chance to take his first dip into the pro football cauldron Saturday night when the Los Angeles Rams meet the Minnesota Vikings.

"I have no idea how tough it is going to be until I try it," the articulate rookie quarterback said at the Rams training camp. "But I am very anxious to find out what it's like working with top men and against top men in the pro ranks."

Baker, however, was quick to deny that he was worn out and underweight even before making his pro debut.

The Eugene Emeralds of the Northwest League just recently finished flexing their muscles and now they don't care who they beat.

The Emeralds, nicknamed Yakima 3-2 Thursday night for their fifth straight win and cut a full game off Yakima's first-place lead over Salem.

Salem grabbed the opportunity with a 5-1 victory over Tri-City. In an exhibition game, Wenatchee won over Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League 4-2.

John Bower needed help in the eighth but picked up the Eugene win. The Emeralds tallied single runs in the first, fourth and sixth.

Salem got four runs in the seventh to take Tri-City. The markers came on four walks, two hits and a passed ball. Denny Marquardt provided Salem's other run with a solo homer in the sixth.

Wenatchee took Salt Lake City when a dropped outfield fly with the bases loaded in the fifth sent two runs over and a third scored on a fielder's choice.

Babe Ruth Remembered For Humor, Love Of Kids

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball fans fortunate enough to have seen Babe Ruth in his hey day have memories of the greatest Yankee of them all who died 15 years ago today.

They remember the Babe hitting one of his 714 home runs and running around the bases on legs that seemed too skinny to support his prodigious body.

They remember the Babe striking out — a sight almost as breathtaking.

They remember the Babe off the field — eating, drinking and carousing, sometimes into the early morning and then hitting a home run that same afternoon.

Yet the men who knew him best — his teammates — remember Ruth for different reasons. Their fondest memories of baseball's greatest hero concern (A) his sense of humor and (B) his fondness for kids.

Sense Of Humor

"The Babe had a great sense of humor," recalled Waite Hoyt, a pitcher on those explosive Yankee teams of the Ruth era and now a Cincinnati sportscaster. "He always got a big kick out of playing practical jokes."

"Tony Lazzeri was the butt of many Ruth jokes. In those days we'd put on our baseball pants by turning them inside out first, then put an elastic band around the knees and pull them up. One of Babe's favorite gags was to drop a cigarette into Lazzeri's pants just before he pulled them up."

"One day Lazzeri got back at him. Babe used to have a big, red handkerchief to mop his face. Just before he ran onto the field one day, Lazzeri set fire to Babe's handkerchief. There was Babe running out to right field and slapping his backside to put out the fire."

Earle Combs, who played alongside Ruth in the Yankee outfield for 11 years, remembered when the Babe toured with a vaudeville show during the off-season.

"He was playing in a show in Kansas City," related Combs, "and after the performance a lady came rushing up to him and said, 'Babe, you were just wonderful. You should play in Shakespeare.' Good old Babe shook his head and said, 'Hell, no, lady, I gotta be in St. Louis tomorrow.'"

Combs, an insurance executive in Frankfort, Ky., believes that the modern ballplayer would be wise to emulate Ruth's relationship with young fans.

"The Babe loved children," he asserted. "I never saw him refuse a kid an autograph. He had more patience with young fans than any ball player I have seen."
