Family Reunion

A family reunion, the first in six years, took place the weekend of Aug. 10 at the Tulake home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Brown Sr. The Browns were 1929 homesteaders and lived on their ranch until 1946 when the family moved to the Henley District. Two years ago they returned to the Tulake ranch.

The family group enjoyed a picnic and swimming party at Malin Park. Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Brown were dinner hosts while family members were present. Six of the seven Brown children were present for the reunion. Unable to come was Margie Brown Francisco, whose husband, Elder Francisco, is chaplain for armed forces' members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Europe. They and their two children, Pat and Kelly, have lived in Frankfurt for nearly four years.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Brown who have lived in Othello, Wash., since drawing a homestead there in 1953 and Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Wise (Iris Brown) and daughter, Judie, San Bernardino. Mrs. Wise is a teacher in her home city.

Mrs. Lawrence (Dorothea) Denney and sons, Mike and Joe, came from Fresno where she is supervisor of a surgical unit in the community hospital. Her husband is completing work on his masters degree at Fresno State College.

Home for the affair was Bette Brown, who has just completed work for her masters degree from University of Oregon and is employed as home management instructor at La Sierra College in Singing tones of brilliant Mediterranean color are growing favorites for home decorations. If one of these clear, bright hues in a new chair, rug, or other addition to your home is making your pastel draperies, slip cover, or bedspread look drab, you can change the picture quickly. Take the easy washer way to new color that will put a vivid glow on the older fabric.

Automatic Washer Perfect For Dyeing

Your automatic washer is the key to perfect dyeing. Whatever you can launder in the washer, you can tint or dye at home the same way. Today's improved coloring products have improved power to give clearer, more lasting colors. Your washer does away with the need for tiresome stirring, too. It distributes new color evenly, with no danger of streaky patches, as the article moves steadily through the dye bath. Here are tips from the American Home Laundry Manufacturers' Association on using the washing machine to give new color to anything washable. Before washing, measure the item you want to brighten and jot down measurements. A little gentle reshaping may be necessary after coloring. Next, weigh the dry article so you can get enough dye by checking package directions when you buy. Then wash, but don't dry your candidate for new color. It should be damp when going into the dye bath.

Fill the washing machine with very hot water, unless package directions call for a lower temperature to tint delicate fabrics. Check the instructions on how to dissolve the powdered dye correctly. You can run the machine briefly to be sure dye is thoroughly mixed through the water, then turn it off before you carefully add the unfolded damp article to be dyed. Keep the water agitating until the desired shade of color is achieved.
