

OSU Readies New Library and Dorm

OREGON STATE UNIVERSITY — A new $2,383,000 library and 373-bed dormitory will be ready for opening of fall term at Oregon State University.

The new library will have 1,600 study stations compared to 600 in the present library that was built in 1918 with a wing added in 1941. The old building will be converted into a classroom and office building once the books are moved to the new structure.

Open stacks — or free access to all books — will be featured in the new library. This will give students greater opportunity to browse, seek out and choose reference material on their own, Librarian William Carlson said.

The new residence hall is the seventh built in the last seven years at OSU in an attempt to keep housing accommodations abreast of increasing enrollments. It will be named for the late Oregon Senator Charles L. McNary.

Two additional dormitories of similar design and capacity have been started this summer adjacent to McNary Hall. They will be ready for opening of school in 1964.

With the new residence hall, adequate campus housing for single students appears assured for this fall, according to Thomas Adams, director of housing.

Site Cleared For Chemult Clubhouse

CHEMULT — Members of the Chemult Community Club, assisted by local Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, recently cleared grounds on Winema Forest land in north Chemult for the proposed Community Club building.

Present for the occasion were Douglas Shaw, ranger; Ken Everson, assistant ranger; Jack Moebius, building and site manager, and his assistant, Lewis Rice. The work session was concluded with a potluck dinner.

Plans for the building have been drawn up by a Klamath Falls architect and presented to Alex Smith, Winema Forest supervisor. Following approval, construction will begin on a 32 by 65 foot structure with kitchen, storage room, and 150 capacity hall. The hall is designed with a stage and fireplace.

The building is tentatively scheduled for completion in December to be used for the community Christmas program.

A buckaroo breakfast was one of the most recent fund-raising events staged by the community club women to finance the building. The affair was planned by Mrs. Verne Brader, Mrs. Cap Jessup, Mrs. Virgil Walker, Mrs. Jack Moebius, Mrs. R. E. Jessup and Mrs. C. C. Long.

The breakfast of hotcakes, ham and eggs was served on the picnic grounds by 10 Girl Scouts, Susan Ruppert, Marie Galbreath, Sandra Shaw, Karen and Celeste Crescenzi, Melody and Patty French, Roseanna and Carleen Rice and Kathy Farris.

Police Nab Young Hit, Run Driver

A city policeman early Sunday morning trailed a car from the scene of a hit-and-run collision and found his quarry in the custody of an Oregon state policeman.

The driver of the car, a 16-year-old Malin youth, was cited by the state policeman for being a minor in possession of liquor and reckless driving. He had been nabbed after the car ran into a telephone pole at Alameda and Shasta Way.

When the city policeman arrived a few minutes later, having followed a trail of oil from the site of the first crash, the youth was additionally cited for leaving the scene of an accident. He was booked at city jail.

The first crash occurred at 12:03 a.m. at Applegate and Martin. The youth's 1954 car, police said, was southbound on Applegate when it struck a car parked at the curb. The struck auto is owned by Donald DeLong, 2148 Applegate. The 1960 station wagon received major damage.

Police said the youth continued down Applegate without stopping after the crash, turned onto Alameda and his car ran into the telephone pole at Shasta Way and Alameda. The youth's 1954 sedan was a total loss.

Field Trip Set

The Klamath Mineral Club will sponsor an overnight field trip to the Prineville area Aug. 24-25. The group will meet at Barkley Springs on Highway 97 at 5 a.m. Saturday morning.

Those attending are requested to bring heavy hammers and chisels. For further information contact William Crumrine at TU 2-0925.

Birmingham Rapidly Moves Toward Integration Of Public Schools

By United Press International

Birmingham, Ala., once a city of unyielding segregation policies, moved today toward integrating its high schools in 15 days, signaling the end of public grade school segregation in another Deep South state.

Two other Alabama cities are under federal court order to submit grade school desegregation plans, and a federal judge will rule Wednesday on a plan already submitted by Mobile officials.

District Court Judge Clarence Allgood approved the Birmingham plan Monday within minutes of receiving it. Several of the city's high schools will be desegregated when classes begin Sept. 4.

Huntsville, one of the nation's space centers, and Tuskegee, home of the famed Tuskegee Institute, also are scheduled to submit their plans and commence gradual desegregation in September.

The Birmingham City Board of Education did not reveal how many Negroes applied for transfers to white schools. The Birmingham plan calls for partial integration of the 12th grade only, although it left the door open for other grades. However, officials said it was probably too late in the year to go beyond the senior grade.

Admission of Negroes to the all-white schools would leave only Mississippi and South Carolina as the last bastions of solid segregation in public grade schools. School integration in Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina thus far has been confined to institutions of higher learning.

Birmingham Mayor Albert Boutwell deplored the scheduled integration but warned that anyone who attempted to "compound this tragedy in any way will deserve and receive the bitter resentment we now level at federal intervention."

Lexington, N.C.: A grand jury indicted three Negroes on murder charges in connection with the June 6 slaying of a white man during racial violence.

St. Louis: The Urban League said it received more than 90 requests for Negro employees since June, but that most of the job offers called for skilled positions and could not be filled.

Cambridge, Md.: The city set Oct. 1 as the date for a vote to decide whether hotels, motels and restaurants in the Eastern Shore city will be opened to Negroes.

Anytime your traveling companion comes down with a limp, the man at the sign of the Chevron will get you back on the road fast.

He'll also give you bumper-to-bumper service, and your choice of three grades of gasoline. Why three? So you can choose a gasoline made to fit the requirements of your car—without paying for extra power you can't use.

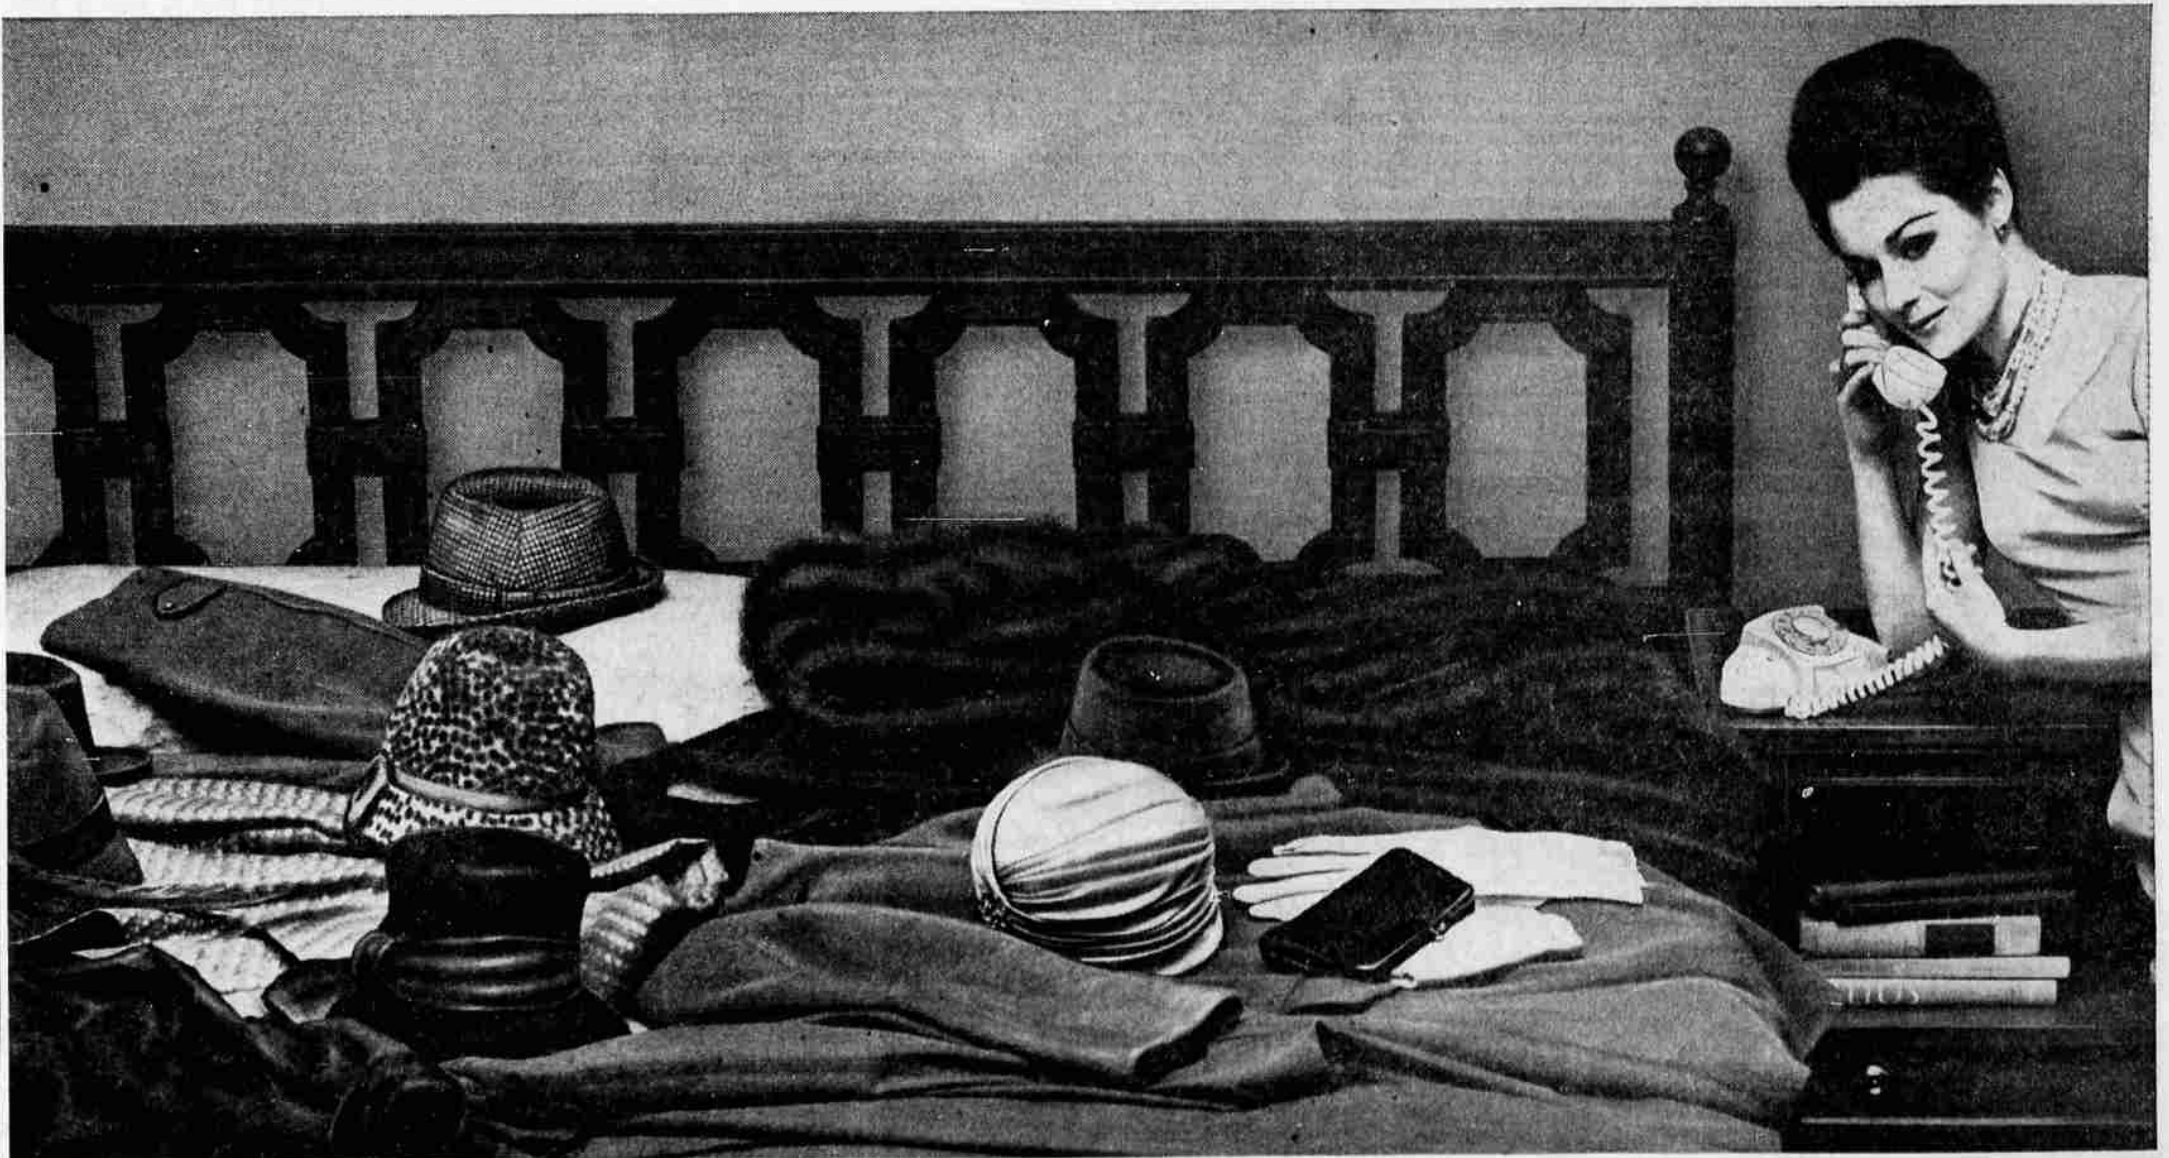

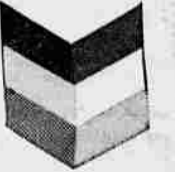

All three gasolines have Methyl* power—a research breakthrough in antiknock compounds that stands up under the extreme temperatures of high compression engines. Unlike others, Methyl spreads evenly to all cylinders, giving uniform antiknock performance. And it combines with all the other ingredients required for the best performance a car can deliver.

For the very highest-powered cars, use Custom, highest-powered gasoline in the West. For all other high-compression cars, fill up with Supreme. For cars designed to run on regular, choose Chevron.

You'll get on-the-road proof we take better care of your car.
